dealings make it impossible to foretell a down and up slide. Conditions govern solely.

Quotations held around the prices paid Monday for the grades offered. There was only one small bunch of catrie that came near the prime soft-fed class, and they were reported sold at $8. The usual tenor of quotations for the cheaper grades were generally in evidence, with the range fluctuating.

Cattle in this class were sold readily at prices ranging from $6.85 to $7.70. The offering was from 150 to 200 head, with no elaborate tendency towards a rising price. The trading was brisk at times, and the entire lot was sold. The medium grades in this class were struck off at from $4 to $6.50. Commons went at figures of from $4 to $5.

The top-notch ones brought from $5.50 to $6.50, while the medium grades were bid in at $5. Only a few good ones were on the market, with a number of yearlings of a minor class.

Calves.

In milkers the supply was better than on several previous market days, and the prices of from 340 to 370 did not change. Springers were of about the usual num-

Stockers.

Only a few were picked for feeding purposes, as generally when the stocker is fit for a fairly high quotation it is sold for beef. One drove of short-feed cattie was taken at a fair figure of from $5.50 to $6.50.

W. J. Neeley, for Park & Blackwell, bought over 200 butcher cattle at $7.25 to $5.

A. W. McDonald, for Gunns (Limited), bought 200 butcher cattle at $7.25 to $6.25.

On Cattle Hunting Trip

Alex. McDonald and Alex. McIntoen, two of the very prominent buyers on the local cattle markets, spent two days last week in the vicinity of Galt looking over a number of herds of fat cattle. They saw over 2000 cattle, many of which will soon be ready for the market. In this locality, it is said, there are a large number of good, marketable cattle to come to market at a later period.

Caives.

The supply was above the number that has been coming in recently, and the price ruled about the same. The good grades brought from $1 to $3. In total the quality was slightly under the usual offerings.

Sheep.

Heavy ewes held steady around the $4 to $4.50 mark. The usual briskness in the sales was lacking. Light ewes were quoted from $4.50 to $5.75, with just fair offerings. Spring lainbs were quoted at from $8.25 to $9.50, a slight drop from Monday's price. Bucks went in at figures of from $4 to $7.90 f.o.b, price, $8.25 fed and watered, with $8.50 delivered, were general with all the dealers. Gunns (Limited) paid above figures.
