PRINCE UKTOMSKY BELIEVES THE WEST WILL HAVE ITS TROUBLES WITH THEM.

Minneapolis, June 5.—A despatch from Winnipeg to the Journal says: "It was a great mistake to bring the Donkubors to Canada," declared Prince Uktomsky of St. Petersburg on his return last night from his visit to the settlement at Yorkton.

"They are not contented and never will be in this country. I find them more dissatisfied than they were in their home in Southern Russia. There is evidence of their discontent in their religious restlessness. Such pilgrimages as they have attempted here have never been heard of in Russia."

"Your climate is hard on the Donkubors. They are vegetarians and disdain meat, and they are not used to the climate in Southern Russia. They were accustomed to a long, hot summer and will never get used to your short summer and very cold winter."

"The Donkubors are as industrious here as in their home. They are not some already rich, but any amount of riches will never overcome their restlessness. They have been here for the past and will prove so again. They are not desirable settlers for any new country. Their tendency to hold their own in their own settlements is very marked. The laws of common property in their community at Yorkton are even more strict than they were in Russia."

"Oh, you Canadians will have your troubles with the Donkubors yet," said the prince in conclusion.

The distinguished Russian has left Canada during the engagement of THE REV. J. M. CORNWALL, who is his friend of thirty years' standing.
