Little Ones Sold for From $75 to
$2,500—Adoption Homes and Private Maternity Hospitals Are Accused and Authorities Censured

Berlin, Nov. 8.—A sensation has been caused in Berlin by the publication of a book entitled, "Little White Slaves," written by a former female police assistant, Sister Henriette Arendt, in which the writer alleges that every year hundreds of German children are sold into slavery.

Sister Arendt bases her assertions on her professional experiences and declares that the authorities, as well as the private children protection societies, either intentionally or unintentionally disregard a state of things which they cannot possibly be ignorant. She directs her accusations against the adoption homes and private maternity hospitals, and declares that every year she conceals a stipulated fee, get rid of large numbers of unhappy little mites, who even before their birth have become obnoxious to their parents.

The book gives definite instances of cases of which the writer has personal knowledge. One of these instances is in reply to a "catch" letter of inquiry, stating that it was able to send from Germany to France, Belgium, Holland, or Switzerland 3,000 "discreet" children monthly. This statement, says the writer of the book, is probably exaggerated for the sake of advertisement, but in any case it is an admission that the concern question is required to negotiate the procuring of children.

A female "employment agent" in Berlin says the writer told her in the presence of witnesses that she sent children abroad at prices ranging from $75 to $2,500. A particularly large number of children were sent to Russia. Neither the police, the municipal guardians, nor the children rescue societies ever created any trouble. Only a few weeks ago a child had been sent to a Russian "harem" for $2,500, but in this case the child came from aristocratic parents. The average buying price for a child of working-class parents in Berlin is said to be $75, while for children of better-class people, more money is paid, ranging up to $1,250 and $2,500 for children of noble birth.

The publication of the book has created so great a scandal that the police authorities have been obliged by the pressure of public opinion, to open a thorough investigation into the alleged trading in children, and are making extensive inquiries into each single case mentioned in Sister Arendt's book.

"INSPECTOR" WAS A CLEVER GIRL THIEF; ROBBED STORE OF $600

Calmly Went From One Department to Another Collecting the Day's Sales Money From Cashiers

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 8.—A twenty-one-year-old girl, described by those she duped as beautiful and intensely business-like, planned and carried out a robbery as bold as it was cunning, when she robbed a large department store of $600 by impersonating a cash register inspector.

With the money in her possession she eluded store detectives who were looking for her and escaped. That the girl did not succeed in getting away with several thousand dollars was due to the refusal of a young cashier in the suit and cloak department to turn over the balance of the day's proceeds to the "inspector." She filled five registers and in each department gave the cashier a receipt signed in a bold, firm hand in the initials "M. R. C."

That the robbery was carefully planned, the police declare, is evidenced by the fact that the girl proceeded the regular inspection, who daily collects the cash, but a few minutes. So close was her calculation that while she was getting cash from one cashier the regular inspector was collecting from another register only a few feet away.

The operations of the girl, so far as the detectives could learn, were started in the basement. There, about four o'clock in the afternoon, without coat or hat, she made her way to one of the counters. She told the cashier the regular inspector had been discharged and she was in the future make daily collections. Without a word further than to ask for a receipt the cashier turned over about $60 in bills of small denomination. The "inspector" affixed her signature, put the bills in a small box, a duplicate of the one carried by the regular inspector, and taking up the schedule of the day's sales, went along the counters, repeating the same performance with the regular inspector, and taking up the cash box, which, carried open, revealed bills and the basement, which schedule, without a word turned over $125.

But at the cloak department the cashier became suspicious and refused to turn over the day's proceeds, which exceeded $1,000. The "inspector" did not remain there, but took the schedule of business and went to another counter, where she got $225. The same performance was repeated at several other counters successfully, and then she vanished.

TAMMANY HIT IN THE NEW YORK ELECTIONS

Republicans Had Best

City

HARDEST OF ALL
Control of Board of Aldermen is Lost—The Results of the Voting
Yesterday in Many States
—Foss Wins in Massachusetts,
But Vote Cut Down

(Canadian Press)
New York, Nov. 8.—The next New York state assembly will be overwhelmingly republican. The Republicans won number 10, while the remainder of the chamber will consist of forty-eight Democrats and one Socialist. The state senate holds over from last year and therefore it continues democratic.

Heavy inroads were made in the democratic representation in greater New York, making gains of nine counties, while in other sections exactly the same number of gains was registered. The Republicans had the best of it generally speaking in yesterday's elections in New York city. Tammany retained its grip on Manhattan and the Bronx by the narrow margin while the Republican ticket had a landslide in Brooklyn.

