was no authority shown on the part of the British government, it merely being neivate prosecution. "The question private prosecution. a private prosecution. The future, raised at this time," said Mr. Malarkey, "is that it does not appear on the face uplaint that the complainant has been authorized by the British govto institute these proceedings. By the treaty of 1842 between the Unit-ed States and Great Britain it was agreed to give up all persons charged with crime, and it was provided that judges should have the power to issue warrants. The treaty also provides that the expense of apprehension and delivery of the person shall be borne by the party who makes the requisition. If this ex-amination should be proceeded with and later a bill of expense handed to the ish or Canadian government they might repudiate it and say they never authorized the arrest of this man.

"The prosecution claims to have ausufficient. What is it? It is simply a letter from the Deputy Attorney-Gener-al, and there may be a hundred deputies. To give a parallel instance, what if I should go to the Deputy District Attorney of Multnomah county and ask for authority to have a man arrested in British Columbia. If I should appear ere they would laugh me out of court. Moreover, the letter does not name the United States of America, and there is othing to show that it represents the uthority of Canada.
