

DILIGENT SEARCH PROVES FUTILE

Big Band Scoured Countryside Yesterday, But Found No Trace of Mrs. Landy

The members of the C. C. Boat Club assembled in large numbers at St. John's Arch, Military Road, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning for the purpose of making a diligent search for the missing Mrs. Ed. Landy. Headed by President P. F. Collins, they proceeded down Military Road and on arriving at Bennett's Grove they traversed in sections for miles around, but without success, returning to town at 6.30.

Found No Clue

In the afternoon some 30 or 40 of C. C. Corps, under command of Major Kent, Adjutant Perez and Lieut. Walsh proceeded from the Armory towards the vicinity of Long Pond, carefully searched, but saw nothing that would give any clue to the missing woman. Hundreds of other citizens in bunches went in various other places, namely, Virginia Waters, Lower Battery, Cuckholds Cove, Logy Bay, Torbay Road, breaking out at the Major's Path, but without the slightest indication of her whereabouts was found in all the ground covered.

Found Boat

The searchers inform us that Messrs N. Murphy and J. P. Grace, who made a search of all the outbuildings from Cavendish Square to Quidi Vidu Church found a ladies' boat (brown color) in the old railway office at Fort William. It was discovered on a window sill, and the finders thought it belonged to the missing woman. It was shown to relatives, but all affirmed that it did not belong to Mrs. Landy.

It was a kindly act on the part of so many citizens to spend their Sunday in such a way. They were unsuccessful, but relatives and friends know that the search was diligent.

USED BATON ON PRISONER

And Case Was Heard in Court This Morning by Judge Knight

The time of Judge Knight was occupied the greater part of this forenoon hearing the charge against a deport man who created a disturbance on Water St. Saturday. The man resisted arrest, bit Const. Alipworth's finger and was struck on the head several times by another constable with his baton.

The prisoner said he did not bite the constable's finger until after he had been struck with the weapon.

While we uphold the police in the discharge of their duty, we strongly condemn the use of batons on people's heads. It should not be permitted by the Chief Constable.

The work of the constable is often an unpleasant one and not infrequently made more difficult by crowds closing in. The police manual permits the use of the baton on the arms or legs, but not on the head.

I. G. Sullivan who conducted the case for his department made a strong plea for the officer and attempted to show that the use of the baton was not as serious as the prisoner would lead the court to believe.

CHURCH PARADES WELL ATTENDED

Catholic Cadets at the Cathedral and the Kilties at St. Andrew's, Yesterday

The C. C. C., under command of Lt.-Col. Conroy, attended last Mass at the Cathedral yesterday.

About 250 were in the parade. The Band, as usual, rendered charming music.

Mass was celebrated by Rev. Dr. Greene.

Many cadet faces were missing from the ranks, they having gone to help fight their country's battles. If their friends could see them yesterday we feel sure they would find them at Mass near Salisbury Plain.

As the boys marched through the City yesterday the thoughts of many were centred on the absent ones, and the earnest desire of all is that they are enjoying good health.

HIGHLANDERS.

The Highlanders also had a church parade yesterday, attending service at the Kirk.

Capt. McKay was in charge. Rev. J. S. Sutherland conducted the service and delivered an impressive discourse.

Like the Cadets, several well-known members were missing, but there was also a large number of recruits.

PETTY PRINCES ARE UNGRATEFUL

Forget England's Many Kindnesses and Side With Germany in the Present War

London, October 23.—One thing to which the war will put an end is the contracting of matrimonial alliances between members of English and German royal families. This country will certainly not sanction any more.

We may be certain that King George will never allow the Prince of Wales or any of his sons or his daughter to wed Germans.

King Edward lived to rue the day when his sister married the then Crown Prince of Prussia, father of the present Kaiser. We know the Emperor's brutal treatment of his mother, and his insolent attitude toward his uncle Edward.

Fight Against Us. The immediate reason for a growing feeling against such marriages is that several relatives of King George are now fighting against us.

Prince Albert of Schleswig-Holstein, who is in the field against Great Britain, has a comrade in arms in the person of another of King Edward's nephews, the only son of the late Duke and Duchess of Albany. This English Prince is the Duke of Albany and Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, his predecessor in the latter dukedom having been the late Duke of Edinburgh.

The son of the Duchess of Albany, grandson of Queen Victoria, nephew of King Edward and cousin of King George, has long been a whole-hearted admirer of the Fatherland, almost more German than the Kaiser.

