

CARLING CUP WAS WON BY SEVENTH REGT. TEAM

Locals Defeated Waterloo by a Score of 4 to 0.

Their Opponents Had Never Been Shut
Out on Home Ice Before.

By Way of Comment.

In Canada, during the last ten years, interest in the trotter has enjoyed a steady and healthy growth. As a natural result of being peopled largely by citizens of English blood, Canada has always been a good racing country, although until recent years the thoroughbred held almost undisputed sway in the affections of the people of that country. It was not in the nature of things, however, that natural horsemen could live so near the United States, the birthplace of the trotter, and not fall in love with that horse, and in Canada today may be found, not only many enthusiastic admirers of the American trotter, but several successful breeders and not a few skillful reinsmen, both professional and amateur. Cresceus' recent appearance at Ottawa drew a large crowd to the ice rinks in that city, and the fact that his Excellency Lord Minto displayed so much interest in the horse and his performance will doubtless assist in enlarging the ranks of those who are now supporters of harness racing in the Dominion. A large number of meritorious sires, including Lord of the Manor, are now owned in Canada, and while several high-class trotters and pacers have been bred there, horsemen are of the belief that the part which that country is to take in the production of harness racers is just in its beginning, comparatively speaking, and that in the future some of the greatest campaigners will come from the Dominion.

HOCKEY.

(Special to The Advertiser.)
SEVENTH WON GAME AND CUP.

Waterloo, Feb. 27.—The Carling Cup will stay with the city of its inception during the year 1903, and the Seventh Regiment O. H. A. team, of London, will find solace in the fact that although they failed to go very far in official games, they won a much-coveted trophy, and defeated a team with an excellent reputation. While Waterloo shut out the Seventh Regiment team on Tuesday night, the latter gave a repetition of that process of playing hockey by which at the final game they failed to score, while Waterloo could get none. This is the first time in Waterloo's history that they have failed to score on their own ice, so that the style of hockey which the visitors played can be easily judged.

The score on Tuesday night was 2 to 0 in Waterloo's favor, and the last game gave the Seventh two goals to the good. Waterloo's citizens were surprised at the result, as they had concluded from the first game that the home team was the better, and would have no trouble in winning the cup. When the Seventh won, however, many were of the opinion that the Londoners were the better team, and that it was unfamiliarity with their surroundings that caused them to lose the first match.

The victors came on the ice looking fresh and strong, and when the two centers banged their sticks together one of the fastest and most accurate tests ever seen on local ice took place. It was a long, hard struggle from the start, each team being determined to win. And yet the game was clean, and it was scientific hockey that counted. The Waterloo spectators showed their good judgment by refraining from jeering derisively at the visitors, and in fact the London men were often heartily cheered when they made fast rushes or brilliant plays. There were many of the latter and much hard checking and close shooting. The Seventh were able to use the slight advantage in weight owing to the rather heavy ice, but had the ice been in the best of condition the score could have been very slightly altered.

After eight minutes' play West, of the visitors, shot from close on goal and scored. Eight minutes appeared to be the stipulated period, for when that space of time had again elapsed its closing had been marked by the scoring of another goal by Lawlor. When the next face-off came the Seventh got the puck, and Taylor, with surprising brilliancy, shot it into the home goalkeeper. This was redemption, and it inspired the visitors to do such work that they not only prevented Waterloo from scoring at all, but increased their own score. The two goal posts might as well have been boarded across as to have Leddy between them. He simply refused to let anything pass him. The thought of being shut out was harrowing to Waterloo, and in vain they desperately tried to score or prevent their opponents scoring. But the Seventh were too much for them, and after playing one of the hardest games of their lives the home team left the ice defeated.

Seyler, of the Waterloos, had three teeth knocked out, while Gauthier was cut badly over the eye. All the players were badly bruised, and completely done out. The pace which had been set was a telling one, and any team that stood it deserves much credit. There was no dispute raised, and the referee's decisions were quietly accepted. Several men on both teams were ruled off.

