Our London Letter

LONDON, Eng., May 29.—(By Canadian Press)—In spite of their social relationship to each other Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and Mrs. Harry Brown, the rich Pittsburg widow, have had to start issuing their invitations. It is by coincidence, of course, that their first big party has been arranged for the same night—Derby Night.

Mrs. Brown has invited some 130 people to dinner and dance in the wonderful Spencer House Ballroom, adding that the orchestra will play from 12 to 5 a.m. Mrs. "Nelly" has broadcast the first shot of the season to all her guests of last year and to every member of the younger royal set who is in town. According to the dilemmas in which half of social London is now placed, both lots of invitations appear to have been sent off at the identical hour.

It seems, however, that Mrs. Brown will beat the most social of the Vanderbilts to it once more, to lapse into the vernacular, for Mrs. "Nelly," unlike Mrs. Brown, has given no indication of how late her own ball is likely to continue. Between midnight and 1 o'clock therefore is likely to see a procession of limousines from the doors of Norfolk House (Mrs. Vanderbilt), up to the massive gates of the ducal home of the Spencer, which the Pittsburg widow has filled with a battalion of powdered footmen.

LONDON WILL SOON GET TIRED OF THIS.

Trust the Bright Young People of London to find a new game. You remember the Treasure Hunts, and the Night-Time Days. Now they've found something that requires not only skill and ingenuity but a good deal of luck as well.

That is it. They arrange between themselves to interview a number of famous people by telephone, as if they were newspaper reporters, and see just how much a person's views on this and that can vary during 24 hours. The actresses have fallen for it beautifully. Gladys Cooper, Beatrice Lillie and a few others have all been interviewed by the Bright Young People, and no doubt are still looking for their views to appear in various London papers,—but the typed out interviews are resting in a certain escriptorie in Mayfair.

The other day one famous author and playwright who has three plays running in London at the moment was rung up by a sweet young voice and asked for his views on "Women's Mannish Modes of to-day." It took up 15 minutes of his time, and he nearly stopped his wife's dress allowance when she presented him with his interview that evening.

INDIAN RAJAHS FILL ROYAL VACANT PLACES.

English princes may be scarce this season, but there are plenty of Indian Maharajahs here, and very excited Potentates indeed. In the "millionaire hotels," and occupying the Imperial suits are no fewer than four Indian princes and Maharajahs. These are the Rajahs of Kapurthala, Rajpipla, Vizianagaram, and the Prince Karamjit Singh of Kapurthala.

Rajpipla is the youngest and handsomest of them all, and, as many a debutante will bear witness, dances divinely. All the Rajahs have brought long suites with them, and some of the latter keep to their Eastern drins. When the Rajah of Kapurthala dines in the restaurant or the Cafe a seven feet high Indian retainer stands behind his chair and makes a pretence of tasting the foods and wines before the Rajah begins his meal.

MILLION DOLLAR BEAUTIES.

The interesting problem "Is money the great breeder of good looks" had been propounded by the English author G. V. Lendrum, on seeing a number of debs who are visiting London this season.

"Girls grow prettier and prettier as their fathers grow richer and richer," declares Mr. Lendrum. "Some of the London society girls, despite all their ancestors, will have to keep a close eye on their rivals—and perhaps take a hint or two."

According to the rumors one of the prettiest debs of this season will be Miss Monica O'Shea, the daughter of U.S. Senator O'Shea, who is being presented by the American Ambassador, Mrs. Houghton. She has red hair which is neither bobbed, bingled and shingled and a complexion that doesn't owe a lot to the beauty parlour. With a chaperone Miss O'Shea has started the season at the Berkeley and her father is joining her later.

Synopsis In Brief.

Tom Rumford is Southern-born but is brought up by Quaker relatives in Philadelphia.

At the age of twenty-one he returns to his folks' mansion on the Mississippi (the time is about 1850) and becomes engaged to his pretty cousin, Elvira.

Released from jail where he has been serving a sentence for duelling, Major Patterson, also interested in Elvira and finding Tom in his way, promptly challenges him to a gun fight. Tom, not understanding the Southern duelling code, refuses. His family, aghast, practically drive him from home. Elvira's younger sister, Lucy, is the only sympathetic one.

In a Mississippi shore-front gambling house Tom meets the notorious card sharp and gun-fighter, General Orlando Jackson. Jackson is interested in the boy, and, under the former's teaching, Tom develops into the most famous and dangerous shooting man along the Mississippi. He is known as "Cunnel" Blake.

When Tom returns to his folks' mansion several years later, they see him as "Cunnel" Blake and are scared.

"THE FIGHTING COWARD"

BOOTH TARKINGTON'S GREAT STORY which is known as the greatest Screen Triumph

At The MAJESTIC To - Day

Just as "The Covered Wagon" is a story of the winning of the West, "The Fighting Coward" is a comedy-romance of the old "befo' the wah" days in the South, the days of slaves, warm Southern beauties, Mississippi steamboats, moonlight, passion, duelling, gambling and hard licker.
