A very fast old man on horseback, dressed in a linen suit and wound about by blue sashes, at tracted much attention. He was announced as "Capt. Smith of the Indian contingent." A swarthy six footse carried a shillalah and an old man of 60 hobbled along on a crutch. Two young gentlemen of color were in the procession, which caused the south end of St. John's ward to smile as they passed along Queen street.
About 4.30 the throng returned to the barracks, where an alleged banquet took place. The marriage ceremony referred to took place here, and at another stage of the proceedings a plot of ground at Albert and James street purchased by the army for a barrack purposes was dedicated.
In the evening the pavilion at the Hortion ware the finishing touches of the proceedings were put on. Speeches were made and blasphemy resounded throughout the large building. Many of the visiting and others will follow to-day. Newman and Schmidt were to have met last night to sign articles for a swimming race. The backers of Newman say that Schmidt failed to connect, and that he consequently lost his $25 forfeit. Newman is now ready to give Schmidt 75 yards start in a mile distance for any sum that Schmidt may name.
