planned to devote this afternoon to considering a joint agreement between the United States and Great Britain for the cessation of pelagic sealing. This feature was felt to be the vital issue of the negotiations on which hinged not only a settlement of the Behring Sealous only a settlement of the Greek Chamber of Deputies.

From reliable quarters it was learned that the diplomatic contention had already taken definite shape. It is understood that the proposition of the American representatives involves two features: first, that Canada, through the Imperial authorities, shall consent to the stoppage of pelagic sealing for one year, and, second, that the negotiations shall be opened for a suspension of sealing beyond this term of one year.

It is understood that the Canadian officials do not regard this proposition with favor. It is said that they would be glad to reach any basis of settlement by compromise, or fair concession, but they view this proposition as one for absolute surrender on their best. From this standpoint, an agreement to stop sealing for one year, and then to megotiate for stopping it for a longer period, would involve their giving without any definite prospect of receiving benefit for benefit. Whether this shall develop a critical issue when the diplomats get together cannot be foretold. Each side insists on its respective contentions, and both are earnestly hopeful of a solution. From the American standpoint, the failure of the negotiations will be in charge of the Drummond County road.

a few minor local interests, not amounting to a million. Yet reciprocity means mutual concession. Without this nothing can be accomplished. We must give a market if we acquire one—not necessarily a free market, but an accessible market. Take coal for an illustration. By giving access to the New England coast we might gain access (perhaps control) proaching the station the train suddenly and the nine flat ca we might gain access (perhaps control) in the coal market of all Central Canada, with mutual advantages by readitions. Would it be wise for coal producers to antagonize these natural conditions? ferences. It was determined, therefore, to continue the meeting to-morrow. Up to the time of closing to-day the experts had made good progress, reaching an agreement on all but three or four reserved propositions. These, it is expected, can be agreed upon in the morning session to-morrow, so that the experts and Printers, Wellington and Jordan-streets, per report can be signed and the meeting concluded so far as experts are concerned. This will make available all the data necessary for considering the vital diplomatic question of stopping pelagic sealing. The intention is that General Foster, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Louis Davies will meet to-morrow afternoon to go over the results reported by the experts, and, if possible, agree upon a basis of settlement. The outcome of this diplomatic meeting continues to be much in doubt. It was intimated to-night that the Canadians might make a counter-proposition, not going so far as the American representatives desired in the way of limiting pelagic sealing, but yet offering a possible ground for amicable adjustment. Equally reliable sources stated that, if the issue assumed the form of pelagic sealing or no pelagic sealing, as now seems likely, it would be extremely difficult to reconcile the differences. In view of the continuance of the meeting Sir Wilfrid and Sir Louis will not leave until to-morrow night or Wednesday.

Washington, Nov. 15.—The attitude of the administration toward the subject of reciprocity with Canada is probably disclosed in the following statement of a Government official:

"The task of the Government would be made easier if the statesmen in Congress would be controlled by the interest of the country at large. Some of them, unfortunately, confine their views to a particular concession to be obtained from a foreign country for a local interest, and then desire our compensatory concession to be made, not by their own, but by some other locality. They make of reciprocity a series of questions to be settled in the interest of particular districts. We may be able to secure arrangements which will add millions to our national export trade, and yet it might be defeated by a combination of a few minor local interests, and selections can be made now, and cared for at the store, to be delivered anywhere in special Christmas pickages on Christmas Day or eve. we can acquire an almost exclusive market, greatly increasing our exports, in exchange for a market open only to the competition of the other party. So it is with some phases of the question of logs and coarse lumber against manufactures of wood. Whenever we enlarge the market of manufactures, we inevitably enlarge the demand for our raw material from which they are made, and this tends to increase the price paid to the original producer. The advantages of increased trade are widely distributed."

During the evening strong and forcible addresses were made by Messrs. Clarke, Osler, Maclean, Howland, Ryerson, Crawford, Coatsworth, Robinson, Kappele, Kent, Dumas, Newsome, Thompson, Bristol and Smith, all urging that a candidate be put in the field.

Mr. Crawford, in the course of his remarks, repudiated the report that he intended to retire from public life. Mr. Kappele also repudiated the report that either he himself or his partner, Mr. Laidlaw, was doing anything to prevent a Conservative candidate coming out or were favoring in any way Mr. Bertram. THE POINTS OF ARGUMENT

Which His Holiness Advances in Support of Separate Schools.

Catholics Must Not Attend the Public Schools, but Must Obediently and Lov--No Opportunity Must be Lost of Asserting the Claims of Roman Catholics to the Enjoyment of Their Constitutional

Throughout the entire meeting there was a very general feeling expressed that if Mr. W. R. Brock could be induced to undertake the contest on behalf of the Conservative party the constituency would be redeemed by a very large majority. Mr. Brock went so far as to say that the representations made by the various speakers would be most carefully considered by him.

The following officers were elected for the year:

tem, even where the state refuses to assist.

The Supreme Pontiff declares that no opportunity must be lost of asserting the claims of Roman. Catholics to the full enjoyment of their constitutional rights. Still, His Holiness advises the Manttoba Catholics not to be too grasping and aggressive, but persuasively, and by all peaceful methods, to impress the justice and fairness of their temporarily lost cause upon their fellow-citizens of other faiths in the hope that evenually their full rights may be restored.

Commenting on the above, The Star says: "It is not to be expected that the Pope's decision will have any great effect upon the political situation in Canada. Those Protestants who were disposed to recognize the right or to concede the privilege of Separate schools to the Roman Catholic minority, will not feel like forcing Separate schools upon that minority, simply because the Pope refuses to accept the sunny settlement. The Conservative party sacrificed office and imperiled its existence to give the Roman Catholics a right, or a privilege, which was rejected by Catholic votes. The school question then, of course, became a dead issue for the Conservative party. The Catholics who, for political was researched the sunry settle. tive party. The Catholics who, for political reasons, accepted the sunny settlement; knowing it to be a fraud and a sham, will not feel like sacrificing their political interests because the head of their church has condemned the settlement. Those who are in Parliament have stronger reasons than ever for accepting the settlement. That there is any probability whatever of Roman Catholic schools being reestablished in Manitoba at the public expense may be regarded as hopeless. The great majority of the Canadian electorate is Protestant, and, while many Canadian Protestant, and, while many Canadian Protestants have shown themselves disposed to recognize to the full the constitutional rights of their Roman Catholic fellow-countrymen, we doubt if they will be disposed to recognize the rights of any foreign potentate, however exalted, and however much they may respect him personally, to dictate the settlement of Canadian constitutional questions."
