D. McGILLICUDDY,
Editor of THE SIGNAL,
Goderich, Ont.

Our court house is too heavy to remove to Clinton; but we can spare a few of our town councillors. They do seem anxious to build up the rival town.

With the exception of the wheat, the crops of Huron are generally ahead of the average in this Province, although below the usual yield. The yield of scarcely a single farm product this year will be up to the standard of former years.

The editor of the Toronto News has been annoyed at something the editor of the World wrote about him, and characterizes his adversary as "the meanest skunk in Canadian journalism." In this case the comparison is odorous, indeed.

Goderich harbor would be a busy one if we had commercial union. Those who remember the town under reciprocity will bear testimony to the fact that the abolition of a customs line would boom business and enhance the value of real estate here.

Up to the time of writing nothing has turned up to vary the dull monotony of the quietness that reigns on the waterworks question. Some time before the passing of the bylaw it was contended that a perfected scheme was before the people; since that time it has been discovered that no scheme, perfected or otherwise, is in existence.

A CHICAGO reporter in a speed contest at Alexandria Bay, wrote an average of 249 words a minute for five consecutive minutes. That would be the style of reporter to have when the Goderich town council and the clerk all try to talk at once in favor of supporting Clinton workmen to the detriment of home skilled labor.

Two convicts, named Kelly and 'Scoon, escaped from Kingston penitentiary in the Warden's yacht, Tuesday last. The men were employed on the yacht as engineer and fireman, so as to save the warden from paying for the labor. The warden had no right to so employ them, and we hope their escape under the circumstances will call for a strict investigation at the hands of the Government.

All over the country it would seem that the city and town councils are running to seed. Toronto council has overdrawn its bank account by $1,266,411, and is paying interest thereon at the rate of $150 a day; Stratford and other outside places are run to the bows; and Goderich is apparently governed by as helpless a lot of incapables as ever led to an "intelligent public" from municipal meetings.

A PROTECTION BUBBLE BURSTS.

The Canadian protectionists are getting into a terrible tangle. The Toronto World, the ablest paper advocating a protective tariff in Canada, and the only protectionist daily in Toronto just now, has gone back on the policy of the Government in the matter of the sugar duties, and proves very clearly that the high tariff upon raw sugars is not only unjust, but that it gives no real protection to the refiner. The World has at length awakened to the fact that the people of Canada have for years been needlessly taxed under the pretence of "protection to native industries," to the extent of $2,000,000 annually in the matter of the lower grades of sugar. When it is remembered that the leader writer of the World is known as the strongest advocate of protection in Ontario, the following point will show that under a pretext of protection we have been really getting nothing of the sort, and that the Government at Ottawa has been either incapable or hypocritical in the arrangement of the sugar duties:

"As things now are, the protective system is only imperfectly carried out as regards sugar, and hence protection goes lame and halts with us. . . . All the above is unrefined sugar, and it pays two million dollars duty in which there is not one cent of protection. And this two million dollars of revenue is at the rate of 11 cents per lb. or 2 1/2 per cent. on the value. Now, this is a pretty high duty, to be revenue only, and not at all for protection. But if we had protection as it should be, there would not be one dollar of duty paid on cane sugar."

We commend the above quotation to those of our friends who have been defending the sugar duties. The World is correct in the main; the Canadian protective system is beginning to limp badly.

The editor of the Mitchell Advocate has got himself into a corner. Some weeks ago he published an absurd falsehood about the SIGNAL in the matter of the alleged libel suit of one John Brown. We gave the falsehood an unqualified denial. The Advocate revamped the story, gave it a new application, and again sent it forth. We again placed an unequivocal denial on record. Last week the editor of the Advocate attempted to pass passion to tatters, and indulged in some of the language that is his stock in trade, but he brings no proof in support of any assertion he has made. Like the cowardly sneak that he is, he now seeks to throw the responsibility of the canard upon a lawyer named Hodge, but even that will not avail. We say now that no effort was ever made, on any occasion by anybody interested in our behalf in the alleged suit, to Bob Birmingham, of Toronto, in any way or shape, and we ask the Advocate to produce the statement of lawyer Hodge, or any one else whose word can be relied upon to support his contention. Nor, Bill, "put up or shut up." If you knew Bob Birmingham's record for truthfulness where he is best known, you would never cite him as authority on the subject, or endeavor to surround him with the halo of glory which is popularly believed to have been the sole possession of the late George Washington.

