Gus Olsen on the Way from

Campbellton to St. John.

Patrick McNeill, who was arrested in the I. C. R. depot last night, on suspicion of stealing about $20 from Gus Olsen, on the train during the passage from Moncton to this city, was before Judge Ritchie, this morning. He pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence. The money, amounting to $20.44 cents was returned to Olsen, who had been held as a witness, and he went his way.

McNeill, in admitting his guilt, informed the court that he had been drinking and would not have committed the offence had he been sober.

Asked as to how the money came to be secreted in his sock, McNeill said it had probably worked through a hole in his pocket. The pocket was examined, but was found to be perfectly whole and the prisoner was quick to accept Police Clerk Henderson's suggestion that he had likely placed the wad between his trousers and underwear, and it had fallen down into his sock.

McNeill with three other sailors, Gus, paid off at Campbellton and started for St. John. They stopped off at Moncton, long enough to sample the Scott Act elix,

slept on the way from Moncton here.
When the tickets were called for, according to the other two Olsens, McNeill put his hand into the sleeping man's pockets and took out the bills.

Thomas Irvine, the C. P. R. detective, who was bringing two Chinamen from Montreal, for deportation, pointed McNeill out to Policeman John Collins, of the
I. C. R. and he was arrested.

Chas. Duplissea, who because of his preference for the ladies' waiting room in the station master W. Tyng Peters, was also disposed of this morning.

Duplissea, who belongs to Fredericton Junction, was ordered out of the ladies' waiting room, by Mr. Peters and refused to go. A scrap followed and the offender was ejected, but not before he had purmelled the railway man. He was sent to the city, handed over to Policeman Collins, and today was taken to Hampton where he will be tried.