A pleasant close to the evening came about at a banquet which the home team had arranged. Mr. C. W. Smith, manager of the winners, occupied the chair. Good-fellowship prevailed among all present. Mr. Joseph Seagram made a speech, congratulating the best team he had thought of.

The lineup was:
London—Leddy, goal; Smith, point; Gauthier, coverpoint; Sippl, Taylor, Lawlor and West, forwards.
Waterloo—Koehler, Wilkinson, Berger, Feyler, Seabill, Ross and Liphart, forwards.

DELAWARE WON.
Delaware, Ont., Feb. 27.—In one of the best games of hockey played here this season, the Delaware team succeeded in defeating A. M. Smith & Co.'s team Wednesday night by the score of 10 goals to 4. The game was fast and clean. Mr. McNe, of London, refereed.

STAKES CLOSE ON MONDAY.

Four stakes offered by the Ontario Jockey Club are due to close with Secretary W. P. Fraser on Monday next, March 2. The Maple Leaf and Breeders', to be run by 3-year-olds next year, each have $1,000 added. The Stanley stakes, for the produce of mares foaling this year, have $1,500 added, and the King's Plate has $1,750 added. Not only are these events valuable to the winner, but owners of 2-year-olds and mares in foal should not lose sight of the fact that the value of a youngster is considerably increased if entered in these races.

The King's Plate gives every promise of a large entry, as each year, if possible, finds increased sentiment attached to this race, justly famed as the blue ribbon of the Canadian turf. Entry blanks can be had on application at the O. J. C. office.

NEW TRACK FOR LINDSAY.

Lindsay, Ont., will have a new half-mile track next summer, and a fair ground which will do credit to the bustling little town. Mr. W. H. Simpson, one of the prime movers in the new enterprise, is a wealthy gentleman who campaigns a few horses for pleasure. His racing mare, Lilliputian, owned by Gov. Johnson, a son of Lumps, is as handsome as a picture and can step in 2:20. Mr. George W. Curtiss, of Lindsay, an artist in the sulky, has a fast pacer in Minnie Kyswick, and other gentlemen about town are taking quite an interest in the trotting and breeding industry for a pastime.

WOULD TAKE A MILLION.
Ketcham, owner of Cresceus, recently said: "Nothing less than a million would buy Cresceus, and I don't know that I'd accept that. You know, I like that horse. You see," continued Mr. Ketcham, "I bred that horse myself. I owned both sire and dam. He wasn't much of a prospect at the start, but he has turned out to be the best of them all. Naturally, I am fond of him, and I don't think I would sell him at any price. There is one thing you should notice about Cresceus. He holds that space of time had again elapsed its closing had been marked by the scoring of another goal by Lawlor.

When the next face-off came the Seventh got the puck, and Taylor, with surprising brilliancy, shot it into the home goalkeeper. This was redemption, and it inspired the visitors to do such work that they not only prevented Waterloo from scoring at all, but increased their own score. The two goal posts might as well have been boarded across as to have Leddy between them. He simply refused to let anything pass him. The thought of being shut out was harrowing to Waterloo, and in vain they desperately tried to score or prevent their opponents scoring. ### THE RING.

MAY NOT MEET JORDAN.

New York, Feb. 27.—There is every reason to believe that if Terry McGovern wants to go to England to box Ben Jordan he will have to comply with the rules of the club. These rules call for 15-round bouts with six-ounce gloves, and they are too imperative to be broken. When McGovern received the papers from the foreign club for his signature to bind his match with Jordan he refused to sign because it was stipulated that six-ounce gloves would be used. The articles are still unsigned, and McGovern apparently has no intention of giving in. The National Sporting Club is an organization which does not tolerate dictation, and it would not surprise the sports to hear that the club had decided to cancel the match for good as far as McGovern is concerned. There are plenty of other lads willing to make the trip. It is understood that Jimmy Corbett is ready to take McGovern's place, provided the purse is increased another $1,000. McGovern and Jordan were to receive $2,500.

If McGovern and Young Corbett withdraw the club will not want for a desirable opponent. Sam Fitzpatrick has two clever "unknown" lightweights under his wing ready to take McGovern's place. In all probability it will be known by next Thursday whether McGovern is to fight Jordan or not. Terry boxes Billy Maynard at Philadelphia on Wednesday night next.

