

CABINET WINS OUT, 54-53, AS COMMONS VOTE AT MIDNIGHT

Miss McPhail and Garland Back Conservative Motion

LIBERALS SUPPORT MINISTERIAL STAND

Division Occurs on Motion For Safeguarding Canada's Industries

Canadian Press Despatch.

OTTAWA, May 31.—A midnight division on a motion to adjourn the debate on a private member's resolution resulted in the passage of the motion by the narrow majority of one vote, in the House of Commons tonight.

The vote stood 54 to 53. The resolution under discussion, moved by General A. E. Ross (Conservative, Kingston), advocated the safeguarding of Canadian industries with respect to competition from other parts of the world. When General Ross concluded his speech in support of the resolution, S. W. Jacobs (Liberal for Georges-Etienne Cartier), moved the adjournment of the debate.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, protested. He asked that the house be permitted to record its view on the resolution.

Deputy Speaker Duff, however, put the motion for adjournment and the division resulted as above.

MOVES ADJOURNMENT.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe then moved adjournment of the house. Hon. Mr. Meighen asked the minister of justice if he would not give an undertaking that an opportunity would be given before the close of the session for the house to divide on the question of protection. Mr. Lapointe replied that this question had already been discussed on a number of occasions. Mr. Meighen retorted that he would undertake that there would be no speaking from the Conservative side if a division were permitted. Mr. Lapointe made no definite answer.

LIBERALS BACK MOTION.

Liberals present in the House voted solidly in support of the adjournment motion. All the Progressives present, with the exception of Miss A. MacPhail (Southwest Grey), and S. J. Garland (Bow River), also favored the motion. Miss MacPhail and Mr. Garland voted with the Conservatives, who were solidly opposed. There were no members of the Labor or Independent groups in the House when the division took place.

PHYSICIAN CONDEMNS USE OF TOBACCO AND COSMETICS BY WOMEN

Over-Smoking Harms Lining of Throat and Nose of Sex More Than of Man; Dry Law Blamed; Young Girls Now Drink Whisky, Dr. Freudenthal Tells Society

MONTREAL, May 31.—In an address given at the opening of the convention of the American Laryngological, Rhinological and Ophthalmological Society here today, before 161 ear, throat and nose specialists from all parts of Canada and the United States, who are attending the convention, Dr. Wolf Freudenthal M. D., of New York City, told of the ravages wrought by excessive smoking and drinking of alcohol and the use of cosmetics on the respiratory apparatus of young girls and women of today.

Smoking, Dr. Freudenthal said, affected the upper and lower air tract, and also the throat seriously. Excessive smoking was bad for men and women, but especially for women, because the linings of the throat and nose were so much more delicate than those of men.

Cosmetics were strongly condemned by the speaker, who said they affect the nose and throat, irritating the membranes and may also cause "vasomotor rhinitis" and asthma, because some of them are unadulterated.

"I have no good word for cosmetics," he continued. "They destroy the complexion of any woman and injure the throat and breathing apparatus, the speaker maintained, but he favored its use medicinally in certain cases. "I consider alcohol in the wasting diseases, such as tuberculosis and diabetes, very helpful. It counteracts the waste of tissues."

He denounced prohibition, saying among other things that "more of young girls in the United States are being spoiled through prohibition." Formerly, he said, young girls never touched whisky. Now they drink it with the boys.

"Prohibition is not preventing the ill effects of alcohol," he continued, "because you can get it if you have the money. The only way to prevent drunkenness is to educate the people. Prohibition in the United States has done no good—it has done harm and it is going to do more. Crime has increased, venereal diseases have not diminished, nor have diseases of the central nervous system."

Simple Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads. That is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxide powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. The peroxide powder simply dissolves and disappears. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretion that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxide powder so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

Presentations To Two Brides-To-Be

The Seven Seas Chapter of the I. O. D. E. held its last meeting of the season last evening at the home of Mrs. Robert G. Willis, Germain street, and during the evening made the presentation of gifts of very pretty pieces of china to two of its members who are brides-to-be, Miss Margaret Dunlop and Miss Helen Corbett. The recipients expressed their thanks and appreciation in a pleasing manner. Mrs. Everett Hunt, the regent, presided. The sewing which had been done for the "Victorian Order" in the city was handed in by the members and plans were made for the fall work. A social hour was enjoyed after business had been disposed of.