The Advocate of Mitchell has been slandering a lady of that town, and has a libel suit on its hands. A villainous attack upon the character of the lady in question is the alleged ground of complaint. An abject apology will now be in order. That's always the Advocate's line of defence.

The editor of THE SIGNAL has been informed by councillor Colborne, that he is not the author of the "Junius" letter. We are pleased to know that the chairman of the finance committee is in a position to make such a statement. He is not the first who has had to say, "Save me from my friends?"

SIR CHARLES TUPPER and Sir Lionel Sackville West are likely to be Mr Chamberlain's colleagues on the Fisheries Commission. A special despatch from Washington points out that the United States Government cannot appoint a regular commission, but will probably employ persons to act in conjunction with Minister Phelps.

The effort to raise sufficient funds to float the proposed Tuff organ, The Empire, has fallen through, and Messrs Creighton, of Owen Sound, and Boswell, of Toronto, the canvassers, have thrown up the sponge. The Government will now have to purchase one of the Toronto papers as an organ. Which will it be, what will be the price paid, and who will be managing director of the reconstructed concern?

WHAT'S UP?

Things That Are Happening Around Us.

The Boom at the Point Farm This Year—The Breeders in Connection With the Agricultural Grounds—An Incapable Council.

—I hear my old and esteemed friend, Jo. Wright, the only and original proprietor of the Point Farm, has been doing a healthy business during the season which is now drawing to a close. I'm glad to know that victory has at last perched upon his banner, so to speak, and that now he is reaping, and in the time to come will continue to reap, the fruits of his push, perseverance, energy, enterprise and good-headedness. For years past J. J. W. has been doing his level best to make rough places smooth and crooked ways straight, and has striven to get the Almighty Dollar at his disposal in sufficient quantities to enable him to catch the fickle goddess by her back hair, but until this season he never came within an ace of being extinguished by overwork owing to the steady flow of guests in upon him. Today he stands calmly contemplating the close of a most successful season, his brow wreathed with the victor's palm, as it were, his face illumined by a conscious pride, his lips curved with a sweet smile, and his pocket-book bulging out on both sides. Long may he wave to cater to the wants of weary wanderers in search of rest, health and Luke Haron's invigorating breezes.

—I observe that public indignation still continues to hold the fort in the matter of the gross expenditure and mismanagement in connection with the preparation of the new agricultural grounds. As was pointed out by my esteemed and erudite friend, Larry Malchay, last week, the buildings have been located on the blind line, and will with difficulty be discovered by exhibitors or visitors. In addition to that, the speeding track has been built "long and narrow,"—like "Barbara Allen's" coffin—making very short turns at the ends, which good horsemen will tell you is not promotive of speed. And now it is claimed that, by advice from some of the councillors, the plans and specifications have been deviated from, and the building is not in accordance with the original design. Be these things as they may, there is a cloud of solid, undiluted public indignation visible to the naked eye and larger than a man's hand, so far as our present council is concerned, and if I am not very much astray in the signs of the times, there will be a grand clearing out of the present incapables at the next municipal election. If the free and independent electors don't kick the bunglers out at New Year's and fill their coat-tails with boots, they won't be true to themselves or posterity, by any means.