His Opinion. Only the other day he was declaring that the conduct of Britain in going to war with Germany was "shameful." This recreant English Prince married a German Princess, Victoria Adelaide of Schleswig-Holstein Glucksburg and his only sister is the wife of Prince Alexander of Teck, a brother of Queen Mary.

Queen Alexandra has a nephew fighting against us. He is the Duke of Brunswick, son of Queen Alexandra's sister, Thyra, and of the Duke of Cumberland. The latter is, of course, an English dukedom and its bearer is the son of the late King of Hanover, the sovereign deposed by the Prussians, on whose side his grandson, the Kaiser's son-in-law, has now taken up the sword. Only the other day the Duke of Brunswick was leading the revels in the confiscated palace of the King of the Belgians and pledging the health of the grandson of that former Kaiser who despoiled the Hanoverian King of his throne and many millions of money.

These three Princes, from their intimate relationship with our royal family, will be recorded in the annals of war as recreants.

STAR SOCIETY HOLD ELECTIONS

Officers For Ensuing Year Are Chosen and Later Installed by Rev. Dr. Greene

The annual meeting of the Star of the Sea Association was held yesterday when last year's officers were re-elected as follows:—

- President—E. M. Jackman. Vice-President—J. T. Martin. 1st Asst. V. P.—J. Holden. 2nd Asst. V. P.—T. Hickey. Treasurer—S. Congdon. Asst. Treasurer—F. Kenny. Secretary—W. F. Graham. Marshal—R. Buckley. Asst. Marshal—M. Leonard. 1st Ins. Trustee—J. Byrne. 2nd Ins. Trustee—J. Murphy. Vice-President J. T. Martin, occupied the chair in the absence of Pres. Jackman.

The officers were installed by Rev. Dr. Greene, the Spiritual Director, who referred to the progress made by the Association the past year.

The reports showed the Society to be a flourishing condition. After the passing of votes of thanks to those who conducted the election and to the Press, for favorable references during the year, the meeting adjourned.

RUSSIANS PLAY WAITING GAME

Check Any German Plan of Advance—Poles Harass In vader—Both Armies Must Wait For Frost

London, Oct. 23.—Telegraphing from Petrograd regarding the situation in the Russian field of operations, the correspondent of the Times says: "It looked as if those high in Russian command had decided to play a waiting game. Otherwise they would not give the Germans time to entrench and thereby prolong the whole course of operations."

Reliable information shows that the Germans seriously contemplate Wintering in Poland. Peasants have risen at many places, notably Kielce and Mieschew. Regardless of the most terrible reprisals, they are forming guerrilla bands and attacking the invaders. The railroad near Nowo Radomsk has been wrecked and trainloads of German soldiers killed.

"All roads from the Vistula to the frontier are encumbered with the German transport wagons and dead horses. The roads are impassable owing to rains."

A despatch from Venice says that reports received in Vienna from the headquarters of the German army on the Russian frontier are said to admit that the soldiers are suffering intense hardships in the cold, rainy weather owing to lack of proper warm clothing. The Russian prisoners, on the other hand, are all said to have been found to be well provided for the winter and are wearing fur caps covering both their heads and their necks.

BANDMASTER NOW PRISONER

And on Him Was Found Score of Triumphal March of Germans Into Paris, Set For August 15th

PAS DE CALAIS, Oct. 23.—One of the most curious captures of war was made last week in the neighborhood of Ypres. The capture is of no less an important personage than the Bandmaster-in-Chief of the German army. A good deal of doubt at first surrounded the identity of the much decorated individual, some of the captors being persuaded his captive was, judging from his gorgeous uniform, high chief commissioner, but there is no doubt that the downhearted prisoner is the Kaiser's military bandmaster in chief, for he carried a gold mounted baton and his store of music also fell into the hands of his captors.

It was on outskirts of Ypres that a number of soldiers came upon this imposing functionary seated on a tree stump by the wayside, endeavoring to tie up with a handkerchief a slight wound in his right hand. He was duly surrounded and informed that he was a prisoner. This increased his undoubted dejection, and he told his captors he had lost his band. He did not even cheer up when informed it was most probable that the band was anywhere in the neighborhood and probably would join him in captivity.

