

Red Rose Tea

"Is Good Tea"

It is Always Worth the Price

A Prince of Sinners

By Phillips Oppenheim.
Author of "A Lost Leader," "The Malefactor," "A Maker of History," etc.

"She comes mostly in the evening," Brooks explained, "but she is one of my most useful helpers."

"It must be so interesting to do good," Louise said, artlessly. "After dinner, Mr. Brooks, will you tell us all about it?"

"It seems so odd that you should care so much for that sort of thing," Selina remarked. "As a rule it is the frumpy and uninteresting people who go in for visiting the poor and doing good, isn't it? You seem so young."

and so—oh, I don't think I'd better go on."

"Please do," Brooks begged. "Well, you won't think I was trying to flatter, but I was going to say, and too clever for that sort of thing."

Brooks smiled. "Perhaps," he said, "the reason that social reform is so urgently needed in so many ways is that very reason, Miss Bullsum—that the wrong sort of person has been going in for it. Looking after the poor has meant for most people handing out bits of charity on the tossing-fork of religion. And that sort of thing doesn't tend to bridge over the gulf, does it?"

"Tossing-fork!" Selina giggled. "How funny you are, Mr. Brooks."

"An't it?" he answered, good-humoredly. "Now let me hear what you have been doing since I saw you in town."

Selina was immediately grave—not to say scornful. "Doing? What do you suppose there is to do here?" she exclaimed, reproachfully. "We've been sitting still waiting for something to happen. But have you said anything to Mr. Brooks?"

Mr. Bullsum shook his head. "Haven't had time," he answered. "Brooks had so much to say to me. You know all about our land company, Brooks, of course? You did a bit of conveying for us."

"Of course, I did," Brooks answered, "and I told you from the first that you were going to make a lot of money by it."

Mr. Bullsum glanced around the room. The two maid-servants were at the sideboard.

"Guess how much," Brooks shook his head. "I never knew your exact share," he said.

"It's a half a million," Mr. Bullsum said, pulling down his waistcoat, and squaring himself to the table. "Not bad, eh?"

"It's wonderful," Brooks admitted. "I congratulate you heartily."

"Thanks," Mr. Bullsum answered. "We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season." Selina said, "So long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

ADVERTISER PATTERNS

DESIGNED BY MARTHA DEAN.

No. 8430—A Pretty Style for A Night Robe.

Ladies' Night Gown, with two styles of sleeve. Muslin, nainsook, cambric, batiste or silk may be used for this model, with lace or edging for trimming. The gown may be made with high or square neck finish and bishop or cap sleeves. The front and back portions may be gathered or tucked at the neck edges. The pattern is cut in six sizes—32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. It requires 5½ yards of 36-inch material for the 36-inch size.

A pattern of this illustration will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

PATTERN DEPARTMENT OF THE ADVERTISER.

Please send above-mentioned pattern, as per directions given below, to:

Name

Street Address

Town

Province

Measurement—Bust

Waist

CAUTION—Be careful to inclose above illustration and send size of pattern wanted. When the pattern is bust measure, you need only mark 2, 3, 4, or whatever it may be. When in waist measure, 22, 24, 26, or whatever it may be. If a skirt, give waist and length measure. When misses' or child's pattern, write only the figure representing the age. It is not necessary to write "inches" or "yards." Patterns cannot be returned in less than one week from the date of order. The price of each pattern is 10 cents in cash or in postage stamps.

PATTERN DEPARTMENT, LONDON ADVERTISER.

Millions of Cells

The human body is composed of countless millions of cells. These cells are constantly dying and new ones are being created. Dead cells are removed from the body by the bowels, kidneys, and skin. These great eliminating organs filter this waste matter from the blood, and thus purify the blood.

If there is constipation, or non-action of the bowels—if the kidneys are strained or weakened—if there is defective skin action—then the dead cells are not removed from the body. The blood thus becomes loaded with impurities, and we suffer for it.

The only way to purify the blood is to cure the skin, bowels, and kidneys. When these organs are healthy and doing their work as nature intended them moved and the blood is kept pure and rich, "Fruit-a-tives"—the famous fruit liver tablets—act directly on the skin, the bowels and the kidneys. "Fruit-a-tives" purify the blood because they keep the whole body strong, vigorous and healthy. 50 cents a box, 2 for $2.50, or trial box, 25 cents. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

and being an M.P. you would get cards for us to a lot of 'at homes' and things. Only I wish you were a Conservative.

"A Liberal is much more fashionable than he was," Brooks assured her, cheerfully.

"Fashional! I know the son of a marquis, a lord himself, a duke, an earl, and a good one," Mr. Bullsum remarked, with a wink to Brooks.

"Well, my dears," Mrs. Bullsum said, making an effort to rise, and failing, "the first attempt, 'shall we leave the gentlemen to talk about it over their wine?'"

"Oh, you sit down again, mother," Selina directed. "That sort of thing's quite old-fashioned, isn't it, Mr. Brooks?"

