"Passing Show of 1917"

Strikingly pictorial embellishment and a monster company of 125 persons studded with stage celebrities have stamped "The Passing Show of 1917," which Messrs. Lee and J. J. Shubert are to present at the Royal Alexandra Theatre next week, starting Monday evening, Nov. 12, as by far the most sumptuous, spirited and satisfying of all the memorable musical extravaganzas launched forth at the New York Winter Garden. The fact that in former productions the limit of variety and variety in stagecraft in this revue has been reached has been disproved by "The Passing Show of 1917." The cast includes De Wolf Hopper, Irene Franklin and Burton Green, Jefferson De Angelis, Charles (Chico) Sale, Johnny Dooly and Kvetta Lugol, Gladys Clark and Henry Bergman, Rosie Quinn, Miller and Mack, Emily Miles, Kerr and Weston, Geo. Schiller, Helen Carrington, William Philbrick and others, including a youthful chorus of 75. The sale of seats opens at the box office tomorrow.

A Keen Sense of Humor

"How did I begin my stage work?" says Patricia Collins. "It was very simple. I was born in Ireland and came to this country when very young. I had to do something, and as I could not sing I went into musical comedy." One might expect such a paradox from a countrywoman of Bernard Shaw. And again: "The other day I was having tea in a tea room and a lady was trying to get someone on the phone and she kept the number she wanted and gave the wrong one, and people around looked at each other as if to say, 'How like a woman!' And then she had to put another nickel in the slot for the same call and everybody got quite interested and said to each other: 'What a robber the telephone company is!'" Miss Collins is to be seen as the star of "Pollyanna" at the new Princess Theatre for one week, for the first time, commencing Monday evening, Nov. 12.

Ysaie at Massey Hall

Tonight Eugene Ysaie, the celebrated Belgian violinist, will be heard in recital in Massey Hall, commencing at 8:15. Rush seats will be placed on sale at 7:15. The pianist tonight is Miss Victoria Boshko. She will be heard in solos (a) Barcarole in A minor, by Rubinstein, and (b) Rhapsodie No. 2, by Liszt. On his arrival in Toronto this morning Mr. Ysaie will be met by Y.M.C.A. officials, and he will play for the men at Exhibition Camp this afternoon, where a great reception has been arranged. With him in the Belgian army, the distinguished artist feels strongly for the fighting men, and never misses an opportunity to meet them and give freely of his time.

"The Brat" Next Week

At the Grand Opera House next week the United Producing Co., Ltd., by special arrangement with Oliver Morosco, will present the comedy, "The Brat," by Maude Fulton. While the plot of "The Brat" has to do with a homeless street waif, who is found in a police court by a novelist and taken to his home as a type to be studied, it is clean and wholesome. The cast includes Miss Rea Martin, who plays the part of "The Brat," Burt L. Robinson, Arthur La. Leblond, Edna Leblond, Edna M. Holland, Arthur Pace-Ripple, Edwin Burke.

Twentieth Century Maids

If variety is life, the Twentieth Century Maids, next week's attraction at the Gayety Theatre, should give a new lease of life to jaded burlesque lovers. This organization presents a production which offers such a variety of diversion that it cannot help but contain a winning appeal for everyone who sees it. No matter what that person may crave in the way of diversion, there is plenty of good comedy, a wealth of

New Positive Treatment To Remove Hair or Fuzz

(Beauty Notes)

Women are fast learning the value of the use of delatone for removing hair or fuzz from face, neck or arms. A paste is made with some powdered delatone and water spread on the hairy surface. In 2 or 3 minutes it is rubbed off the skin washed and every bit of hair has disappeared. No failure will result if you are careful to buy genuine delatone.

catchy musical numbers, pretty dances, ensembles, elaborate scenic equipment and magnificent sartorial display. The action is rapid, the comedy is never failing and specialties of a high order are introduced at opportune moments.

"Les Miserables" at Strand. For the whole of next week there will be presented at the Strand Theatre what should prove the greatest sensation of the photo dramatic year. This is "Les Miserables," the photoplay version of Victor Hugo's immortal work, and when it is said that competent critics consider that the film is not unworthy of the fictional triumph it will readily be seen that motion picture lovers have a treat in store for them next week.

Children Regent Saturday. Mrs. Maud Mackintosh will return to Ottawa this week from Meach Lake and will leave the same day for California. Sir William Mackintosh left for Ottawa last night in his private car. General Sir Sam Hughes and his daughters, Mrs. Green and Miss Hughes, arrived from Lindsay yesterday and spent the day at the Kings Edward, Mrs. Green and Miss Hughes returning home last night and Sir Sam Hughes leaving at 11 o'clock for Ottawa.

