

MEET OF WARD FIVE CONSERVATIVES

Ex-Ministers Crawford and McPherson Optimistic Concerning Party Prospects.

Liberal-Conservatives of Ward Five had a social gathering at the Orange Hall, 1000 Bloor street, last night. There were some 200 present to welcome Hon. T. Crawford, Hon. J. McPherson, Mayor O'Brien, and other prominent Conservatives. As this was the first public appearance of either Mr. Crawford or Mr. McPherson since the general election of 1917, much interest was evinced in their speeches.

Mr. Crawford, after paying a tribute to the good work performed by the late Conservative government and its ministers, turned his attention to the present government and said that he had done excellent work during their term of office and he trusted they would be left alone to clear up the various difficulties. The recent Ontario elections had caused another union government to come into office. It was true the new government was composed of farmers and said they were not intended men and no one could doubt their honesty. Although they were inexperienced in political matters, he felt sure they would give good service to the country. Speaking generally, said Mr. Crawford, he declared, as a Conservative, that the party should not try to make an opposition to them solely for the sake of opposing, but give them a fair chance to work out. The farmers, he declared, were a non-political party, but they had succeeded in weakening the hand of the Liberal party and considerably decreasing the strength of the Conservative party.

He looked upon all this as an expression of opinion on the part of the people, who had elected a new government, and determined to try out a non-political party. Mr. Crawford considered it the duty of Conservatives to support the new government if they could do the business of Ontario better than the late administration. Let them cast nothing in their path, said Mr. Crawford, and give them the chance to show whether or not they really were. Whilst the people were "seeing" what the Drury government could do and not do the old Conservative party would be in existence and could be easily re-united. The Conservative party had a great record and could at any time do the people's work as well as the present government in the history of Ontario, he contended, had less chances brought against it than the late administration.

Mr. McPherson called the defeat of the late government the winding up of the last chapter in the political history of Ontario. He contended it would take many more than one defeat to discourage those who have seen long service in the Conservative party. A unique position had developed a new party had unexpectedly come into power, and farmers and labor had been asked to get a majority in the government. These two groups, he said, could bring clearly to the attention of the people the measures they considered necessary for the improvement of the people's state. Whatever merit there might be in the forthcoming program of the new government the Conservative party would honestly discuss it. The Liberal-Conservative party, he declared, had no disposition to do anything to hamper the new government or its program. If there was merit in it, let it by all means have a fair chance to survive. The time would however come when the new government's ideas of general improvements would have to stand alone on their merits—they could not stand on the words of any one man. If the property and revenue of Ontario extended under the Drury government everyone would be greatly pleased, but in time the efforts would commence and results could clearly be judged. The mayor said the Drury government must fall or stand by its work at Queen's Park.

T. R. Young was in the chair, and amongst the other speakers were John Tyder, K.C., and David Spence.

TRAVEL TO THE OLD COUNTRY

The steamship companies operating at present from New York and Montreal to England and the continent are having great difficulty in accommodating the large number who wish to cross the Atlantic. How long a condition will last it is hard to say, but certainly there is no indication that the rush back and forth will subside in the very near future. In pre-war times it was an easy matter to secure a passage in any class, on almost any ship, two or three weeks in advance, but now the traveler is lucky if he secures what he wants two or three months in advance. Labor troubles and the ever-increasing number traveling, of course, make this condition of affairs unavoidable, which not only affects European travel, but to Bermuda, West Indies and all points south as well.

A. F. Webster & Sons, 53 Yonge street, the oldest established steamship agents in Canada, report a great many bookings for the winter and spring, and are urging their friends to book as early as possible, both for outward and return reservations.

"BEAT HIM UP?"

Veteran Complains to Police Commissioners of Alleged Ill-Usage From Plainclothesman.

The board of police commissioners yesterday afternoon heard the complaint of Frederick Jowett, a returned Imperial army veteran, who alleged plainclothesman David Dunn of Claremont street station "beat him up." Jowett was arrested by Dunn on West Queen street early Sunday morning charged with being disorderly and breaking windows in a Greek restaurant. Jowett appeared in the police court on Monday and was acquitted. It appears that the Greeks telephoned to the police that windows had been broken and when Dunn arrived Jowett started to run. Dunn captured him and is alleged to have assaulted Jowett. Jowett said he ran because he thought he was going to be beat up and did not want to be in the mix-up.

The commissioners will continue the case at the next meeting, when further witnesses will be heard. The commission recruits were inspected by the commissioners and accepted for the force.