A most unexpected blow to the Tammany was the loss of control of the Board of Aldermen which will have thirty-eight Republicans and fusion members as against 23 Democrats. The city's representation in the state assembly, the lower house of the legislature shows a Republican gain of about fifteen members.

The loss of the board of aldermen was regarded as the hardest blow of the election to Leader Murphy of Tammany Hall. Brooklyn elected sixteen Republicans to the board while the Democrats won in only eight districts. In Manhattan and Queens the Republicans gained two aldermen.

Results in other states showed varying degrees of success for the republican wave of public sentiment. In Massachusetts, Governor Foss, Democrat, was re-elected by a reduced plurality of about 8,000 compared with 35,000 one year ago. In Rhode Island, Governor Peckham is elected. He is a native of Quebec.

In New Jersey the assembly is republican, and the senate will probably be of the same political complexion. In Boston, Nov. 8.—Complete returns for governor in the state election were reported today. The republican ticket, headed by Governor Peckham, defeated the democratic ticket, headed by Governor Foss, by a plurality of 7,734.

IN CHINA TODAY

(Canadian Press)
London, Nov. 8.—The Peking correspondent of the Times, making note of the absence of any anti-foreign feeling, says that on the contrary, it is certain that a wide-spread majority of Pekingses would welcome, if it were possible, the policing of the north coast of Shan-Tsen peninsula, a despatch to the Times from Hong Kong says that through trains to Canton have been resumed. The railway guards have been withdrawn.

London, Nov. 8.—The Peking correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: "The situation here tonight is far worse than ever before, the commonest prejudice demands that a British regiment should be brought from Tien-Tsin to Peking. The German cruiser Emden is ready to depart for Chi Fu. The British and German consuls at Chi Fu, fearing mob disorders, today requested assistance from Tsing Tao. The German cruiser Emden is ready to depart for Chi Fu. A treaty port of about 4,000 population on the north coast of Shan-Tsen peninsula, had gone over to the revolutionists. CHICAGO WOMAN MAY SEEK TO THROW BLAME ON ANOTHER

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 8.—A statement from Mrs. Louise Vermyla, charged in a warrant with the murder of policeman Arthur Bonicotte, made through Joseph Barres, her lawyer, gave rise to the belief today that she will try to clear herself by implicating another person. "When I recover my health," she is said to have told them, "I will make a statement that will clear me of suspicion and perhaps furnish a clue to the person responsible for all the crimes that have been laid at my door."

ITALIAN PRINCESS PROTESTS AGAINST MASSACRE IN TRIPOLI

London, Nov. 8.—Princess Colonna, writes to the Times from Lago Maggiore, Italy, protesting against the massacres of unoffensive innocents perpetrated by her countrymen in Tripoli. "I can only join with Mr. Carnegie," she writes, "in his horror of war, which to my mind is a disgrace to the country."

Tunis, Nov. 8.—Groups of Italians and Arabs came into collision yesterday and a desperate affray ensued. It required desperate efforts on the part of the whole police force, reinforced by detachments of troops, to restore order and this was accomplished only after a large number had been killed or wounded on both sides. A police sergeant was killed and several of his men were badly hurt.

Tripoli, Nov. 7.—(Delayed in transmission)—The Arabs with artillery vigorously attacked Port Hamidich at noon today, but were repulsed after a fight that lasted two hours.

SUITOR IS CAUGHT IN TRAP BY GIRL AND NEW YORK POLICE

Says She Was Threatened With Death if She Did Not Give up
Money

New York, Nov. 8.—Lawrence Carvel, a barber, of Morris Park, is under arrest on a charge of attempted extortion. Miss Margaret Conroy, who is employed in the home of A. W. Springer, of Flatbush, complained that a demand had been made upon her by Carvel for $20. She also had received a letter stating that unless the money was forthcoming five men would call at her home.

Miss Conroy told the police that she met Carvel at a social event last August, and that he had since been a persistent and insistent suitor for her hand in marriage. She said she wanted her to elope with him, but she did not take his attentions seriously until she received a letter threatening her with death.

By an arrangement with the police she invited the barber to call. Policeman Raynor was concealed in a closet in the kitchen. Miss Conroy said she was sorry that she could not raise the full amount demanded, but she would give her visitor $10, all she had at the time.

After Carvel had placed two marked $5 bills in his pocket, he was arrested.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL IS HOSPITAL HEROINE

Gives Fire Alarm and Looks After
Children While Blaze Rages
Near By

New York, Nov. 8.—Charlotte Lloyd, an 18-year-old high school girl, is the heroine of the Yonkers City Hospital for contagious diseases. Just convalescing after a severe attack of scarlet fever, she left her bed in the night to warn the superintendent, Dr. Elizabeth Holmes, that a fire was raging in the hospital stable, not twenty-five feet from the hospital building.