GOOD FIGHT TONIGHT.

Con McVey, the veteran trainer and handler of boxers, who is at Mount Clemens, will assist Kelly in handling Tokell at Detroit on Friday evening. More general interest is felt in this bout than in any previously held in that city. Harry Forbes arrived at Detroit yesterday, accompanied by Billy Rotchford and Fred Whittingham, his sparring partners, and John Hertz, his manager. Forbes is still a little above the scale, but in great form. He will probably do little work other than that done for the purpose of reducing to the 116 pounds called for in the articles. This Forbes expects to make without difficulty. According to Chicago reports, there is a slight lack of confidence among Forbes' adherents, due partially to the fact of the recent coast experience and partly to the mystery surrounding Tokell. The latter feels correspondingly hopeful. He is right at the weight, and Jimmy Kelly, his manager, is devoting most of his time to keeping him down to it, without reducing more than a few ounces under. Tokell is hard as nails, and if he loses will do so simply because he does not class with Forbes.

WEINIG OUTCLASSED.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 26.—Jack O'Brien, of Philadelphia, and Al Weinig, of Buffalo, were to have fought six rounds at the Broadway A. C. tonight. During the fourth round the referee stopped the bout, declaring that Weinig was clearly outclassed, and that he could not permit his further punishment.

WENT AFTER CORBETT.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 26.—After twenty rounds of the fastest fighting ever seen in San Francisco, Referee Heston tonight declared the bout between "Young Corbett" of Denver, and "Eddie" Hanlon, of San Francisco, a draw. "Young Corbett" clearly demonstrated that he has not gone back as some sporting writers would have the public believe. Hanlon also showed that the high opinion in which he has been held by Californian boxing enthusiasts has been justified. The contest, from a spectacular standpoint, was the best ever witnessed on the coast, both men putting up a clean, hard, scientific contest.

BOWLING.

LONDON AT ST. THOMAS.

Local bowlers from the W. M. C. A. played in St. Thomas Wednesday evening. The games were close and interesting. Scores:

| Burkholder.....142 | 99      |
| Wheeler.....118    | 99      |

A return match will be played on March 4.

YACHTING.

IS VERY NEARLY FINISHED.

New York, Feb. 25.—The Shamrock III. is now nearly ready to put in the water. The Yachting World of Feb. 12 says that the work has progressed so satisfactorily that some of the interior work is all that has to be done to the yacht. When the Shamrock II. was built the work had to be rushed in order to have the yacht ready for the time set for launching. With the new challenger there is ample time to see that all the joints and rivets are properly set. The Yachting World says: "There has been no attempt to copy the Herreshoff system of longitudinal framing. The Shamrock III. is framed in the same style as the composite racing yachts of recent build. The only notable difference is in her timbers—if the word can be fairly applied to frames of angle steel—a noticeably larger than used in a first-class racer, and are spaced rather closer than usual.

FOOTBALL.

ABOUT THE CANADIANS.

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 27.—With a record of ten victories, thirteen defeats, and two draws in a series of twenty-five games against the best teams of the three kingdoms, the Canadian football team returned to Canada on the Royal Mail steamer Pretorian last night. All are in good spirits and good health, and glad to get home. They speak enthusiastically of the success of their tour from a football point of view, and their two months' jaunt through the British Isles will be one of the pleasant memories of their lives.

Financially the tour was not so successful, but that was largely due to the unexpectedly heavy expenses, as in many instances the team had to stay at better hotels than originally planned, while "tips" and other incidentals made a considerable demand on their exchequer.

Each member of the team contributed a stated amount at the outset and on the conclusion of the tour they received a small rebate, but not really enough to cover the expenses. However, all are well satisfied with the result of the trip.

Dr. Jack, of Montreal, manager of the team, speaking to the Herald correspondent, said that they were fairly overwhelmed with kindness and courtesies on the other side. The cordiality of their receptions everywhere could not have been surpassed.

