To release certain persons on suscepended sentence is to do both them and society an injury. It is an injury to the person released, because the best that the law can do for him is to take care of him and prevent him from committing offenses which he certainly will commit when given the opportunity. It is an injury to society, because such persons ought not to be permitted to go at large, to deceive, defraud or injure people, or to be a burin continuous stream the data of fifty nadefraud or injure people, or to be a burden upon a community. to the community at large. Let us take a typical case for consider- together all nations by their common ation. Here is a man who for years has needs and common interests rather than made it his habit to swindle charitable setting them at variance; to obtain juspersons by getting money under false pre- tice and fair dealing for all; and make Von Blumer--Pretty, isn't it? only not providing for his wife and little ties of human life—this and much more is children, but goes where his wife is working to earn a living for herself and little by his repeated appearance in a drunken state causes her to lose her situation. He state causes her to lose her situation. He threatens her, and she is really in fear for her life so long as he is at large. He is finally arrested, and ample proof is submitted to satisfy a jury that this man deserves a long term in the penitentiary. Much more could be proved if it were thought worth while. His wife tells a portion of her story, and it is made perfectly clear that the best thing that could be done for the wife and children, for society at large and for the man himself clear that the best thing that could be done for the wife and children, for society at large and for the man himself John Standard a terrible fright.

THE EAST AND THE WEST

have received several letters from my friends in Nova Scotia who were anxious to come west, thinking they could better themselves financially. In each instance I have advised them very strongly to remain east, where I believe the prospects are as good as in any part of Canada. Many of our Nova Scotia boys who have been attracted west by higher salaries and not take into consideration increased cost of living, and while they may hold positions out here that command larger salaries, in reality they are no better off than they would have been had they remained where they were.

nan they would have been had they relained where they were.

For instance, in Nova Scotia $10 a week equal to $15 out here, or $100 a month equal to $150, so that by the time one as paid for necessities of life he has no lore left than he would have had in his