COLD WEATHER ACROSS BORDER PUZZLES MANY

Boston Bureau Chief Unable to Tell Why Spring Backward

BOSTON, May 31.—Weather is controlled by laws and some day people will discover these laws and the "why" of the weather. G. A. Loveland, chief of the Boston Weather Bureau, thus expressed his opinion after making known the fact that New England has suffered, since last fall, two of the coldest months on record.

This region as a whole, he said, has had an abnormally cold spring and added that, as yet, scientists do not know enough about weather to explain why.

"We haven't been studying meteorology long enough to get the law," he said. "Astronomy was studied for hundreds of years before the laws were discovered. We now have a whole lot of very fine scientists studying meteorology and discoveries will be made."

The Weather Bureau, he explained, has so far been able to concern itself only with immediate causes and forecasts for the immediate future. Long range forecasts are not attempted.

THREE COLD MONTHS

Last October, he said, was very cold. In fact it was the coldest October recorded in the 40 years since the Boston bureau has been making observations of mean temperatures for the whole of New England. March and April of this year also were abnormally cold, taking New England as a whole. Readings were particularly low in the northern states, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. Last month brought the lowest mean temperatures recorded for April in 40 years.

In the month of March, the month of March averaged colder, those years being 1916 and 1923. But the winter months, November, December, January and February, averaged nearly normal.

APRIL BELOW NORMAL

In Northern New England temperatures averaged seven degrees below normal during October. In Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, the average was five degrees below normal. November, December and January found average temperatures only slightly above normal. February was slightly below.

March and April brought very low temperatures, particularly in Northern New England, where the average was six degrees below normal. Southern New England averaged about three degrees below normal. This resulted in a delayed spring. While figures for May have not yet been compiled and analyzed, it has been indicated that the month may have been a little below normal.

DEEP SNOW AND ICE

While declining to express an opinion as to the reason for the late spring and cold weather, Mr. Loveland called attention to the very heavy snowfall and the thick ice in Northern New England last winter which remained later than usual.

He agreed that there had also been much snow, ice and cold weather to the south, in Canada. "It takes heat to melt snow and ice," he observed.

LONDON, May 31.—Jack Hood, of Birmingham, defeated Harry Mason, of Leeds, on points in a twenty round bout for the welterweight championship of Great Britain tonight. The fight, for the London belt, was staged at Holland Park Hall.

69 COUSINS LOSE IN FIGHT FOR MILLIONS

Wealthy Woman Leaves $150,000 to New York Episcopal Cathedral

NEW YORK, June 1.—Surrogate Foley directed a jury which for nearly two weeks had heard testimony in the contest of the will of Miss Ella A. Rogers, to bring in a verdict sustaining the will. The jurors did so without leaving the jury box. Surrogate Foley will admit the instrument to probate.

Sixty-nine cousins conducted a legal battle over the $2,500,000 estate of Miss Rogers, who was the daughter of the late Columbus B. Rogers. The testatrix died January 8, 1926, and she made her will three years before her death, when she was 68 years old. She left the greater part of the estate to flow land, a cousin. She bequeathed to the Cathedral of St. John the Divine $150,000 and the residuary estate of her father, making the bequest about $750,000 in all. She left $110,000 to charitable institutions.

Nearly $20,000 has been spent on the elaborate fittings.

Maharaja Owned Mansion On Wheels

LONDON, June 1.—A "Maharaja," the latest thing in land yachts, designed and built by Melville Hart & Co. ship architects, for the late Maharaja Scindia of Gwalior, is probably the most luxurious "super caravan" in the world—a mansion on wheels.

Fitted with every traveling convenience, it greatly resembles a first-class cabin in a liner. Within the two compartments, which are connected like the carriages of an express train, 18 persons can dine and sleep. During the day, the bunks are folded either into divans or against the walls to increase the floor space.

Johnson, friends, received $25,000 in the will, and Thomas Finney, chauffeur, and his wife, employees of Miss Rogers, received $7,500 each. All other employees got $300 each.

The maternal cousins of Miss Rogers, who did not figure in the will as legatees, brought the contest on allegations that the testatrix was not of sound mind when she executed the document and was under undue influence.

Commencing Saturday, June 5, and continuing during the summer months our stores will observe the Saturday half-holiday and will be open for business Friday evening until 9.55 o'clock.
