

Junior Department Committee.

S. L. T. Frost, Chairman. W. Lyle Reid, Secretary. The Department has just closed what is believed to have been the best year in the history of the Junior Department. Greater interest in the Summer Camp, better provision for the social needs, a greater number of conversions, a marked deepening of the spiritual life of the members, and a splendid corps of consecrated, faithful and able members of executive made possible such a satisfactory result. Outings were held last summer at Chelsea, the Experimental Farm, Aylmer, Marshall's Bay and other points, and entertainment was provided at the homes of Mr. Lyle Reid, Mrs. Blackadar, Mrs. Frost, and Mrs. Eddie Russell. Five members of the Department attended and took an active part in the Junior Convention, the first of the kind, held in conjunction with the Inter-Provincial Convention, held at Brockville.

Fourteenth Annual Report of the Woman's Auxiliary :

Mrs. Wm. Young, President. Miss Charlotte Ross, Secretary. Mrs. W. S. Odell, Treasurer. Meetings of the Auxiliary have been held monthly ; average attendance, nineteen. The Bible Readings given at the regular monthly meetings have been found very interesting and helpful, Mrs. C. Seybold giving great assistance in this connection. The members of the Auxiliary regretted very much to have to part with Mr. and Mrs. Fedarb, and took the opportunity to present to Mr. Fedarb a token of their esteem in the shape of a handsome clock.

Besides assuring the success of the social functions referred to in the report of the Reception Committee, the Auxiliary has helped very greatly to strengthen the influence of the Association in the community and to assure the success of the work in a sense that would not be possible without their aid. Two members of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Young and Mrs. A. G. Cole, attended as delegates at the Brockville Convention, where they took a prominent part in the proceedings of the Conference of Woman's Auxiliaries.

Report of the Finance Committee

Robt. Stewart, Chairman. The financial statement will show that the Committee exercised all due diligence in seeking to meet the financial obligations for the year, and while not called on to meet so large an outlay for current expenses, or special Swimming Bath account, as was necessary for the previous year, yet had a heavy obligation to meet, and, thanks to the generous response given by members and subscribers to the appeal for support, were able to meet it with very fair success.