Items of Interest to Returned Soldiers Will Be Printed in This Column Freely and Sent In.

MEND OR END SOLDIERS' AID

Parkdale G. W. V. A. Pass Resolution to Above Effect Unanimously.

"That one of the first operations of the new provincial government should be to mend or end the soldiers' aid commission, thus under the pretext of upholding the provincial jurisdiction in education, it has forced a dual control in vocational training, which has proved, as that contra always proves, an unmitigated nuisance; that governed at it has been by civilians without understanding of the psychology of a soldier, the soldiers' aid commission has been chivalry as the morgue, and as helpful as rich relations in Aberdeen; and that: either a red-blooded returned soldier should be put at the head of it, or it should be struck off the strength."

The foregoing resolution embodied the feeling of Parkdale G.W.V.A. expressed at their general meeting held last night in the Royal Templar Hall. The members signified their unanimous approval of the resolution and there was not one present who had a good word to say for the commission, although several complained of the treatment they had received upon application to the body for employment.

"No Damn Good." Col. A. T. Hunter, president of the branch, stated that with a general clean up and a real returned man at the head, the soldiers' aid commission could assist materially in the re-establishment of the returned men, but as it was conducted at present, he was of the same opinion as over 50 per cent. of the returned men that "it was no damn good." He said that the new government was not bound to any previous appointments, and was in a position to deal with the question which he sincerely hoped that it would do.

The meeting requested that the Ontario executive of the association call a provincial convention as soon as possible, and that notice of the matters to be dealt with at this convention should be communicated to the branches in time to allow the general bodies to form their opinions and instruct their delegates as to their wishes in regard to the matter. The ballot on the advisability of taking political action was recorded, although no results were given out.

It was also decided that the next general meeting of the branch will be devoted to the election of officers for the ensuing year. Delegates to be appointed will also be appointed at this meeting.

VETERAN SEEKS HIS MOTHER

Albert Clark of 381 West King street came to The World yesterday, after being turned down by an evening paper that shouts for the soldiers for aid in finding their mothers.

Mrs. Margaret Clark, Mr. Clark last heard from his mother in December, 1915, when she was in Germany, with the 2nd Division, Ammunition Column. She was assigned pay through the Petrobore postoffice, having removed from 5 Sandford street, Belleville. Mrs. Clark is about 47 years of age, and her son is much worried about her disappearance.

"Soo" Grants Tax Exemption On Houses Owned by Soldiers

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 25.—The city council has decided to grant tax exemption on houses owned and occupied by soldiers to an assessed value of $3000 for a period of ten years.

VETS FOR CONSTITUTIONALISM.

That R. H. Johnson, president of the central branch of the U.V.L., was not the man to name, who opposed the speakers at the recent Massey Hall meeting of the Political Defence League, and that the U.V.L. itself considered this action on the part of returned men at that meeting out of order, was the information given out to the press following a meeting of the branch at the Labor Temple.

Need of co-operation and political action on the part of all returned men was the central theme of addresses given by both President J. Harry Flynn of the U.V.L. and A. La Ferle, an original of the 8th Battalion of Winnipeg. Commander La Ferle also mentioned Lieut.-Col. John Currie as a favored possible leader of the returned soldiers' movement should he maintain his present sympathies toward their needs and aspirations.

Unanimously the meeting voted confidence in the new officers elected at a previous meeting, when for some unforeseen reason many members had been unable to be present.

NEW G.W.V.A. QUARTERS.

Chatham, Nov. 25.—(Special).—The new club rooms and headquarters of the G.W.V.A., a substantial building on Victoria avenue, purchased by the Red Cross Society, are ready for occupation. The veterans will hold the formal opening in a week's time.

GENERAL STRIKE OF RAILWAY MEN NOT DISCUSSED

Brotherhood Leaders Deny Reports They Are Holding Secret Sessions.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—Reports that national leaders of the four railway brotherhoods in session at Cleveland were holding secret discussions as to whether a strike of railway workers in the United States should be called and which gained wide circulation and considerable credence in Chicago railway union circles were denied tonight by W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and by Timothy Sheehy, acting president of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Engine Men. President Lee, however, admitted having received a telegram from the Kansas City local saying that the trainmen have decided to strike tomorrow, and that he had warned them that if they were put at the head of it, he had no advice to give them.

