BIG INSTITUTIONS ARE PROPOSED

For Care of the Insane and Feeble Minded in Nova Scotia.

(Halifax Chronicle.)

With the object of placing before the municipal councils of the province, the majority of which will be in session during the week, the need of better provision for the care of the insane and feeble-minded, Dr. W. H. Hattie, provincial health officer, Dr. F. E. Lawlor of the Nova Scotia Hospital, Dartmouth; Dr. Chisholm and Dr. East of the Department of Public Health are now touring the province.

Hon. E. H. Armstrong, minister of public works and mines, under whose department the change of any provision for the insane will be effected, issued a circular letter to all wardens, mayors and members of municipalities and city and town councils. The government last year invited the Canadian National Committee for mental hygiene to make a survey of the existing institutions and conditions in the province and outline a programme which would best meet the needs of the province. The report which was submitted criticized rather severely a number of the asylums provided throughout the province, especially the county homes. In order that some immediate action might be taken, the legislature last session passed the following act:

No. 1.—An act respecting the establishment of an institution for the treatment, care and custody of insane persons.

No. 2.—An act respecting the establishment of an institution for the treatment, care and custody of feeble-minded persons.

No. 3.—An act respecting the provision for the care of the feeble-minded in the province.

The first act, which is to meet a long agitation on the part of many who had been giving the matter close attention, namely, the provision for the feeble-minded, contained a provision that the consent of the municipalities concerned must be obtained before it could be made effective. It is with the object of putting before the municipalities the information necessary for them to form a correct perspective of the needs of the province that the Health Department have sent out their circular.

Conditions are such that a number of counties must make provision in the immediate future. In the circular issued by Mr. Armstrong to the municipalities he suggested an institution for the care of the insane on the Island of Cape Breton, taking care of approximately 400 patients. Such an institution he said would obviate the need for sending acute cases of mental disorder to the present hospital in Dartmouth. For the remainder of the province an institution to take care of 1,000 patients would be necessary. Under the methods proposed, and the more modern and practical methods of caring for the patients, it is believed that the cost of the province would not be any more than at present, while much greater efficiency would be the result. The patients from Cape Breton now in the Nova Scotia Hospital at Dartmouth would be transferred to the institution in Cape Breton as soon as that institution was completed. The institution for the feeble-minded would be constructed in stages as required.

THE HARVESTING COSTS ARE HIGH IN THE WEST

It is not the size of the crop but the cost of production that worried the western farmers last season. The following extracts are taken from a letter to C. Wilson of Pickering, Ontario, from a brother near Regina.

"We did not have a poor crop this season, but one of the most expensive in my recollection. In many cases in this neighborhood the cost of the crop is up half the value of the harvest. Our bill for this work alone amounted to $850, which, with other expenses, practically amounted to the worth of the total crop.

Business Barometer Set at Fair, Says Bradstreet's—More Cheerful Feeling.

(Bradstreet's)

In any effort to weigh up prospect for future business, one who has events of the recent past in mind must be impressed by the fact that most ideas of real progress in domestic and indeed in foreign trade revolve about the question of costs, whether of raw materials, labor, transportation or selling. No sensible person wishes to quarrel with the desire of organized labor to get all it can in reason, but any one who remembers the futile stand of the railroad men against the July reduction must be impressed with the fact that any trade that insists on being placed on a wage pedestal of its own is bound to suffer ultimately. In this connection, the stand against reductions of many in the building trades and the attitude of the coal miners who talk of demanding advances next April must seem puerile, especially in view of the depression and short time that has ruled the fuel trades for a year past. In the popular mind, also, the average retailer is a case in point of overvaluing the market and of belated reductions failing to find the sale they might have realized earlier before purchasing power had been met by prices to the farmer and short time or unemployment in industries.

The foreign situation seems to have many more elements of strength than would seem possible from a cursory glance at the past. If the calculations of the Department of Commerce as to volume versus value of trade are correct, the value of exports has been more than a price. The political situation abroad looks far better than one or two years ago. The world's condition of the Central European exchanges, the collapse of the printing-press brand of the world, the fact that the world's own "medicine men" and quack doctors who would create vials of fat with the usual panacea of active demand, powers against incursions of the eastern hordes, who have admitted that their own medicine men are not so good as the medicine men of the west, and the fact that Europe should rally because of peoples and nations who have not arrived at the point, reached by some advanced thinkers near home, where they believe meet life by agitation alone.

The course of events in the past year, and especially since the late summer, would seem to point to the normal conditions following the bursting of a boom having made its progress. It was said quite early in 1920 that we were experiencing the secondary effects of the usual panic depression, industrial stagnation and shutdowns without having had the acute troubles that had preceded these in other years of stress.

