Mathieu's Syrup is sold by at least 18 dealers in Springhill.

FERRIS & PEEL.
Yours truly,
FERRIS & PEEL.

AGAINST HEADACHE there is no remedy so active as Mathieu's Nerve Powders which contain no opium, morphine or alcohol. 25 cents per box of 18 powders.

The Evening Chat

By MRS. CAMERON

"Someone has said 'thinking' is just what nobody wishes to do. These words hold the explanation of the insufficiency and mediocrity of human existence, for truly no one wishes to reflect. How many even intelligent men and women live without ever performing this function."

—Dora Melegaria.

How often do you think?

"What a ridiculous question," you say.

"Why, all the time, of course."

But do you?

I don't.

A n d before you are so cocksure that you do, please let me define what I mean by thinking.

Or better still, I'll let someone else define it for me. "I am entirely convinced," says Arnold Bennett, "that what is more than anything else lacking in the life of the average, well intentioned man of to-day is the reflective mood. We do not reflect upon genuinely important things; upon the direction in which we are going; upon what life is giving to us; upon the share which reason has in determining our actions; and upon the relation between our principle and our conduct."

Now that's the kind of thinking I mean.

And how much of it do you do?

You sit in a trolley car—by "you" I mean you and your next door neighbor—and I, rolled into one, in a word, "the average person"—and you look out the window and dream. You see a white gown getting splattered with mud and you think you must have your white nainsook washed next week. From that your mind roves idly to a new frock you are going to have made and a letter you must write to your dressmaker, and then you think how warm it is for this time of year, and wonder if it's that which makes you so sleepy, or because you sat up rather later than usual to play cards, or you wonder what time so-and-so got home.

So your mind drifts.

But that isn't thinking any more than idly paddling your hands in the water is rowing, or will propel your boat to any definite destination.

Of course, one must rest on one's oars some of the time, but on the other hand one must row occasionally.

If the men and women who do get somewhere in this world are the men and women who do not, and row some of the time instead of perpetually drifting, the men and women who do think occasionally instead of dreaming all the time.

Suppose the next time you are sitting in a trolley car with half an hour in which to dream you try thinking instead.

Concentrate on some important letter you have to write and think out just what you are going to say.

Try to recall some of the poetry you once learned.

Think over some big public question, such as woman's suffrage or prohibition, or the need of more stringent divorce laws, or the recall and marshal all the arguments for and against.

Study the advertisements in the car. Decide which are good and which are poor and why.

Or, best of all, reflect upon some genuinely important thing—upon the direction in which you are going—upon what life is giving you.

Of course, as Mr. Bennett warns us, "you will not have gone ten yards before your mind has skipped away under your very eye and is lurking around the corner with another subject."

But if he does, to quote once more "bring it back by the scruff of the neck. Bring it back forty times, if necessary."

If you do perhaps by and by you may get the habit of really thinking.

Don't you want to try it?

"I will if you will."

Red Comm.

Remedies are Needed

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages, through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a dyer's compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

The genuine has on its outside wrapper the Signature

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine of known composition, not even though one instant dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

Whiskey from Bananas.

New York, Oct. 10.—A cable from Paris announces that two Frenchmen have succeeded in making pure whiskey from bananas. For the new process they claim two qualities which will appeal to all whiskey drinkers, cheapness and delicious odor.

Dr. Jos. Bell Dead.

London, Oct. 4.—Dr. Joseph Bell, the eminent Scottish surgeon who was the original of the character of Sherlock Holmes, died to-day at his home, Marlborough, Miltonbridge, Midlothian. He was born in Edinburgh in 1837 and was an instructor of Conan Doyle at Edinburgh. His hobby was the study of mysterious crimes.

Fads and Fashions.

Willow plumes are passe.

The fall hat is of black velvet.

Frills have lost none of their popularity.

Furs were never so large and so luxurious.

The great pillow muf is famously fashionable.

Old gold is one of the favorite colors for evening.

All couturiers agree in the great popularity of velvets.

The Watteau pleat is a feature on negligee or tea gowns.

Many frocks of satin present striking color combinations.

Paris has revived black and white combinations from last season.

There is somewhat of a predominance of navy blue costumes.

Buttons are much used on blouses. Black velvet is the favorite kind.

For suits, braided buttons, black velvet and fur will be the trimming.

A decided vogue for black velvet and dark navy blue velvet is noticeable.

On some tailored suits there are revers and collars in white or gay colors.

Plain, high-crowned black hats are in great favor with the Parisian milliners.

White tulle is to be used extensively for blouses, chemisettes and entire gowns.

The afternoon frock shows skirts just a little longer than we had in the summer.

Longer skirts—and just a little fuller, if you would heed the Parisian mandate.

Dresses of tulle and silk mull, with flowered borders, are charming for debutante frocks.

If you would be very up-to-date have the color of the blouse the same as that of the suit.

Black velvet will be worn as much as ever this winter, combined with satin brocade or cloth, or merely corded.

The smart thing to wear with your lingerie white blouse is a skirt of heavy white satin, tailored and quite short.

Many black hats are trimmed in white. Immense crowns, bands and bows of white tulle or mull are used.

A number of taffeta-colored hats are noted, and the covered hat will undoubtedly have a high place in fashion.

Many evening frocks of chiffon are trimmed with lace flounces and tiny sprays and knots of silk or velvet flowers.

Dressy frocks of satin show narrow pointed trains or square or rounded trains quite separate from the rest of the skirt.

Skirts at present are little pleated, though if there is any pleating on the skirt it is better to have it stitched all the way to the bottom.

Evening frocks of tulle or delicate lace—the flounces touched with crystal—are worn under extremely short chiffon tunics, edged with fringe.

The hat or parasol dimension shows masses of gorgeous plumes placed over the crown. A fringe of fur is used to edge the shape.

For afternoon wear there is an astonishing favoritism accorded to chamoisee. It is the silk used for suits, dresses of all types and in all colors.

Changeable effects have for weeks been the color scheme. The changeable mousseline de soie is now in the field and is exceptionally lovely for evening gowns.

Since lace and ribbon muffs were so strongly featured abroad during the recent season, it is not surprising to see a few crepe de chine muffs edged with fur to match the scarf.