Knowledge of the Kansas City situation and of similar reports from other localities, is what gave impetus to the reports which spread so rapidly here tonight. The union officials in Chicago from whom the information was obtained, stated that so far as they were aware the secret conference in Cleveland had not yet reached the point where resolutions or motions for the strike actually had been presented, but that the discussion concerning it today, according to their information, was favorable to the project, and that the tie-up could be expected within three days. A similar announcement was made late today at the convention of the newly organized labor party here.

No Motion Yet Offered.

Cleveland, Nov. 25.—When told of the Chicago story regarding a possible strike by the four railroad brotherhoods, William G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, tonight issued the following statement:

"No motion or resolution pertaining to a quick strike has come before the conference of general chairmen, of the four railroad brotherhoods in session here for action, and I do not know whether any such motion or resolution will be presented. I received messages today from Kansas City saying that trainmen and yardmen had decided to strike on the twenty-sixth (tomorrow), unless a favorable reply to their request for increased pay to overcome the high cost of living is granted."

"I have said to all of them, in reply, that if they think they are bigger than the United States government, which is operating the railroads at present, I have no advice to give them."

Will Spread From Kansas City. Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 25.—Information obtained tonight was that the Local Trainmen's Union had decided to wait the action of the Cleveland convention before striking. It was intimated that, in the event a national railroad strike was called, the walk-out would begin in Kansas City and spread to other railroad centres.

ATTORNEY GREER TO SPEAK

Lieut.-Col. R. H. Greer and Captain Johnson, superintendent of Spadina Military Hospital, are to address a G. A. C. meeting at Central Y.M.C.A. tonight, which will be open to all nursing sisters, V.A.D.'s and masseuses, whether discharged or in uniform.

SALUTE THE HAM AND

Think of All the Misguided Dystrophics Who Refuse the Good Things to Eat for Fear of Indigestion. No Trouble Like That if You Follow Meals With Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Lay a slice of broiled ham on a white plate with a couple of nicely fried eggs and there you have a picture. Salute the autocrat of the breakfast table.

But you say, I can't eat ham and they don't agree. This is the sort of prejudice a host of people have against many of the most tempting dishes that you have just as much trouble with a glass of milk or oatmeal as they do with fried onions. Try eating what you like, and follow your meal with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to relieve possible gasiness, rumblings, drowsiness, sour risings, heartburn, water brash, and the "stuffy" feeling after eating. These Tablets biggest harmless ingredients that act with an alkaline effect just as the stomach does when it is perfectly normal.

LAZARUS PROTESTS ELECTION FORWARD MOVEMENT

Signor Pirelli, Italy; Jules Carlier, Belgium; F. Hedasche, Czechoslovakia and, pending the appointment of a representative of United States employers, Dietrich Schindler, Switzerland.

The workers' six nominees were: Leon Jouhaux, France; J. Oudegeest, Holland; G. H. Stuart-Bunning, Great Britain; A. H. Lindquist, Sweden, and, pending the appointment of a representative of United States employers, Dietrich Schindler, Switzerland.

Cuba Dissatisfied. It was the Cuban delegation which led with criticism of the governing body's composition. They complained that only a single place had been accorded on the governing body to the 20 Latin-American countries represented at the conference. A protest signed by all the representatives of the Latin-American countries was formally submitted to the conference.

Dr. Garcia, delegate from Ecuador, continued the complaint in committee, complained Dr. Garcia, that the conference was not a European but an international assembly. The plans made for the conference were going to be accorded to Latin America when the conference was meeting on this side of the Atlantic, what was the use of the conference was meeting on the European side? The 24 members of the governing body, Dr. Garcia asserted, were then all the Europeans and the 120 members of various committees would be Europeans likewise.

Both employers' and workers' delegates from South Africa also intimated that a formal complaint would be lodged against the way in which meetings of the governing body had been conducted. Discussion was brought to an end by a closure motion, and the conference proceeded to discuss the international regulation of the distribution of raw materials. Unemployment, Mr. Baldesi claimed, was a world-wide fact. The fact that industries could not get supplies of raw materials, he said, did not expect the conference, he said, to be able to solve the problem. He thought attention should be called to the question, and submitted a motion that the conference request the league of nations to take action.

During the proceedings, Mr. Baldesi, Italian workers' delegate, pressed for the international regulation of the distribution of raw materials. Unemployment, Mr. Baldesi claimed, was a world-wide fact. The fact that industries could not get supplies of raw materials, he said, did not expect the conference, he said, to be able to solve the problem. He thought attention should be called to the question, and submitted a motion that the conference request the league of nations to take action.