—The waterworks question continues to be effected with spavins, windgalls, heaves, thick-neck, epizoo, "Charley Horse" and other sad and serious ailments that impede its progress. It's enough to make babies smile and angels weep to see fifteen men sitting up at the council board and not one of them able or willing to tell how to initiate the waterworks for which the electors voted over $50,000 last May. The town council have been holding special meeting after special meeting, and they have talked themselves hoarse on this subject, and they are no nearer a solution of the problem than they were in 1875, notwithstanding the fact that they have spent $1,200 on the hole in the ground on East street, and upon "expert" testimony, and paid out over $300 in connection with the passing of the bylaws. I've attended a quakers' meeting where business moved slowly; I've listened to men without ability or ordinary intelligence trying to exhibit themselves as political candidates to a tired audience; I've seen the small boy sent on a message in the early morn, and return footsore and weary when the shades of evening were descending, and when the orb of day had set in a glow of purple in the West, without accomplishing the object for which he was sent out; I've sat on a hard bench and listened to a no-account extorter hold an audience with his glittering eye and feeble tongue in a wearisome discourse of two hours and twenty-three minutes, by the watch; I've gazed upon a "corporation siddler" working by the day with one hand and watching the town clock with all his other powers; I've followed some very tedious funeral processions; yes, I've come across a heap of slow things in the varied experiences of my chequered existence, but I hope to die rich one of these days, if I ever saw anything with or without wheels that moved slower or made poorer headway than the waterworks question in the hands of the Goderich town council. At their present rate of speed Times won't stretch out far enough for them to consummate the scheme. AXAX.

THE PARKDALE MYSTERY.

A Tragedy which has thus far baffled the Detectives.

By the Grand Trunk train on Monday morning the body of the late Joseph Priestman, who was found dead on a Parkdale street on Friday morning, with a bullet wound in his head, was conveyed to Welland, where it was interred Monday afternoon. The mystery deepens. Dr. Riddell, assisted by Mr J. C. Gray, conducted on Saturday morning a careful and tedious post-mortem examination of the body, and from facts shown thereby had considered it to be tolerably certain that Mr Priestman was murdered. The doctor holds that, though it may be possible, it is not probable or natural that the victim could himself have fired the fatal bullet just in the exact direction that it took. There was considerable talk on Saturday about the amount of life insurance carried by the dead man. This is about $19,000—$8,500 in the Northwestern Masonic Aid Association for which he was Toronto agent, $6,000 in the Canada Life, and other smaller policies which made up the $19,000. Mr Priestman owned property in Toronto and Parkdale, and many people say that he was in very easy circumstances.

With all this comes to light the information that he started to make a will in June last, which he did not finish, but which was completed and signed by the necessary witnesses on August 18th, not seven days before his death. The World learned that some fifty persons were mentioned in this document as legatees for different sums, which were to be paid out of the insurance policies. The dead man's residence at the foot of Dunn street, and his other property is said to be heavily encumbered.

James Page, who lives on the corner of Lorne and Prospect streets, Parkdale, was intimately acquainted with the late Mr Priestman, who was a frequent visitor at his house. What he says is this: "Mr Priestman brought my little boy to my house at five minutes past 9 on the night of the murder. He was in the best of spirits, and after remaining five minutes talking to my wife he and I started out towards his own house. We walked together about one hundred yards. He told me that he had an appointment to keep that night, but did not say where. He talked to me about my being insured and told me no man with a young family should be without it. 'See here, Page,' he said, 'I will let this thing go until Monday night, when you will have to come to time. I am not in a hurry for the money. Pay me when you like, but get insured.' He also told me to bring up a bag of land plaster to his house on Friday night, and he would be there. His last words were: 'Will you take a trip with me to night? I have just one call to make.' I said, 'No, I cannot.' He walked away then, remarking, 'Well, I suppose Mrs. Page is a little lonesome.'"

"Now," continued Mr. Pace, "my impression of the murder is this: Mr. Priestman was killed by the man with whom he had that appointment. It was of such a nature that he probably could not bring the man to the house, and in talking over business they quarrelled and the man killed him. This opinion is strengthened by the fact that the man whom he said he had to meet has never turned up, and my impression is that he is the murderer. Those papers were never searched for nothing."

Lake Notes.

The schooner Ariel delivered a cargo of coal at the Big Mill last week.

The schooner, Jane McLeod, with a cargo of lumber for W. and H. Dymont, reached her dock on Wednesday night last week.

The schooner Todman with a cargo of lumber for M. H. Secord reached her dock early on Wednesday morning last week.

The schooner Koffage last week delivered a car load of hoops to P. McEwen and others.

The schooner M. G. Gordon delivered a cargo of red brick at the harbor dock last week. The bricks are for the home being erected for Mr. P. Holt.

The three masted barge Rosebud sought the shelter of the harbor the beginning of last week, and remained snugly berthed therein for five days.

