

IN IMPRESSIVE MASONIC SERVICE

The Lord Mayor Uavel's a War Memorial Window

(London Paper)

Last Sunday afternoon took place one of the most impressive services ever held in Wesley's chapel. It was a gathering organized by the now famous Epworth Lodge of Methodist Freemasons, to unveil a beautiful war memorial window erected by them on the south side of the chapel, to the memory of "all Methodists throughout the empire who, at sea, on land, or in the air, surrendered their lives for king and country in the great war, 1914-1918." At the invitation of the Epworth Lodge a great company of Freemasons, including many members of Grand Lodges and of a large number of other lodges, attended the service in full regalia, and presented an imposing appearance. The gallery was crowded with non-Masonic visitors, though admittance was only by ticket. The music was under the able direction of Dr. R. Dunstan of Westminster and Southlands Colleges, who had written a magnificent anthem for the occasion, which was charmingly rendered by a choir of about sixty voices, composed of Southlands students and brethren of the Westminster and Epworth lodges. Miss Carrie Tubby, after the window had been unveiled, sang with wonderful effect Handel's "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth." The order of service included five hymns, besides the anthem and solo. The prayer was read by the Rev. Joseph Johnson, the newly installed master of the Epworth Lodge, and the Rev. J. H. Batson (brigadier-general), chaplain of the lodge. The lesson (Haggai 1, 1-9) was read by the Rev. W. J. Gregory Bestall, and the address was given by the Rev. J. Alfred Sharp. It is referred to the history and teaching of Masonry, and towards the close of the address spoke eloquently of the heroism of those whom the window commemorated.

The Rt. Hon. the Lord Mayor, Sir Horace Brooks Marshall, himself a distinguished Mason, drew the curtain which covered the memorial window, and expressed his sense of the honor done him in permitting him to unveil so beautiful a memorial to the men to whom we all owe so much.

Brief but touching and appropriate words of tribute were uttered also by J. Arthur Johnson, the first master of the Epworth Lodge, and Colonel the Rev. A. T. Holden, past master of the Grand Lodge of Victoria, Australia. The Memorial Window Described.

The memorial window, designed by Frank O. Salisbury, is thus described: Christ, the central figure, strong, tender, loving, and compassionate, comes to the aid in his need upon the stricken battlefield. In the everlasting arms he finds rest and peace. Christ carries the boy's pack upon his back, and on a crystal scroll which forms a cross behind the two figures suggesting the dual sacrifice, are seen the words: "Surely He hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows." The streaks of golden dawn break over the dark battlefield, while above the opening heavens there shines a bright light radiating towards the Christ. The angelic figures give the triumphant note: "Greater love hath no man than this," and at the same time suggest the unwritten words: "This is My only beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased." The design shows Christ standing upon the world, round which is coiled the serpent. Christ tramples it under foot. At the base of the design a scroll is held by two angels, one looking down sorrowful, the other looking up to Christ radiant with the hope of the resurrection morn and immortal life. Upon the scroll are emblazoned the arms of the colonies, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Newfoundland, South Africa, and India, while in the centre, encircled in a wreath of laurel, and the British oak surrounded by the imperial crown, is St. George, the symbol of chivalry, of the triumph of the soul over matter, and of our righteous cause. In the border are the masonic emblems and initials of John Wesley, the whole encircled by the cable-tow symbolical of unity, love and brotherhood.

SWIMMING POOLS FOR NEW SCHOOLS.

(Toronto Globe.)

Much discussion was provided at the property committee of the board of education yesterday afternoon, when Chairman Noble was advocating a swimming pool to be placed in each school where an addition was to be erected this year. "But we haven't the money," interjected Trustee Rawlinson, "to spend on swimming pools." On the motion of Trustee McRae, it was decided to ask the architects on the new Parkdale Collegiate and Malvern school, to estimate the cost of the installation of swimming pools.

IN DARKEST MONTREAL.

(Montreal Herald.)

Sixty-one women and fifty men were taken from seven houses in the red light district. The women and men were conveyed in three patrol wagons which had to make several trips. In some instances the women objected to go to headquarters in this way and were allowed to proceed in taxicabs on condition that they pay their own fares. The raid took place between midnight and 2.00 this morning.

Optimism. "That bald-headed man who just went out is the greatest optimist I ever met," said the druggist. "That so," asked the customer. "Yes," replied the druggist. "When I guaranteed my brand of hair-regener he bought a bottle and then bought a comb and brush because he figured he'd need them in a few days."

Profiteering Isn't Necessary

—And Every Time He Wears Them and Meets a Man Wearing Tailored-to-Measure Clothes He Feels That He is Paying a Penalty

THE MINISTER OF LABOR appears to be fully alive to the injustice that is being done to the people of Canada by profiteers. In a recent speech in Parliament, he said:—

"With reference to the cost of living. . . . I point out that the unrest that exists in Canada today is not only real, but is inevitable by reason of the abnormal conditions which prevail, and by reason of the fact that the purchasing power of the average workman's earnings is today much less than it was four years ago. . . . the searchlight of truth must be turned upon these matters, otherwise we shall continue to drift in the direction in which we have been going and conditions will grow worse instead of better."

"Ready-Made" Clothes are being charged to the consumer 100% to 150% increase above the manufacturers' price, according to statements made by the Minister of Labor, himself. And, as he asserts, matters are steadily growing worse. Senator Turritt in the Senate on Monday also drew attention to the abnormal profit being made by certain concerns. He said:—"As long as such profiteering is permitted there will be unrest."
