Next Week at the Theatres.

"The Embassy Ball," a three-act play, the latest from the pen of Augustus Thomas, will be seen at the Princess next week. It is built frankly as a vehicle for an actor with an interesting and striking personality, and is essentially farcical in construction. At the same time there is a nice, rarefied vein of sentiment running thru it. It is said to be a funnier play in many ways than the "The Earl of Pawtucket." Mr. Thomas has conceived an Englishman such as one meets mostly on shipboard or in crossing the channel, and has placed him in an American atmosphere calculated to bring out very sharply his differences, both in point of view and attack. Captain Hawarden Kelle is the military attaché of the British legation in Washington. While he was connected with the Paris embassy he met a young woman on the street, who, not being able to talk French, was having no little difficulty with a gendarme, who had stopped her on the street because she had no bicycle license. He straightened the matter out by taking her to the maire of the arrondissement, and as neither one of them understands French very well they sign a marriage license instead of a permit to own a wheel. When transferred to America, the captain finds that rumors of his "devilish career," while in France are giving him the reputation of being a trifle, and when he meets the girl he loves the complications increase as it develops that it is her name that also has been signed to the alleged bicycle license.

Kellar comes to the Grand next week with an entirely new series of weird and awe-inspiring illusions and feats in the magic art. His perplexing experiments, as given in the past, were admittedly the most mystifying examples of the necromancer's art ever given in this city, but one of his new illusions, styled, "The Witch, the Salt or the Enchanted Monkey," brought up to the great magician's standard of perfection after years of painstaking energy and an unlimited amount of capital, has been conceded by all lovers of magic to excel any previous achievement of the mighty wonder-worker. Kellar uses during the production of this weird creation seven interesting characters, who appear and disappear in the most astounding manner while the piece is being played. Paul Valadon, England's leading conjurer, is Mr. Kellar's associate this year. During the engagement, matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday.

By far the brightest and best show of them all, "Campbell's Nightingales," commences a week's engagement at the Star Theatre next week. The company contains more and prettier girls, with a larger and better chorus, better comedians, more gorgeous costumes, masterpieces of scenic art, presenting proven the season's big success in every theatre in which it has appeared, and there is no reason why the "standing-room only" sign should not be out every performance next week. They present the two-act musical comedy, entitled, "A Trip to Jupiter."

In the most modern musical comedies only certain characters appeal to certain of the audience, but in "The Gingerbread Man," the new fairytale, that returns to the Princess on Oct. 8-10, every character appeals to every listener, for they are the friends of our infancy that all knew and loved. Who has not laughed or wondered with Kris Kringle, Margery Daw, Simple Simon, Peter Piper, Sallie Lunn, and "The Gingerbread Man" himself?

"Her First False Step," which will appear at the Majestic Theatre all next week, with a matinee every day, is filled to the brim with startling situations. In the fourth act, the, the author has gone to the acme of sensationalism. The first scene represents an old dock near Brooklyn Bridge. Here the heroine is kidnapped, thrown into a naphtha launch, which is blown up by a harbor police patrol boat. The scene then shifts to the outside of a circus tent, with its side-show barkers, and from there to the interior of the menagerie tent. Here we see an enormous steel cage containing two full-grown lions. A little child is thrown into the den and rescued from the jaws of death by the hero, at the risk of his own life. A "rube" quartet, a German band, and other specialties are introduced.

AIMS HONEST AND SIMPLE.

But at Same Time Not Impressive to Home Manufacturers.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.) London, Sept. 21.—The Manchester Guardian, commenting on the congress of the C.M.A. at Winnipeg, says they wish two things—a substantial preference for the mother country and a minimum tariff which shall adopt the same mother country. We have no desire to question the benevolent feelings of the Canadian manufacturers towards us. We have no doubt their two aims are in their own eyes as transparently honest as they are transparently simple. Still, we cannot help feeling somewhat aggrieved at the manufacturers. It is flattering to us to assume that none of us can see the gap between these two rungs of the fiscal ladder.

"Hecla" Furnaces certainly do cut down coal bills.

Take the Cast Iron Combustion Chamber, for instance.

I make it heavily corrugated (or fluted). This almost doubles the heating surface—enables practically twice as much air to be heated with the same amount of coal or wood.

As the combustion chamber is really a continuation of the fire-box, I make it of extra heavy iron, corrugated to allow for the contraction and expansion and to ensure greater durability.

