Copies of the new regulations of the Education Department have been received, and will be the chief source of interest to a great many for considerable time. Judging from the amount of work prescribed, school will have to run 10-hour shifts and this is the result of all the talk about over-burdening the children.

The team of black horses attached to the convent rig, became unmanageable to-day on King St., and ran away. The driver got them under control again on the bridge, but they once again started and the man seeing no chance of stopping them, let them go and rolled out the back of the rig. The team easily jumped the barricade where the St. Clair Street pavement is being put down. The rig was left in front of Dr. McKough's residence. The horses ran down the sidewalk to J. D. Stark's store, where one of the horses fell and the other stopped. The rig was badly damaged and one of the horses received a little scratch. The wagon box kept striking against the horses and excited them.

THE FALL FAIR

The Peninsular Fair this year, under the direction of the West Kent Agricultural Society, promises to be the best exhibition ever managed by this society. It will be held on Sept. 27, 28 and 29 this year, and already several entries have been received by Secretary Robinson, and many requests have been made for prize lists, which are being mailed free to all who desire them.

The exhibition will be open to the public at 7 a. m. on the second day. At 9 a. m. of the second day the judges will commence their duties. Bands of music will be in attendance during the afternoons and evenings of the exhibition.

The school children's day will be the last day of the fair, and this promises to be the biggest feature of the exhibition. Prizes have been offered for displays of flowers, fruits, plants, etc., from rural and city schools, and the competition, it is expected, will be keen. The scholars' admission will be 10c. on this day.

Judges will not give a prize on any animal or article deemed unworthy of a prize, and may award a first or second, or no prize, as they may deem proper. No banners, signs or streamers will be allowed across the main hall, which will shut off views. No entries will be received after September 27. This will be strictly adhered to. Grand parade of Prize Stock, Thursday, September 29th, at 1 p. m.

In short it will be one of the best fairs in Western Ontario.

BRAVE MAN

Major Rose who Commands the Black Watch Band when they visit Chatham—His Record

Major Hugh Rose, who is in charge of the Black Watch Band's visit to Canada, is the senior Major of the famous Regiment, and a most talented officer with a very distinguished war service. He received his first commission twenty years ago as Lieutenant in the Regiment. He was Captain of his Company in 1890, and promoted to his present rank in 1901. He took part in the Sudan Expedition in 1894-95, and was present at the action of El Teb. He received the Egyptian medal and clasp, together with the bronze star. The Black Watch had also some very hard fighting at the Battle of Tannenberg, on this occasion that Lord Wolseley, on receiving news of the gallant fight, telegraphed "Well done, old comrades of the Black Watch!" Major Rose will accompany the Band when they visit Chatham on Monday afternoon, September 12th, at the Opera House. It is expected there will be a large number from outside, as reduced fares have been secured on all railroads.

PRETTY WEDDING

A very happy event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Horning, Head Street, this afternoon, when their daughter, was united in marriage to Johnson McGee, the representative of the Wm. Gray & Sons Company, in Hamilton. The wedding was a very elaborate one and was attended by about forty guests. Miss Mary Dillon acted as bridesmaid, while the groom's brother filled the position of best man. The bride looked very pretty in a lovely gown of white and her maid was also very becomingly robed in white. Her going-away gown was of brown broadcloth. Rev. F. E. Malott tied the nuptial knot. Miss Horning is a very popular young Chatham girl and she has a large circle of friends who join in extending to her their best wishes. The groom is a former Chathamite, having been employed by the Gray Company here, until he was appointed to his present lucrative position in Hamilton. He has very many Chatham friends who are sincere in their congratulations. The presents were very numerous and useful. The happy young couple left on the 5:08 Wabash for their new home in Hamilton.

MR. STRINGER'S NEW BOOK

Says the London Advertiser:—Arthur Stringer, in his new book, "Lonely O'Malley," which he has just completed at his summer home in Cedar Springs, Ont., returns to the field of his earlier success, and writes of those small boys, of their sprightly adventures and their strange joys and sorrows, made familiar to readers of "The Loom of Destiny." "Lonely O'Malley" is the humorous biography of a small Irish-Canadian boy, a whimsical, isolated, inventive, mischievous, yet altogether lovable youth, who is forever getting into trouble, and forever tearing his admirers between laughter and tears. The book, which will be published in the course of a few months, is also a faithful picture of Canadian town life of 25 years ago. It is said that many of the author's boyhood chums will discover their portraits in the pages of this whimsical romance.