The barge Pinafore, with a cargo of salt and lumber, arrived from Port Frank on Sunday morning. After delivering her cargo to Williams & Murray she sailed for the Port again on Monday afternoon.

The wreck of the Rathbun has been almost broken up by the storms of the present month, there being but one or two planks that can be discerned now above the water.

Crisp Items of Interest for People Who Want the News in a Hurry—Information Rolled Down to Suit Our Readers Time.

The continued cold and rainy weather in Dakota has been unfavorable to gathering small grain. Corn will suffer to some extent.

A large force of cavalry, infantry and police have left Limerick for the O'Grady estates, where they will be engaged while evictions are being made.

Mrs. Thompson, of Beachville, celebrated the 100th anniversary of her birth last Saturday. The invitations to her guests were written by the old lady herself.

Miss Bella Gentle rather astonished the county volunteers by winning several of the first prizes at their shooting competitions at Kincaid, Fifehire, Scotland.

Mr T. Greenway, leader of the Manitoba Opposition, adheres to the opinion that the Government will dissolve the Legislature and go to the country again this fall.

Archbishop Walsh has published a letter inviting landlords to appoint a committee to meet a committee of Irish tenants in regard to the conference on the land question.

The authorities at Washington have decided that cream imported from Canada is properly dutiable at the rate of ten per cent. ad valorem as a raw and unmanufactured article.

Eight members of No. 2 Engine Company of Plainfield, N. J., have been arrested on a charge of arson. One of them confessed that he had fired a number of places by using kerosene.

The sentence of death on Oxy Cherry, the 12-year-old colored girl of Columbia, S. C., who murdered a white man she was tending, has been commuted to imprisonment for life.

Canadian lumbermen generally expect to cut as much in the woods this year as was cut last year, if nothing interferes with the season's operations. In connection with this it is interesting to note that it is estimated that the busy saws at the Chaudiere will cut somewhat less than last year.

Only two miles of the Red River Valley grade remains to be constructed and it is expected the entire grade will be levelled up and ready for the rails this week. Side tracks for the accommodation of the materials will be the first work done. The engineers expect to have the road in running order by October 21.

Jimmy McDevitt, a well known New York burglar, met with a violent death Monday morning while trying to escape from a store, where he had been discovered. McDevitt plunged through a plate glass window. He was caught by the stomach and disemboweled. A companion of the burglar, who was watching on the outside of the building, was arrested, and is now locked up.

A review of the English crop prospects received by cable says the wheat yield is the best of the year. It will average 32 bushels to the acre, and give the farmers 7,000,000 quarters to sell. This leaves the country dependent on foreign supplies for at least 17,000,000 and shorting 19,000,000 bushels, as the shortness of the potato crop will cause a greater demand than usual for breadstuffs.

Monday morning as a freight train on the Cleveland & Marietta Railway neared Oldham's trestle, the bridge was seen to be on fire. The engineer called for brakes, but as the train hands thought it was too late to save the train several of them jumped. Fireman Adams was probably fatally hurt. The jumping train men were severely injured. The engine and all the train except three cars passed over the trestle, 60 feet of which fell with the last three cars, dropping them 46 feet. Cause of fire unknown.

It is understood that the Minister of Fisheries is considering the recommendations contained in the report of Lieut. Gordon, who commanded the Hudson's Bay expedition. Among other things the Commander urged the Government to suppress the destructive slaughter of whale in Hudson's Bay by explosive bomb lances, used by Americans, the advisability of establishing a Government revenue cutter in the bay, and the necessity of collecting revenue along the coast of Labrador—a task now performed by the Newfoundland Government.

In the House of Commons Monday evening, on a motion to grant £762,315 for the purpose of completing the credit of the Irish police constable, Mr Dillon protested against the constant increase of the expenses of the police in Ireland. Although the population had decreased 200,000 since 1880, the cost of the police service had increased over $250,000. This waste of the public money was not due to crime. A monstrous and corrupt police force was kept up to evade the provisions of the Mutiny Act by maintaining a larger military force than was sanctioned by Parliament. The law was not enforced, and rents were not collected, and the only effect of employing the police was to create widespread dissatisfaction and to exasperate the people.