Mr. Baldesi's view met with opposition from Dutch employers. Henry Blomjous of the Dutch employers' delegation, argued that the introduction of a system of distributing raw materials would interfere with the rights of private and national property, increased pay to overcome the high cost of living is granted.

The unemployment report was still under consideration when the conference adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Convention Adopted

At the morning session all clauses of the draft convention on the eight-hour day were adopted by a vote of forty to one. The draft was sent to the drafting committee for preparation of a formal convention. This will come before the conference later for formal approval. The one vote against it was that of G. Paus, employers' delegate from Norway.

On the Baldesi motion that wages should not be reduced by reason of the introduction of the eight-hour day or 48-hour week, Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, pointed out that the special committee in its report presented a recommendation that the introduction of this convention should not interfere with any better condition already agreed upon. In Mr. Moore's view, the recommendation did not go far enough. It dealt with past and present conditions, but Mr. Moore associated himself with the view expressed by Mr. Shaw. That the report of the committee was in the form of an agreement between the various groups which should be observed, any such agreement must be by the nature of a compromise, "there is no country," Mr. Moore declared, "which has more than Canada, fought for something entirely different from the entire report, but we intend that the convention and anything we vote upon must be accepted as a minimum and not as a maximum condition. I want to assure the conference, on behalf of the workers of Canada, that we will endeavor to give all the support we can to the government of Canada to see that the obligations of the treaty are carried out. I want to state also that I am personally and entirely from the view expressed by Mr. Parsons, which is one of isolation from the rest of the world and subservience to the United States. Canada has many international obligations. The workers will do their part in carrying them out."

Reduced Prices Are Basis. It is pointed out that the previous orders reduced the prices of pork and pork products to those prevailing as of March 10, 1919. After these orders were issued, the government reduced prices to conform with the orders. The present reduced prices are now made the basis instead of those prevailing as of March 10. At the same time, to provide for changes in the cost of live hogs, the new order is made of an elastic character. As many physicians prescribe the price of the finished product should drop with them, or after the elapse of the necessary period consumed in the process of manufacture. Should the price of the live hog increase, the board would confirm reasonable increases in the price of the finished product.

CONVENTION LAUNCH FORWARD MOVEMENT

Inter-Church Rally Brings Notable Speakers to Massey Hall.

Yesterday the national convention of the Inter-Church Forward Movement was launched at Massey Hall, the morning session being opened by the Rev. Dr. R. P. McKay, secretary of the board of foreign missions, who said the movement must be saturated by prayer. Rev. Dr. Laird gave an address, in which he declared that during the war period especially early in 1918, it was discovered that a great place the church held in the world. The convention was forced home that if the church lost, even victorious armies could not make for ultimate complete victory. Each communion was found to be planning great things. Then came the realization that each was pursuing nearly parallel lines, and following this discovery came the desire for co-operation and a concentrated effort.

Dr. Laird expressed the hope that the thirteen conventions now being held throughout Canada might result in greater realization that each for the campaign include an appeal to the clergy to have four great common themes preached on four Sundays throughout the Dominion: Jan. 18, "Intercession"; Jan. 25, "National Aspect of the Appeal"; Feb. 1, "Foreign Aspect of the Appeal"; Feb. 8, summary and final appeal for workers and laity.

Canon Gould stated that the Anglican Forward Movement went right to the roots historically of the Church of England in Canada. He also thought that the man or the woman who is God's has no difficulty about the financial side of the movement, and that the all-conclusive possession of God—the owner of all things—settled that point very easily and unmistakably.

Representing the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec, Dr. O. C. S. Wallace touched upon the work being done in these two provinces. He said that in the campaign every aspect of the convention, every family and every individual will be reached. Speaking for the Congregationalists, Dr. W. T. Gunn said that the Congregational Church had as many volunteers for missionary work as now. Planning for new work, they wanted $100,000 new money, and they expected to get it. The aims of the Presbyterian Church were outlined by Dr. W. G. Wallace of Bloor Street Presbyterian Church.

Rev. A. Lloyd Smith presented the aims of the Methodist national campaign. The aims are: Membership, 400,000; families, 200,000; intercessors, 200,000; stewards, 100,000; personal workers, 200,000; life service volunteers, 5000; new members, 100,000; new Sunday school scholars, 100,000; new Epworth League members, 50,000; financial, $4,000,000.

In the afternoon denominational conferences were held at the following centres: Anglican, St. James' parish house; Baptist, Jarvis Street Baptist Church; Congregational, Bond Street Congregational Church; Methodist, Metropolitan Church; Presbyterian, St. James' Presbyterian Church.