Then my FUSED JOINTS make the "Hecla" dust-tight, smoke-tight, gas-tight.

Write for catalogue of "Hecla" Furnaces and Peninsular Stoves and Ranges. Send me a rough sketch of the house, and I will send you an estimate of the cost of installing a "Hecla" in your home. All free. Address the "Hecla" Furnace Builder, care of

THE SHIP CANAL SCHEME.

John Langstaff as Enthusiastic as Ever Over Project.

The World was favored with a call yesterday from Mr. John Langstaff of Thornhill, one of the earliest and most enthusiastic advocates of a ship canal between Georgian Bay and Lake Ontario. Mr. Langstaff is apparently as much interested in the project as ever, and wishes to see the government take the matter up as a public enterprise, if they will not consent to it being undertaken as a private enterprise. Something, he says, should be done one way or the other. "I have been back and forth in New York and Chicago about this matter during the last five years," said Mr. Langstaff, "and I have found men who are prepared to take the matter up as a private enterprise, and find the money themselves. If the city will give me a contract to go ahead with the work, I will contract to spend $100,000 of American money on the enterprise in a short time. We could carry the work thru to completion and the city could then buy us out. But something should be done one way or the other."

The Difference in Cost. Semi-ready suits are not all $20 and $15. The $15 Semi-ready suits are tailored in just the same superior way. The difference in price is the difference in the cost of the good British cloth in the garments.

Chippewa's Last Trip. The Niagara Navigation Co.'s steamer "Chippewa" makes her last trip of the season, leaving Toronto at 2 p.m. to-day. Round trip rate 75c.

FERRY STRUCK SUNKEN SPILE

50 Passengers Have Exciting Time in St. Clair River.

Sarnia, Sept. 21.—The Port Huron and Sarnia ferry Hiawatha struck a spile on the American side of the river about 12 o'clock last night, while returning from the Indian Fair. No fatalities occurred, the eighty passengers being taken off in boats; but the ferry is at the bottom of the river. Nearly all the passengers were from Sarnia.

There was a heavy fog on the river, and when about a mile and a half from Port Huron and about fifty yards from the shore the boat struck the spile and stuck there. The water poured in, and when the last of the passengers were taken off in a yawl the hold was nearly full of water and the fire was out. Hard work with the pumps was all that kept the boat afloat until the passengers were safely removed.

The boat settled on the bottom again afterwards.

PAY WHEN CURED.

You Are the Man Who is Weak, and Wants to Be Strong.

A Man
Among Men

You have tried drugs
and have not been cured,
so you now want the cure before you pay.

To men who are run down, weak and puny, who have lost the force of vitality, who feel gloomy, despondent and unable to do battle with the affairs of life; who have Rheumatism, Back Pains, Weak Stomach, and Kidneys and feel generally as if they needed to be made over. If that means you, come to me, and I will cure you. I am after the dollars that are now going wrong in quest of health. Look at all these poor wrecks of humanity that are spending all their energy on drugs—drugs that are paralyzing their vital organs—that have spent all they have earned for years without gaining a pound of strength for the hundreds of dollars wasted.

I AM WILLING TO TAKE CHANCES IF YOU WILL SECURE ME.

That is the money that I am after, because for every dollar I take I can give a thousand per cent. interest, and I don't want it at all until I have cured you if you will secure me. I have cured so many cases right here that I can prove my claims to you; but if that proof is not enough I'll give you the names of men right near you—where you are. Is that fair?

Just lately I have received letters of praise from these men:

Your Belt is far superior to any remedy that has ever been developed by medical science for the treatment of nervous debility and lost vitality.
—MR. ANDREW W. LANGFORD, Stratford, Ont.
"Since using your Belt I feel like a new man."
—MR. LEONARD A. SPOONER, Box 66, Palmerston, Ont.
Wherever you are I think I can give you the name of a man in your town that I have cured. Just send me your address and let me try. This is my twenty-fourth year in the business of pumping new vim into worn-out humanity, and I've cured in nearly every town on the map. Come out humanity, and I'll fix you up, or, if you can't call, write to me, and see me if you can, and I'll fix you up, or, if you can't call, write to me, and I'll do the same. I've got a nice book on men that I'll send sealed, free, if you enclose this coupon.

Office Hours—9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesdays and Saturdays till 8.30 p.m.

I Am the Man Who Has the Means of Restoring Vigor to Weak Men.

I know just what my

I can cure you I want