The Freeman's Journal states that Arthur O'Connor, M.P. for Donnegal and Sir Henry Gratton, Edmonds, M.P. for Dublin county, will visit the United States in September and address meetings to be convened by the Irish National League of America. Sir Henry Edmonds is a great grandson of Henry Grattan, the famous Irish patriot.

Robert Bonner drove Maud S. Saturday afternoon on the three-quarter mile track on his farm, the fastest mile that ever has been made on waggon. The first half was made in 1:03 and the last half in 1:04, making the mile in 2:13. Mr Bonner urged the mare only on the last half, when she made the marvellous time of 1:04 to a wagon on a three-quarter track. Mr Bonner weighs 30 pounds over the regulation weight. He says the world has never seen Maud S.'s equal, and that she is a better mare today than an ever was before.

Rev Mr Baxter, of the Church of England, has just delivered three prophetic lectures at Liverpool. There is nothing vague about this prophet. England is to be separated legislatively from Ireland, India and her colonies; Lucien Bonaparte is to become King of Syria, and later on Emperor of France. Belgium and the Rhine Provinces are to be annexed to France in 1896. One hundred and forty four thousand watchful Christians are to ascend from earth to heaven, and the millennium is to commence on April 11, 1931. The lecturer challenged any minister or individual to show that he was mistaken. No one as yet has taken up the challenge, possibly because everyone is convinced that no mistake has been made, possibly for other reasons.

The Manchester Guardian editorially discusses with much vigor the correspondence just published respecting the increase in the Canadian tariff. It says: "The correspondence gives no evidence that any other consideration was taken into account by the Ottawa Government than serving a little group of Canadian capitalists, who endeavor to further their own interests under the guise of the National Policy at the public cost. The present victorious party in Canada is doing what it can to isolate the Dominion from the advantage of interchange of its productions with the outside world. So suicidal and unfriendly a course will inflict more harm upon Canadians than upon England, and is about as sensible a proceeding as to fill up its harbors or blow up its railway bridges."

In the Nineteenth Century appears an article by Mr Gladstone, entitled, "Electoral facts of 1887," in which he says that the general election of 1885 indicated, not the conviction, but the perplexity of the country. He contends that the results of the recent elections are equivalent to an improved Liberal strength of 22 per cent., and that, giving the Conservatives the benefit of all doubts, a new election would leave the latter in a minority of 103. This basis, he continues, is too narrow to allow of a demonstration or the expression of undue confidence on the part of the Liberals, but, viewing the figures in cold blood, a rational Tory or dissident will probably regard them as of marked significance, and may even begin to inquire in a reflective temper, "Where is all this to end?"

Chas. Alexander Percy, of Suspension Bridge, a young man 27 years old, and by trade a wagon maker, carriage trimmer and painter, made a safe trip through the whirlpool rapids Saturday last, in a lifeboat built by himself, and upon the construction of which he has been engaged during the past summer. The boat is about seventeen feet long, with air chambers at either end, in one of which Percy made the voyage. It is rigged with a seat so that the navigator can strap himself in it and travel outside if he wishes. The keel is weighted with 240 pounds of iron, and bags of sand are carried in the hold so that it will right itself. An iron weight attached to a long rope trailed from the stern so as to keep the boat straight ahead. Though it keeled in a threatening way, the craft rode the breakers and great waves without once upsetting. The sight was very pretty one to those on shore. After entering the whirlpool basin Percy came out and rowed himself ashore. His object is not for glory, he says. The journey was simply experimental, and the boat having come through all right he will now model a lifeboat on a large scale and ask for a patent. The strangest part of it is that Percy has no practical knowledge of boat building. His work was done in secret, and no one but his brother had been allowed to see the boat until Saturday, when it was launched.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Words to the Wise and Otherwise in Public Questions.

YOU HAD BETTER ASK THE LERK.

Is it true that the bigheads of the council are trying to make up the money thrown away on the waterworks tests, by letting the council chamber to dancing parties? "Q" IN THE CORNER.

OUR PRESENT SYSTEM DOESN'T REQUIRE ONE.

We wish to make a change in our waterworks system, and want some information. Kindly inform me which member of your council is the hydraulic engineer and oblige. WATERWORKS, Woodstock, Aug. 30.
