

I assumed my duties directed told me at the time, that L did not want me, but in deference to the opinion of others I came into his office and every day since then I am being convinced more and more that instinct was right.
 However "Harry" ^{read} ~~my~~ ^{your} bed "You must be in it." is a sensible proverb and I determined to carry on until health permitted me to take advantage of any better offer that might come my way. I did tell the firm minister on an odd occasion I saw him some weeks ago that if was him I went, but strange as it
