

February 9, 1926.

Rev. Dr. A.H. Moore,
President, University of King's College,
Halifax, Nova Scotia.

My dear President:-

At the outset of your campaign for funds to enable your historic University to carry on yet more worthily its splendid traditions, will you permit me to offer you the heartiest good wishes and to express the sincerest hope for your success.

No institution in Canada can show a finer record of loyalty and service to our country since the days when King's was founded by those sturdy British-Americans who forsook their homes rather than their allegiance and gave as much thought to the education of their sons and daughters as to the regaining of their fortunes.

I am sure that you can enter upon this undertaking with the fullest confidence, that you will find your people just as ready to make sacrifices for your aid as were their forbears, and that King's will be enabled for many years to continue the high task imposed by your own noble motto of service, "For God, for the Law, for the King, for the People".

Yours faithfully,

Principal.