e Price of Flour. now $8.50 a barrel. A it was $7.50. On January "Trade Review" noted that was a good deal of flour, before the recent advance, on the way." Since then, that m January 23rd to February 5th, have been about 15,000 barrels your imported. Now if this was night previous to the advance, and here can be no doubt whatever about why is the price advanced a dollar parrel? Does not the natural patthe feeling tell the merchants that is it the only Patriotism to give our oung men? What sacrifice is there giving $2,000.00 to the Patriotic nd and making $5,000.00 on flour sed before the advance? They will tell us that they base their prices re before raising the price? Is here not one merchant who will be