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

"We want papa to buy a house in the country, and go to town for the season," Brooks said, "so long as we can afford it I am lying to get out of Medchester. It is absolutely the most commercial town I have ever been in."

"Your father should stand for Parliament himself," Brooks answered. "It is really possible that Mr. Bullsum, being a man governed entirely by one idea at a time, had never seriously contemplated the possibility of himself stepping outside the small arena of local politics. It is certain at any rate that Brooks' words came to him as an inspiration. He stared for a moment

at Brooks, who was looking forward to a nap in a quiet corner of the drawing-room, before he spoke.

ASSERTS GINGLES GIRL CUT HERSELF

Physician Swears "Scratches" Have Been Enlarged Since His Examination in Hospital.

Chicago, July 13.—The prosecution in the case of Ella Gingles went far yesterday in impeachment of the girl's testimony respecting the indignities she alleges she suffered following her arrest six months ago on the charge of stealing lace from the Irish lace store of Miss Agnes Barrette in the Wellington Hotel.

When court adjourned for the day Chief Assistant State's Attorney Short said he had made only a fair beginning in wrecking the testimony produced by the girl and her attorney, Patrick H. O'Donnell, and predicted that before the case went to the jury he would cause pyrotechnics in the courtroom.

Revel of interest in the strange case was shown by the number of members of women's clubs and curiosity seekers who went to the criminal court building and listened to the cross-examination of witnesses. While only those who could be seated comfortably were admitted, by order of Judge Burton, a great number of women for admission were presented, and in several instances resulted in ejection of women from the building.

Mr. Short said he had five more questions to ask by a demonstration by sympathizers outside the courtroom in the morning, but by night some of these same sympathizers showed signs of insanity.

Defense Has Experts Ready.

The defense had a corps of medical experts in waiting to combat the testimony given by the medical experts of the state to the effect that the girl's injuries at the time she was found tied in a public bathroom in the hotel on Feb. 16 were superficial.

Mr. Short said he had five more questions to ask by a demonstration by sympathizers outside the courtroom in the morning, but by night some of these same sympathizers showed signs of insanity.

Another bolt from the state rested in the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Price, who attended the Gingles girl in the Francis Willard Hospital after the bathroom episode.

Dr. Price in positive terms said that by measurement the wounds borne by the girl were smaller and less apparent of applicants patiently waiting their turn. The right sort of—his sort—must have been produced by some other cause, he said. He said the wounds causing the present scars must have been produced by some other cause, he said. He said the wounds causing the present scars must have been produced by some other cause, he said.

Another bolt from the state rested in the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Price, who attended the Gingles girl in the Francis Willard Hospital after the bathroom episode.

Dr. Price in positive terms said that by measurement the wounds borne by the girl were smaller and less apparent of applicants patiently waiting their turn. The right sort of—his sort—must have been produced by some other cause, he said. He said the wounds causing the present scars must have been produced by some other cause, he said.

Another bolt from the state rested in the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Price, who attended the Gingles girl in the Francis Willard Hospital after the bathroom episode.

Dr. Price in positive terms said that by measurement the wounds borne by the girl were smaller and less apparent of applicants patiently waiting their turn. The right sort of—his sort—must have been produced by some other cause, he said. He said the wounds causing the present scars must have been produced by some other cause, he said.

Another bolt from the state rested in the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Price, who attended the Gingles girl in the Francis Willard Hospital after the bathroom episode.

Dr. Price in positive terms said that by measurement the wounds borne by the girl were smaller and less apparent of applicants patiently waiting their turn. The right sort of—his sort—must have been produced by some other cause, he said. He said the wounds causing the present scars must have been produced by some other cause, he said.

Another bolt from the state rested in the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Price, who attended the Gingles girl in the Francis Willard Hospital after the bathroom episode.

Dr. Price in positive terms said that by measurement the wounds borne by the girl were smaller and less apparent of applicants patiently waiting their turn. The right sort of—his sort—must have been produced by some other cause, he said. He said the wounds causing the present scars must have been produced by some other cause, he said.

Another bolt from the state rested in the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Price, who attended the Gingles girl in the Francis Willard Hospital after the bathroom episode.

Dr. Price in positive terms said that by measurement the wounds borne by the girl were smaller and less apparent of applicants patiently waiting their turn. The right sort of—his sort—must have been produced by some other cause, he said. He said the wounds causing the present scars must have been produced by some other cause, he said.

Another bolt from the state rested in the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Price, who attended the Gingles girl in the Francis Willard Hospital after the bathroom episode.

Dr. Price in positive terms said that by measurement the wounds borne by the girl were smaller and less apparent of applicants patiently waiting their turn. The right sort of—his sort—must have been produced by some other cause, he said. He said the wounds causing the present scars must have been produced by some other cause, he said.

Another bolt from the state rested in the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Price, who attended the Gingles girl in the Francis Willard Hospital after the bathroom episode.

Dr. Price in positive terms said that by measurement the wounds borne by the girl were smaller and less apparent of applicants patiently waiting their turn. The right sort of—his sort—must have been produced by some other cause, he said. He said the wounds causing the present scars must have been produced by some other cause, he said.