If reports are to be believed, the unemployment trouble is not so great as it was earlier last year, or in the months of 1920, although efforts of sunshine societies cannot close our eyes to the fact that an unprecedented amount of labor was displaced in midyear. With easing money from the summer onward, the unemployment of active demand for fixed interest securities, bonds, etc., was witnessed. The stock market proper seemed to lag, but still average prices of rails and industrials, advanced 13 and 22 per cent, respectively, from the low of summer. The strongest of change is another favorable sign. Backward weather and reduced purchasing power were brakes on the market in the autumn, and December failure liquidation was equal to that of the worst months in our history, January, 1918, but manifestations like the letter have often been termed the judgments of the court of last resort in the business world. With the close of 1921 and the realization that two years of liquidation and depression have passed, the feeling of cheerfulness is more marked than it was. Summed up, the business barometer is now set at about "fair" but courage and care seem to be essentials in the commercial world as we face the uncertainties of 1922.

MOTOR CARS IN U.S.

Approximately 1,980,000 passenger automobiles and trucks with a wholesale value of $1,222,200,000 were produced in the United States in 1921. This output represents a 24 per cent. decrease in units from the previous year's output of 2,210,000 vehicles, but, owing to substantial price reduction, the whole sale value declined 45 per cent. from $2,232,928,000 in 1920. Of the 1,921 output, 1,535,000 were passenger cars, and 385,000 were trucks. In 1920, 1,888,000 cars and 325,000 trucks were produced, which indicates that the truck output last year was more drastic curtailment than passenger car production. Total motor vehicle registration approximates 10,000,000, of which 2,000,000 are passenger cars and 8,000,000 are trucks. Farmers are estimated to own 3,000,000 of these vehicles, of which 2,350,000 are passenger cars and 650,000 trucks. Approximately 184,400,000 tons of farm products were hauled by motor transport last year.

Rheumatism

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It. In the year of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Sub-Acute Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus afflicted know for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, but such relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally, I found a treatment that cured me completely and such a pitiful condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bedridden, some of them severely to eighty years old, and the results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and sub-acute (swelling at the joints) rheumatism, to try the great value of my improved "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address, and I will send it free to try. After you have used it, and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of getting rid of such forms of rheumatism, you may send the price of it. One Dollar, but understand I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer, when relief is thus offered you free. Don't delay. Write today.

FUTURE MONARCH COMMON SOLDIER

Italian Prince of Piedmont Begins Career Like Any Plebeian.

Rome, Jan. 13.—Italy's future sovereign, the seventeen-year-old Prince of Piedmont, King Victor Emmanuel, has begun his military service like any other of his father's subjects and has entered the Grenadier Regiment as a simple soldier. He has passed through the Cadets' College and later will continue his naval instruction, part of which he completed before entering on military studies.

The ceremony of joining the army as a ranker took place at the Rome barracks of the Grenadiers, near Santa Croce, in Grosseto. He was accompanied by his tutor, Vice-Admiral Bonaldi, and by General Revesca, commander of the Army Corps; General Casella and the commanding officer of his regiment, Colonel Dina. His Royal Highness was assigned to the 8th Company of the 1st Grenadiers, and immediately visited the soldiers' quarters.

PARIS OFFERS PRIZES FOR MOVING WALKS

Paris, Jan. 13.—Moving sidewalks on a really large scale will be introduced in the Paris streets before another year goes by if the inventors show themselves equal to producing a workable scheme. At a meeting of the Municipal Council it was decided to offer three prizes of 100,000, 50,000 and 30,000 francs for the best schemes submitted. There are practically no limitations. The plan may be for underground, overhead or street level sidewalks so long as they help to ease pedestrian traffic and make transportation quicker and safer.

HAD BAD COUGH AND SORE THROAT

Never neglect a cough or cold however slight. If you do it can have but one result: it leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected. A single dose of DR. WOODS' NORWAY PINE SYRUP will help to stop the cough, soothe the throat, and if the cough or cold has become settled on the lungs the healing virtues of the Norway pine tree along with the soothing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs, roots and barks promptly eradicates the bad effects, and the persistent use cannot but help to bring about relief.

Mr. Albert Marsh, Lower L'Ardoise, N. S., writes: "About a year ago I contracted a cold accompanied by a very bad cough and sore throat. I sent for the doctor, but what he prescribed did me so little good I began to get discouraged. A friend came to see me and asked me if I had ever used Dr. Woods' Norway Pine Syrup. I told him I had not and sent him right away to get me a bottle. I started using it after a couple of days I found I was getting relief, and after taking two bottles the soreness in my throat seemed to be leaving me, so I resolved to continue its use, and after I had used five bottles both my sore throat and cough were gone. I would not be without 'Dr. Woods' for any money."

Price 50c and 60c a bottle; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
