CANADIAN APPLE
CROP IS LIGHT
THIS YEAR

Falling Off in Yield in Principal Producing Provinces

The estimate of the 1924 apple crop in the five producing provinces of the Dominion as given in the October report issued by the Fruit Branch, indicates a falling off in volume as compared with the 1923 crop in Nova Scotia, Ontario and British Columbia and a gain in New Brunswick and Quebec. In each of the minus provinces the crop is estimated at 70 per cent. of that of last year. British Columbia being credited in the estimate with a yield of 2,590,000 boxes; Ontario with 913,080 barrels; and Nova Scotia with 1,274,742 barrels. Quebec with 87,876 barrels estimated, has a 135 per cent crop and New Brunswick's estimated crop of 86,615 barrels is 125 per cent.

The B.C. crop is reported as coloring well and of fair quality, though Leaf Roller has done considerable damage in the Okanagan and Salmon Arm, resulting in a larger percentage of "C" grade apples than usual.

The crop in Western Ontario is placed at 75 per cent of 1923; Kings and Russets, 100 per cent.; Spies and Greenings, 70 per cent; and Baldwins, 40 per cent., the leading varieties in point of yield. The Eastern Ontario crop will be 65 per cent of last year, the Winter varieties being generally light, especially Snows and Ben Davis, while an increase in actual yield of Starks; Russets and Greenings is offset by scab and aphid injury.

Weather conditions up to the close of September favored the development of the Quebec crop and little scab is evidenced. Early varieties have been shipped and packing of McIntosh and Fameuse is now well forward.

New Brunswick apples are reported clean, of good color and generally of more than average size. The crop came on well throughout September. The estimated gain over the 1923 crop occurs mainly in the Fall varieties.

Condition of the apple crop in Nova Scotia is said to be somewhat better than was anticipated a month ago. Bright sunshine and generally favorable weather has been responsible for improved color and the fruit has sized up wonderfully well. Infestations of scab will reduce the quantity of marketable apples in some districts but nearly all well-cared for orchards will run heavier to the higher grades than was expected. While the crop is reported patchy the consensus of opinion is that the total production may reach 70 per cent of 1923.

REV. DR. DICKIE INTERVIEWED ON CHURCH UNION

Rev. Dr. Dickie of King Crescent Church, Montreal who is prominent in the movement to continue the Presbyterian Church, was a visitor to St John last week and while there was interviewed by a newspaper representative on the matter of church union. When asked how the Presbyterian movement was going, Dr. Dickie said "It is going very well indeed in Ontario and Quebec, where we expect at least fifty per cent. of the people will remain Presbyterians."

Dr. Dickie declined to say anything about the situation in the Maritime Provinces, saying he knew nothing at first hand in this area. "But in British Columbia; Alberta and Saskatchewan we have developed considerable strength during the past few months."

"We will have all who want to be Presbyterians, and we don't want any others. We are interested in a pure church, moving along conservative lines rather than in a large church. We want to keep clear of politics, rationalism and fancy modern religious notions. But we will have a church from coast to coast."

Asked about congregations, Dr. Dickie said that the Presbyterians were more concerned with maintaining the unity of congregations than the unionists since the unionists have urged union minorities in Presbyterian congregations to withdraw. "We have not asked Presbyterians when they find themselves in a union congregation to withdraw. We think our people should develop their maximum strength in a congregation but when the vote shows them to be in a minority, we think they should withdraw only for the most conscientious reasons."

"Is this merely a movement of Presbyterian preference and prejudice?" was the next question to which Dr. Dickie replied. "So far as I am concerned I am interested in preserving the Presbyterian Church because I think it will be more securely anchored to the Word of God and less liable to drift with the changing winds of these modern times."

"It is" he concluded "now up to the people. They are free to choose between Presbyterianism and Unionism and should be permitted to choose freely."

VITAMIN QUALITIES

Many people, young and old, get plenty of food but the vitamin qualities out of which come the powers of resistance, are minus, and malnutrition and weakness ensue.

Scott's Emulsion

is indeed the plus-quality that so many children and adults need to help sustain the body in normal strength and vitality.

A very little Scott's after each meal helps to vitalize the deficient diet. Scott's Emulsion promotes growth—builds strength.

Figured in Historic Sod Turning

This antique looking wheelbarrow and spade do not appear capable of very hefty service now, but nearly half a century ago they carried the weight of a very important event — the ceremony marking the commencement of the construction of the Canada Central Railway through Pembroke, Ontario. Following the ceremony, the spade with which the first sod was turned and the wheelbarrow into which it was shovelled in the presence of a very enthusiastic crowd, were presented to Miss M. P. Moffat, daughter of the Reeve of the village, the lady who performed the ceremony of the naming of the road and christening it with a bottle of champagne. They recently passed into the hands of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which company took over the Canada Central lines in 1881, and will be added to a museum of relics connected with the early days of the railroad which is being formed in Montreal.

So much for the actual ceremony. The Pembroke "Observer" for September 3rd 1875 says: "The assembly then adjourned to a spacious booth that had been specially erected for the occasion, where champagne and beer had been provided for the purpose of drinking several toasts which had been previously agreed upon, by the committee; but a number of individuals, apparently more intent on drinking champagne than doing honor to any toasts, took possession of the tables, and the regular order of the programme had to be abandoned. The Pembroke Brass Band was present and performed some popular airs."

This Is The Time
To Begin

Everybody cannot shop early—that is, it is not possible for everyone to complete the tale of Christmas buying before those last hectic hours are experienced. They are admittedly dreadful hours in which only the remembrance of the Christmas spirit keeps one smiling and polite. The shop assistants are tired and worn and wearied; they have given the final decision in hundreds of cases and it is to their quiet patience and wise tact that many a Christmas gift is "just right." The shoppers are harassed by the memory of a hundred things yet to be done; by a stealthily growing conviction that Uncle's book on Relativity or Rheumatism went into Cousin Mary's package which should contain nothing suggestive of oncoming years by the thought of forgotten friends and lost memorandums, and by the steadily diminishing pocketbook and the still plethoric list and any number of similar matters. Today and tomorrow and all the next week, the shops will be filled with delightfully appropriate gifts, with decorations, cards, books and ever so many of the things that are inevitable as Christmas Day itself. The wise woman will go out and get them; she will shop early and purposely before the last few days. The result will be that she will have the essentials on hand, the needed paper and ribbon and seals—the things she determined to buy the day after Christmas last year, but somehow put off. There will always be the last few hundred buyers but by lessening the number Christmas will be a happier one for those whom perhaps the poet meant when he wrote, "They also serve, who stand and wait."