Another bolt from the state rested in the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Price, who attended the Gingles girl in the Francis Willard Hospital after the bathroom episode.

Dr. Price in positive terms said that by measurement the wounds borne by the girl were smaller and less apparent of applicants patiently waiting their turn. The right sort of—his sort—must have been produced by some other cause, he said. He said the wounds causing the present scars must have been produced by some other cause, he said.

Another bolt from the state rested in the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Price, who attended the Gingles girl in the Francis Willard Hospital after the bathroom episode.

Dr. Price in positive terms said that by measurement the wounds borne by the girl were smaller and less apparent of applicants patiently waiting their turn. The right sort of—his sort—must have been produced by some other cause, he said. He said the wounds causing the present scars must have been produced by some other cause, he said.

Another bolt from the state rested in the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Price, who attended the Gingles girl in the Francis Willard Hospital after the bathroom episode.

Dr. Price in positive terms said that by measurement the wounds borne by the girl were smaller and less apparent of applicants patiently waiting their turn. The right sort of—his sort—must have been produced by some other cause, he said. He said the wounds causing the present scars must have been produced by some other cause, he said.

Another bolt from the state rested in the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Price, who attended the Gingles girl in the Francis Willard Hospital after the bathroom episode.

Dr. Price in positive terms said that by measurement the wounds borne by the girl were smaller and less apparent of applicants patiently waiting their turn. The right sort of—his sort—must have been produced by some other cause, he said. He said the wounds causing the present scars must have been produced by some other cause, he said.

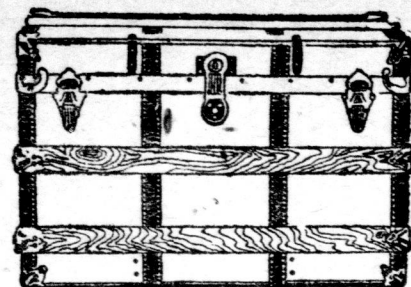

Another bolt from the state rested in the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Price, who attended the Gingles girl in the Francis Willard Hospital after the bathroom episode.

Dr. Price in positive terms said that by measurement the wounds borne by the girl were smaller and less apparent of applicants patiently waiting their turn. The right sort of—his sort—must have been produced by some other cause, he said. He said the wounds causing the present scars must have been produced by some other cause, he said.

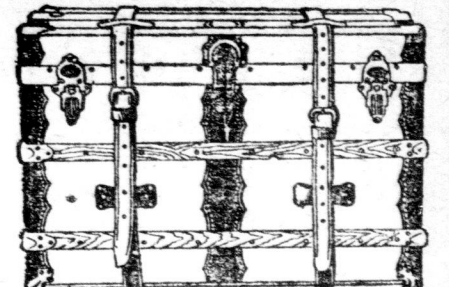

Another bolt from the state rested in the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Price, who attended the Gingles girl in the Francis Willard Hospital after the bathroom episode.

Dr. Price in positive terms said that by measurement the wounds borne by the girl were smaller and less apparent of applicants patiently waiting their turn. The right sort of—his sort—must have been produced by some other cause, he said. He said the wounds causing the present scars must have been produced by some other cause, he said.

Another bolt from the state rested in the testimony of Dr. Arthur E. Price, who attended the Gingles girl in the Francis Willard Hospital after the bathroom episode.

C. M. GROVER & CO.'S

Going-Out-of-Business Sale

Is now on the home-stretch and will soon be numbered with the events of the past.

Three Weeks! Only Three Weeks More

And the doors will close on one of our most successful sales. So many of our best customers have expressed personal regret over our retirement, that we feel the people of London and Middlesex County have confidence in us, in our advertisements and in our promises. During this sale we have sold, and will continue to sell for the next three weeks, the very best

FOOTWEAR, TRUNKS, BAGS, SUIT CASES

That money can buy, at Lower Prices than any other store in London can afford to sell such goods. That the intelligent public know and believe this FACT, is proven by the splendid trade we have done.

A careful perusal of the following brief price list will convince the most Unbelieving Thomas that here is a chance to make an HONEST DOLLAR.

Trunks, Suit Cases and Club Bags

Iron-Covered Trunks, $1.39 to $2.69. Waterproof Canvas-Covered Trunks, $1.79 to $3.49. Waterproof Canvas-Covered Trunks, two sole-leather straps, $3.39 to $10.29. Leatherette, Imitation Leather and Woven Matting Suit Cases, 79c to $3.29. Imported English, American and Japanese Woven Matting Suit Cases, with and without straps, very light and stylish, $1.59 to $5.19. Solid Leather Brown and Russet Suit Cases, $3.69 to $6.89. Imitation Leather Satchels and Bags, 49c to 98c. Solid Leather Club Bags, in Black, Brown and Russet, $1.19 to $9.89.

Boys' and Girls' Slippers, Oxford Ties and Boots, in Patent, Dongola, Calif. Grain, Tan and Chocolate Vici, White, Red and Brown Canvas. Grover's sale prices, 29c, 39c, 49c, 59c,