HON. I. B. LUCAS NOT TOO KEEN NIEWS ON GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION

City's Special Committee Not Given Much Encouragement by Minister While in Toronto.

While the special committee which interviewed Hon. I. B. Lucas on the city of London bill, and particularly the proposed commission form of government, was not given much encouragement. J. M. Moore says that the case is not lost by any means. The interview yesterday, he says, was for the purpose of making sure that the bill was in legal form to present to the legislative committee.

It appears that the main question raised by Hon. Mr. Lucas was the fear of any undue restrictions being placed on the board of education under the new form of government. Have No Fears.

He was assured by the committee, the opinion that the local committee when it comes up. City Solicitor T. G. Meredith presented the bill, the opinion that the local committee deserters to Kingston. Where deserters to Kingston. The least should appear before the committee on the least should appear before the committee on the was an end to t terview ended.

This was merely preliminary, however, and the bill will be brought before the full legislative committee in the near future. Mr. Moore is of the members as brief interview with lodges of Masonry are in charge of the the prime minister also regarding suburban roads questions, but there the full legislative committee in was nothing definite from the interview with lodges of Masonry are in charge of the arrangements. A large representation from all over Western Ontario is expected.

What They Sigh For

Sap wasn't running very fast out to the northwest of the city late yesterday afternoon, in the woods passed by the L. H. and B. train on the woods back there with the way to London, but the buckets were hanging there, all ready to receive the precious liquid, even if blobs of ice and sap icicles told of the chilling breath of Jack Frost.

Academy of Medicine.

To D. E. MEETING.—All members of the line was received to attach a meeting called for 2:30 o'clock and ship boyhood. Syrup don't taste like it used to do then. Say, wouldn't this be some great night for sugaring off; "It's worth taking this trip today just to see the sap buckets and the hut in the woods back there with the big iron kettle."

CARDS AND DANCING.—The members of the Florence Nightingale Club entertained the soldiers at the Military Convalescent Hospital last night to cards. An enjoyable dance was held afterwards and refreshments were served. The soldiers voted the occasion one of the most pleasant on record.

"Makes me think back 50 years or more," sighed a man to his seat mate. "I remember when us boys used to think there was no fun like camping out in the cabin in the woods and boiling down sap in the big iron kettle.

"Earsting theories were brought to light. The workmen's compensation act was another topic which drew forth many expressions of opinion, some of them of a decidedly critical nature. The meeting was enjoyed thoroughly.