They saw the best football in England, Ireland and Wales, and Scotland, and played against the best men in the British Isles. They had an opportunity to study four different styles, which are perfect in each country. The Britishers put on the best teams they could get against the Canadians, and some of the same men played against our boys in several games.

"We played too many games to win," said Dr. Jack, "but we had to, as this was a pioneer trip and we wanted to make the Canadians known everywhere. For instance, we were beaten by Hawick and the very next day we defeated Jed Forrest, a team that has beaten Hawick twice this season.

"The team, too, was badly crippled, owing to injuries to different members, and consequently there was a general shifting of positions. For instance, Jack played on every position on the team."

Speaking of the showing made by the Canadians, Dr. Jack said our fellows were better stayers, nearly always playing harder in the second half than their opponents did in the first half. They had every British team on the defensive in the second half.

All their victories were very gratifying, but their first, against the North of Ireland, which they won 11 to 8, was the most surprising of the tour, as all thought they would be defeated.

The Paris game was not a scheduled game. This game had been arranged, but owing to protests from Canada, was canceled. The date, however, had to be filled, and a team was made up in London composed of some Canadians and Londoners, two of whom had never played football before.

As to styles of play in the several countries, Dr. Jack said that the Irishmen were fairly good in half and three-quarter play, but excelled in their forward line. The Scotchmen play almost altogether a forward game, and the passing of the back line was really wonderful. The English play a good, all-round game.

The Canadians cordially invited the Britishers to send a team to Canada, and although no definite arrangements were made, it is hoped that a team will come over.

The members of the team who returned were: Bauld, Britton, Craig, Dumoulin, Fenerty, Jack, McCure, McDonald, Ogilvie, Phillips and Randall. Farrell, Gillespie, Marshall, Tait, Purvis, Darling, Powers and Schofield remained in the old country. Darling will return via New York and Marshall and Gillespie will return on the next mail steamer. Farrell has received a commission in the imperial army. Jack Powers, of Ottawa, is spending some time with relatives in Ireland. He has fully recovered from his injuries, but will probably not again be seen in the strenuous battle on the gridiron. The footballers left on the C. P. R. this morning for Montreal and will reach there tomorrow at 8:35 a.m.

The Canadian football team were greatly impressed with the respect the English players show the referees. These officials are masters of the situation, and no player would dare impugn their honesty or ability. "Pussy" Darling, in commenting on this fact, suggested that Canadians follow this good example.

BASKETBALL.

ST. JOHN'S WON.

A fast game of basketball was played Wednesday night between the St. John's juniors and the Western University, resulting in a score of 13 to 17 in favor of the St. John's juniors. Snellgrove's sure shots and Bice's heavy checks kept the score close. The following was the line up:

University—Forwards, Snellgrove and Carlyle; center, N. Shore; defense, Bice and Snell.
St. John's Juniors—Forwards, Ward and Woolley; center, A. Crawford; defense, W. Craig and W. Fleming.
The St. John's Juniors are open for games with any other teams.

THE AUTO.

BROKE WORLD'S RECORD.
London, Feb. 26.—Hon. Stewart Rolls, the well-known automobilist, has broken the world's automobile record for a kilometer, covering the distance in 27 seconds. This result was accomplished at a private party given by the Duke of Portland today on his Welbeck Abbey estate.

Lever's Y-Z (Wise Head) Disinfectant Soap Powder is a boon to any home. It disinfects and cleans at the same time.

Lieutenant Hino, of the Japanese infantry, has invented an automatic pistol which will fire 80 cartridges a minute. The range is more than 1,000 yards.

FRESHNESS DIFFERENCE

Quaker patience does things thoroughly. Careful in the choosing of the grain—slow in the manufacture. But when packages are sealed no time is lost. It is packages into cases—cases into cars—and the cars away, the same day, for all parts of the country. Quaker Oats sells so fast that the dealer's stock is fresh. No other food comes from the mill so to your table so fast and fresh as Quaker Oats.

PACKING DIFFERENCE

Hot and fragrant from the rolls, Quaker Oats goes straight into the package—shut tight, sealed safe—hermetically.

The Quaker carton costs about half as much again as the box that gives the pasteboard flavor to most cereals.
