

Was Big Surprise To Sydney Woman

Had Almost Given up Hope—Gains 14 Pounds and Recover Health Since Taking Tanlac

"My friends and relatives were alarmed over my condition and I did not think I could last much longer myself, but since taking Tanlac I have been restored to perfect health and have gained fourteen pounds besides," said Mrs. Phillip Fraser, who lives on McLeod St., Sydney, Nova Scotia.

"It was about four years ago that my health broke down," continued Mrs. Fraser, "and two years ago I got so bad that I had to have an operation, which left me in a weaker condition than ever. I was as restless I could never sleep good at night and time after time I went to bed and lay awake for hours before I even closed my eyes. My nerves were in an awful condition and any little unusual noise would frighten me terribly. I was subject to such severe headaches that I would have to stay in bed in a dark room. My appetite was very poor and I never cared whether I went to the table or not, and the little I did force down disagreed with me. I fell off from one hundred and ten pounds to ninety, and was hardly more than a frame and was so weak it was an effort for me to get around."

"Finally I decided to try Tanlac, as I had heard so much about it and I began to improve right from the start. I have finished my sixth bottle and am happy to say that I am a well woman in every respect. My nerves are steady and I am no longer troubled with those awful headaches. I have a splendid appetite and no matter what I eat it agrees with me perfectly. I sleep like a child every night and can stay on my feet from morning till night and do all my housework easier than I have in years. I just feel better and stronger every way and all my friends say my recovery is marvelous."

Tanlac is sold in Newcastle by E. J. Morris, in Redbank by Wm. M. Sullivan and in Doaktown by O. Hildebrand.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Made Her Well, Strong and Vigorous

MADAME ARTHUR BEAUCHER, 805 Cartier St., Montreal.

"I suffered terribly from Constipation and Dyspepsia for many years. I felt pains after eating and had gas, constant headache, and was unable to sleep at night. I was getting so thin that I was frightened and saw several physicians who, however, did not seem able to help me.

At last a friend advised me to take 'Fruit-a-tives'. I did so and soon I felt some relief. I continued with 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a short time, the Constipation was banished, I felt no more pains or headache or the disagreeable sensations that follow dyspepsia. Now I am well, strong and vigorous."

Building Up A Dairy Herd

There are two fundamental points to bear in mind particularly in starting to build up a good, healthy, productive dairy herd. First to see that the best females possible, of the particular breed which you choose to work with, are procured for a foundation. They should have plenty of size, good, robust constitutions, carrying good dairy characteristics. They should be procured from good healthy herds which are under regular inspection, and should be from dams and sires that have shown good results both as to the quality and quantity of milk produced. It is much preferable to have two or three really good individuals to start with than to start with a larger number not up to the standard. The sire to be used in building up a herd is a very important factor also, as the sire is always considered over 50% of the herd. As we said in regard to females, the sire should come from a good healthy herd with record of performance behind him, having sufficient size, and carrying all the strong characteristics of the breed which he represents.

Secondly after having a foundation laid, the next step is to see that proper quarters are provided for the housing of the herd, that is, a stable having plenty of light and ventilation. The herd should also be supplied with proper food to develop them and to produce the largest amount of the best quality of milk at the cheapest price possible.

Another important point is the attention given to the rearing of the young calves. The following method has proven very satisfactory:—Remove the dairy calf at birth. Do not allow him to nurse. Give mother's milk at the rate of 8 to 10 pounds, divided into three feeds, for the first ten days, then start replacing with skim-milk so that at the age of one month the calf will be receiving 10 pounds of skim-milk with the addition of a small quantity of scalded flax-seed meal. At three weeks of age a small quantity of oats, clover hay and some clean water should be kept before it from this time on, and the skim-milk should be gradually increased so that by the time the calf is fifteen weeks old it will be receiving from 15 to 20 pounds daily.

Any person starting out to build up a good, profitable dairy herd cannot do so, and know that he is without the use of the Babcock test and scales. The dairy farmer, should know just what amount of milk each cow gives throughout the year and the number of pounds of butter fat the milk contains. Anyone who has not followed this practice is bound to get many surprises after following it for a year. The cow that may have been considered one of the best producers in the herd may be found to be not doing more than pay for her keep. Cow testing not only produces better cows, but enables the dairyman to feed more intelligently. Get rid of the poor cows, carefully feed the good ones, breed them to a pure-bred sire, and the result will certainly be a large producing and profitable dairy herd.