"Only," said one of them, "we told him that the German band would not be allowed to play in captivity because we have other prisoners you know. We think he might have permission to wear the uniform, for it would always be a bright spot in the somewhat drab scenery of the prisoners camp. He will not, of course, be allowed to keep the score of the triumphant march into Paris, the first performance of which was fixed for August 15, but regrettably postponed, owing to the circumstances over which he, at least, had no control."

The bandmaster in chief was marched off, but before night fell he made an effort to escape. Though he may know a great deal about music he proved a child in the matter of endeavoring to elude his captors, so that the bandmaster in chief of the German army remains a gloomy prisoner.

NOW TRAINING BOY SCOUTS

Master Roy Fraser, son of W. B. Fraser, now at school, at Bristol has been busy of late training Boy Scouts.

Though too young for the front at present they are the soldiers of the future.

Roy hopes to spend his Xmas holidays at Salisbury Plain with the N.W. foundlanders.

Arthur C. Huskins Sings 'Mary of Argyle'

ARTHUR C. HUSKINS. Arthur C. Huskins, the sweet-voiced tenor singer, who is now appearing at the Nickel Theatre, will sing the old and well-known Scotch love song, "Mary of Argyle," this evening.

Since his arrival in St. John's and it became known that this charming song was included in his repertoire, patrons of the Nickel have been looking forward to his rendition of it with interest. This evening they will have an opportunity of hearing him.

The pictures are particularly good. There are twenty-five colored wax slides, right from the front. They show, mostly, the Belgians defending their country.

The two-reel feature film is entitled "Romance and Duty," and is a splendid piece with beautiful costumes and settings.

There will be three other reels, including a comedy by the now famous Keystone Co. which leads the world in this class of picture.

SIMPLE SOLDIER KILLED A PRINCE

And Belgians Astonished Germans by Returning Valuables Found on Dead Man

Paris, Oct. 23.—A despatch from Ostend to L'Humanite, describes the killing of the Prince of Lippe and his nephew by a private Belgian soldier. The despatch says the Germans, after occupying the town of Liege, continued westward to Seraing, where they intended to begin the bombardment of the forts at Fleron and Flemall the next day.

The Prince and his nephew went on a trip of inspection of the surroundings of Fleron during the night. When they reached a certain point they left their carriage and continued afoot. A Belgian soldier, a simple Flemish carabineer, happened to be on the spot. He had become separated from his command and did not know where his regiment was. On seeing the officers he hid in a ditch. He fired on the Prince and his nephew as they came near, and both fell dead. The soldier reported the affair later, and the corpses were removed to a mortuary at Seraing with due ceremony.

The helmet of the Prince contained a pile of bank notes and his belt and the handle of his sword were decorated with precious stones.

M. Delvigne, a Socialist alderman, who was acting as Burgomaster, handed over all the valuables to the German officers who came seeking news of the Prince. The officers were astonished to find the valuables had not been stolen.

The family of the Prince sent a letter thanking the municipality of Seraing for its treatment of the bodies and care of the valuables, and also a representative to thank the officials.

Mrs. (Dr.) Paterson had a cablegram yesterday from her husband who went to Glasgow and Edinburgh to pay a short visit to friends.

He returns to Salisbury Plain tomorrow.

WORLD'S PRESS ON THE BIG WAR

WHAT HOLLAND WOULD LOSE. Springfield Republicans:—Incidentally Holland could not side with Germany without handing the great island of Java over to the British or the Japanese.

THE RECORD TO DATE. Providence, R.I., Journal:—The record up to date, is that the mighty German Empire has demonstrated its ability to wallop the featherweight Belgium.

IRISH UNITY. London Times:—The few notes of discord which have been raised in Ireland are already overwhelmed in the widespread outburst of loyalty to the King. The dissidents are obscure and unimportant; they have received no countenance from the leaders of the Irish Nationalist Party, and they will soon be relegated to oblivion. Germany counted on Irish dissensions, and she counted in vain.

TIME IS A HELP TO THE ALLIES. Philadelphia Public Ledger:—In the East the indications are that the Germans are at least holding their own against the Russians and that the Austrians have pulled themselves together to some extent and are making a better fight of it. But the sheer weight of the Russian advance gives it an impetus that cannot easily be checked. And the Russians, with greater resources in men and supplies behind them, can afford delay and loss better than the others. Here, even more than in the West, perhaps, time fights on the side of the Allies.
