

HOPE AND THE ROSE.

Who shall die first? whispered Hope to the Rose. Who shall die earlier in the grave? I, by my fate, or thou by thy sweet rose, which of the two in the future to save? I, by betraying, or thou by deceiving, who shall sleep first in eternal repose? Shall we weep, or live we forever, who shall die first? whispered Hope to the Rose. Who shall die first? whispered Hope to the Rose.

The Mother's Smile gives her child the first glimpse of heaven, as the tenderness of her affection awakens the first conception of an all-bountiful Providence. Women dwell with patience upon the trifles that make up the lives of their children; and it is on the direction of these seeming trifles that their future greatness will depend. "A kiss from my mother," said Benjamin West, "made me a painter." When yet a child, he had drawn a rude sketch of an infant reposing in a cradle. His mother chanced to see this childish production, and was so well pleased with it that she took the young artist in her arms, and rapturously kissed him. That mark of maternal delight fixed his fate for life.

WELLERISM.—"I'll be round this way in a minute," as the second hand said to the pendulum.

A GOOD WORKMAN WANTED.—He must be able to "rivet the attention," must understand how to join "a broken rest," be able to "sharpen the understanding," and to bring rambling arguments "to the point." Any "old file" having a few "wise saws" will probably suit. Persons used to "vice" need not apply.

Sonnyboy has said that those who go to law for damages, are sure to get them. If you wish to increase the size and prominence of your eyes, just keep an account of the money you spend foolishly, and add it up at the end of the year. That is a man out west who is so bent upon accomplishing his purpose, that he has become hunch-backed.

An unbred urchin, not quite three years old, said to his sister, who's munching a piece of gingerbread, "Sis, take half of dis cake to keep to afternoon, when I get cross." This is nearly as good as the story of the child who belov'd from the top of the stairs, "Ma, ma, Hannah won't pacify me!"

An elderly female, on being examined before the magistrates at Bungay, as to her place of legal settlement, was asked what reason she had for supposing her deceased husband's settlement was in St. Andrews? The old lady, looking earnestly at the bench, said—"He was born and married there; and they buried him there; and if that isn't settling him there, I don't know what is."

"SPEAKING OF DOGS," says Thayer to his friend Warren, "can you tell me how many dog-days there are in a year?" "Yes, about fifteen or sixteen I suppose." "You are wrong; there are more than that," exclaimed Thayer; "you know Mr. Shakespeare says, 'every dog has his day'—and all the dogs haven't been counted yet—so there's no knowing exactly how many dog-days there are."

WISKEY.—The key that opens the door of death and destruction. The latest report of Paris fashions says: "Bonnets are very small, and are more worn about the neck than on the head." We suppose shoes will be tied round the ankles before long.

WALKING-STICKS.—Walking-sticks were first introduced into fashion by the effeminate Henry II. of France, but did not become a requisite appendage to the gentlemen of fashion in England till the year 1655, at which time they were formed with an indented head in order to afford a more easy pressure of the hand which they supported. Ingenuity, which in matters of fashion, is for ever on the alert, now crowned it with the addition of the round and hollow top, which sometimes contained nutmeg or ginger, to warm the stomach of the valitudinarian, and sometimes sugar-candy, for the asthmatic; but snuff soon after coming into universal use among the bon ton of society, the cavity was exclusively appropriated to its reception, and the meeting of two friends was invariably marked, after the first salutation, by the unscrewing of the tops of their walking-sticks.
