It is pointed out that the United States has greater interest in the de-

The wonderful development of Japan within the past decade fascinates alike the diplomat and tradesman, the politician and economist. The trade between Canada and the Orient has developed right along from the day it was started. There is no reason, however, why it should not be pushed much more vigorously both tee have carefully pursued and weigh-ed the finished and elaborate address of the R.W. the G.M., and take this by the Government and by manufac-turers individually. A large number of educational, religious and charitable institutions are expecting to receive various sums of money from the estate of the late H. A. Massey. The amount that was bequeathed by that gentleman to these institutions is definitely fixed at so many thousand. that was bequeathed by that gentleman to these institutions is definitely fixed at so many thousand dollars each. The payment of the money, however, is surrounded by many conditions which ought to be studied by those who have an interest in the will. We do not wish to detract from the praise that is due Mr. Massey in disposing of his wealth for philanthropic purposes, but it is only right on the other hand that we should refer to some of the conditions surrounding the bequests in order that the institutions to which the bequests have been made may not be remade to five members from Quebec, all of whom spoke in English and intellisently in the splendidly isolated isles beyond the Empire and of Protestantism beother than the two splendidly isolated isles beyond the splendidly iso legacies. These in the interim, will draw no interest. Among his other bequests, Mr. Massey left $25,000 to the Consumptive Sanitarium. We take this single item merely as an illustration. The trustees of the will have twenty years in which to pay this sum. If we assume that money is worth six per cent. we find by reference to interest tables that $7790 in hand to-day would enable the trustees to satisfy the bequest to the Sanitarium and still carry out the conditions of the will. The present value of $750,000 bequeathed under the will to the various institutions, estimated in this way, is a shade less than $250,000.

But it is another condition of the will that the funds to supply these bequests are to be taken out of the business of the Massey-Harris and other concerns.

Montreal is running away ture as they have in the past, the trustees will no doubt be able to fulfil the conditions of the will, but if they do not prosper the trustees will be unable to do so. Their Sentiments Expressed.

"The sentiments of your committee are well expressed in the following quotations, taken from an address of the G.M. Bro, James L. Hughes, delivered to this Grand Lodge, assembled at Chatham, March 13 1894:

"We believe in one national system of education of all the children of our Province as the surest way of giving every child the inestimable advantages of a thorough education physically, intellectually and morally, and the only way by which the children of all creeds and classes can be trained to live in harmony, respecting each other, recognizing each other's rights and cementing that mutual interest that will qualify them for friendly and sympathetic co-operation in the up-building of their common country. The men who have to work side by side as citizens of the same country should play shoulder to shoulder as boys on the ame school grounds."
