strong buying would advance prices qu ckly.

Corn—Cables, %c lower, caused weakness in the early trading, but later some streigth developed, owing to small receits, which were again only half as much as a year ago. Advices from the country said interest were not willing to seil freely on the basis of Chicago prices and were getting relatively high prices at country points. The shipping demand was slow, but some inquiry from Canadian points were noted. Until receipts improve and local stocks increase, I recommend brying May and July corn on the dips. The preference to-day favored the July.

Oats—Shorts hammered the market car y but as brokers were good buyers it was supposed that some of the large shorts were buying under cover, believing oats should have a considerable recovery from around 20c.
