Homing Pigeons Are Training for Races.

Halifax and Dartmouth pigeon men are training their homing pigeons for races to take place later on in the fall. It is hoped to have a race this year from Truro about the time the Halifax Poultry Show is on, in Norember. Birds are also being trained along both shores leading to the entrance of the harbor.

So far flights have been made from Ketch Harbor on the western, side and from Cow Bay on eastern side. Also several flights have been made from about twenty miles out to sea Halifax and Dartmouth.

Inland, some birds have flown as far as from Amherst to Halifax, but the majority of birds owned here have disastrous. So I repeat next year it is expected that before next year to have at least twenty birds trained from Moncton to Hallfax, which will be a flight of 100 miles, also along the D. A. R. line to Digby, which is a flight of 150