She then gathered twenty-four children into a room at the other end of the building and sang kindergarten songs and told them "nandman" stories, while night-guards and nurses fought the blaze until the firemen arrived.

The children, who, like Miss Lloyd, had seen the flames through the window, were very frightened at first, and ran about the smoke-filled ward, screaming for their nurses.

With the aid of two or three of the older children, Miss Lloyd started a game of tag which wound up in the room farthest away from the fire, and there she had an entertainment which lasted until the exhausted nurses returned after fighting the fire.

Another heroine of the fire is Mrs. Mary Stanfield, a nurse, who dashed through the smoke and flames to rescue two horses from the blazing stable. She was frightened at first, and sparks rained all about her as she ran to the terrified animals after breaking the lock.

She then gathered twenty-four children into a room at the other end of the building and sang kindergarten songs and told them "nandman" stories, while night-guards and nurses fought the blaze until the firemen arrived.

ONE FARTHING DAMAGES

Wife of Colonel Atherton—
Wealthy Widower Weds Ac-

(Canadian Press)
London, Nov. 8.—The prime ministers unexpected announcement yesterday that the government intended to introduce a manhood suffrage bill at the next session, caused a great sensation on both sides of the house, and it appears likely to meet with much criticism, if not open opposition from the Liberals as well as the Conservatives.

It was understood that the next session would be devoted exclusively to home rule and Welsh disestablishment, and the introduction of another bill, over which there is bound to be great contentions will clog the legislative machine and jeopardize all three.

The Conservatives will oppose the measure on the ground that it ought to be accompanied by a "re-distribution of seats" bill and its passage will be further complicated by the question of woman suffrage. The present intention of the women's party is to oppose it actively.

Mrs. Mabel Louisa Atherton, divorced wife of Colonel Thomas James Atherton, yesterday, after a trial lasting two days, received a verdict of a farthing damages.

The defendants were her brother and her sister-in-law, Sir Aubrey and Lady Dean Paul. The slander consisted of the statement by Lady Paul that Mrs. Atherton was married yesterday to her brother's son of a wealthy Lancashire manufacturer.

Mrs. Atherton also complained that her sister-in-law said she was no better than a street woman, but the jury found that this statement was not made.

Miss Lillie Elsie, a musical comedy actress, was married yesterday to Ian Brough, son of a wealthy Lancashire manufacturer.

Mr. Brough was the husband of the late Miss Maude Darrell, also a well-known actress.

The board of trade's reports for October were $20,915,120, an increase of $2,804,498 over the preceding month. The exports at the same period were $43,546,300, an increase of $5,850,071. The imports for the ten months of the October 31, were $209,240,001. The exports for the same period amounted to $374,724,100, an increase of $38,458,098, over the corresponding period last year.

NOT BRANT'S GUN SAYS TORONTO MAN

Ottawa Engineer's Possession of Historic Articles is Disputed

Toronto, Nov. 8.—F. O. Loft does not believe the announcement from Ottawa that Newton J. Kerr, Ottawa's city engineer, has come into possession of the musket used by Chief Joseph Brant at the battles of Queenston Heights, Lindley Lane and others, in which he fought with General Brock; also a Masonic apron, once his own, which is said to be more than 100 years old.

Captain Joseph Brant," said Mr. Loft "died on November 24, 1807, which was five years previous to the war of 1812. If it was a Brant who carried this particular musket it must have been John Brant, the second son, who personally identified himself with the war of 1812 but not as a recognized leader of the Five Nations. I say Five Nations, and because there were six nations until 1817 when the Tuscaroras were accepted and adopted into the confederacy of the five nations known as the Iroquois.

"Handed as they were as scouts companies or in units under the leadership of Captain Kerr, Capt. John Norton and others they were always to be found in the heat of the many noted battles fought on the Niagara peninsula."

MUST SEND TO CANADA FOR UNION JACK TO USE AT MRS. PANKHURST'S MEETING

(Canadian Press)
Minneapolis, Nov. 8.—There is not a British flag in Minneapolis big enough to do honor to Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, English suffragette, who is scheduled to appear here on next Saturday night, so a rush order has been sent to Winnipeg, Manitoba, for a "Union Jack," equal in size to the American flag which is to be draped across the stage from which Mrs. Pankhurst is to speak.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 8.—Personal jealousy among women has been a disadvantage that suffrage workers had to combat in England, said Mrs. Pankhurst, leader of the votes-for-women movement, at a banquet here last night. "Until you overcome that in America you will not be successful. It is in a spirit of martyrdom that we suffragettes work in England, brought on by the feeling that men have left many things to be accomplished in politics."
