A STEADY GROWTH IN ZION CHURCH
2: Years of Progress
Reviewing the growth of Zion Evangelical Church reviewed at the twenty-fifth anniversary on Sunday, it is of interest to add that the Bible School enrollment then was about 260; now all departments have an enrollment of about 1000. The equipment for practical church work is up to date and if properly utilized will assure continued success. Financially also great progress is visible. Missions receive much attention by the various auxiliaries of the church so that the congregation is by no means self centered. Rev. A. Y. Haist, associate pastor, also a former pastor of the congregation, also took part in yesterday's services.

Bishop G. Heinmiller, D.D., Cleveland, Ohio, delivered inspiring messages at both the morning and evening services as also addresses to the Bible School. The attendance at all the services was most gratifying. In the morning the Bishop based his discourse upon Gen. 28:16 and 17, and John 1:51, this subject being, "Why am I a Member of the Church?" In a very practical manner he pointed out the benefits of church membership, and the dangers of present day laxity in spiritual things on the part of many which neutralizes church influence. In the evening he spoke from Haggai 2:9 and John 1:14, dwelling principally upon present day privileges of worship as compared with the privileges of the services, under the direction of Miss Bean, was of a superior order. Mr. Morlock rendered a solo very effectively and the men's chorus was a most enjoyable surprise. The choir anthems were greatly appreciated and the congregational singing was rousing. Zion congregation will long cherish as a pleasant memory these inspiring twenty-fifth anniversary services, and will move forward with greater hopes for still better things in the interest of th

THE MONOLOGIST

Have you ever run across one? I am sure that if you have you will make a point of never doing it again. I don't mean the man or woman who stands up to deliver a monologue, and admits that that is what he or she intends to do. That is a form of torture which is at least excusable. No, I refer to the pernicious wretch who pretends to engage you in conversation so that he cusable. No. I refer to the pernicious wretch who pretends to engage you in converstion so that he can launch a series of monologues upon you without interruption.

An evil star drew me into the company of a most abandoned specimen of the type the other evening. All unwittingly I made a remark about soviet activities, as alert as a Victory loan speaker, he took the spotlight, and the text. The wrongs and rights of labor, the wrongs and rights of labor, the wrongs and rights of capital, conditions in Russia, Germany, England, France, and Canada and the ultimate effect on the world, from one phrase to another without a pause, without even a momentary hesitation to catch his breeath. If an interruption seemed pending he held up his hand wait he would say, then he would hurl himself upon it with new energy.

After the stream and run on for an hour unopposed, it seemed to shocken a little, the end is near. I told myself by way of encouragement. And sure enough he turned to me with a question, and thankful to be able to use my own perfectly good tongue for a moment, I said, Both labor and capital must make concessions before—"wanted, a fresh start. Poor innocent that I wes, I hed thought to stem the flood, but instead I had only lifted the dam. for a greater flow.

Oh well I peid him back at parting. When he said I've enjoyed our convers. Jon very much."

I answered mavely, Yes but I fear I have telked you to death."