FALL WHEAT MAKES VERY LITTLE PROGRESS

Weekly Report of Farm Conditions as Supplied by Representatives of Department of Agriculture.

Following is a summary of the weekly crop reports made by district representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The new fall wheat has made little growth during the last week or two, and the later sown crop is likely to enter the winter with a smaller top than is desired. The same may be said of winter rye.

The comparatively slow progress of the harvest of grain, the lateness of the harvest, wet weather, the scarcity of help, and one representative claims, the tough straw.

Plowing and sowing filling have also been delayed by bad weather and the lack of farm labor. It is the general opinion that the needed acreage of fall plowing will not be over-taken unless a long stretch of open weather ensues.

Corn has been an unfortunate crop, most of it having been sown late. As a result of this, and the scarcity of labor, a considerable portion of the crop has been kept lying in the fields in the rain and the cold. The same may be said of buckwheat. Beans were also a late crop, and a Midwestern report speaks of a field of nine acres being covered with snow.

Potatoes are a fair crop, but some of them are yet in the ground. Turnips, mangolds, sugar beets and other root crops are doing well, and the lifting of them, especially turnips, has been slow, owing to rainy weather.

Most caught some of the clover before it could be cut, and injured it for seed purposes. Spring seedling of clover has turned out well, but owing to the late sowing of the seed, the fall field must be sown less if a good crop is to be expected next year.

Live Stock Report. The cold weather has compelled the comparatively early stabling of dairy cattle and horses, which will mean more consumption of fodder supplies.

Oxford reports a few crops of fat cattle, being shipped out, but farmers are rather looking for "feeders" for finishing later, as there is a good supply of grain and other fodder on hand for this purpose. Stock dealers are complaining of the great scarcity of railway cars.

Milk production has fallen back to the average for the season, as pastures appear to be about finished. Reports from Haldimand, Brant and Peel counties state that some lambs and other sheep for breeding purposes are being bought freely, and the outlook for the sheep industry is much brighter than formerly. Some of the purchasers in Brant were Americans.

FIREMEN'S FUND IS CAUSING TROUBLE

Men Fear Investigation Will Result in General Reduction of Pensions.

MAY HAVE TO REFUND

Board of Control Will Ask Men Their Opinions on the Matter.

The firemen's benefit fund discussion is causing much uneasiness around the fire halls, and also among the pensioned officers of the brigade, many of whom fear that an investigation into the strictly legal aspect of the fund might result in a general reduction of pensions. Not only this, but several might find that in addition to receiving a smaller pension they would have to pay back several hundred dollars a year for excess payments they have enjoyed for the past several years.

According to the stories around the fire halls the legality of officers' pensions has been questioned in this way: Ex-Chief Thompson, when a man was supposed to retire on half-pay at the age of 55 years, kept William J. Smith, the present chief, on the brigade as a captain, after he was supposed to retire. Had he retired on half-pay at this time he would have drawn twelve dollars a week. He was made a district chief, but according to the terms of the fund would, on retiring, only get a captain's pension.

Deputy Chief Russell, who was then a captain, was promoted at the same time, and at the expiration of his service would have drawn district chief's pension, or $20 a week, the he was junior to Smith.

Fixed Up Among Men. To straighten out this inconsistency it was fixed up among the men that a man might retire after 30 years of service on the brigade on half the pay received at the time of retirement. This put Smith on the same basis as Russell, and incidentally added, it is alleged, $700 a year to the pension of Ex-Chief Thompson, and about $500 a year to Deputy Chief Noble's.

It is alleged by men in the department and in close touch with the running of the fund that although this change was agreed to by the men, many of whom did not know its import, it was never approved by the board of control. Consequently they are in doubt as to the legality of the whole fund, and believe that a careful investigation might find that the larger pensions paid under this ruling would not stand and several of the retired officers might owe the fund substantial sums and only be entitled to reduced pensions.

Many of the older men who are now on the department are extremely worried over this phase of the question, as under the old regulations their pensions would be decidedly less than the amount they are expecting to receive when they retire.

Under these conditions many of the younger men are opposed to the increase, or any payment as long as the fund is in such a doubtful state. The firemen's benefit fund came up before the board of control yesterday morning out of a discussion regarding a weekly allowance for an old employee of the works department. It was decided to have a draft ballot prepared asking the men of the brigade as to whether or not they were in favor of winding up the fund, and also in regard to the proposal to raise the amount of their payment to seven per cent.

HOME-MADE COOKING SALE. The sum of $175 was raised by the sale of home-made cooking given by the Admiral Hood Chapter, I.O.D.E., under the regency of Mrs. F. S. Kearns at the home of Miss Helen Murray, St. Clair avenue.
