At Liverpool, lately, three horses were killed in a steeple-chase, and Panch thus parodies of the law, "if I had a donkey." SONG OF A STEEPLE-CHASE.

If I've got a donkey wot won't go,
I masn't wollop him—oh, no, no!
The lawr of the land says I shan't do so,
My sporting tulips; I wants to know in pint of fact, Which on us must break Martin's Act Agin dumb hanimals bein whack'd, You of 1?

If a stubboth hass won't mend his pace. And I gives it im over the ed and face, Wot's that to running a steeple-classe Neck et nuffin?

And nobody had no fine to pay,
Not a farden.

One had his thigh broke—two their backs, Now, I beg respectfully to ax If there oughtn't to be a cruelty tax For gentlefolks?

If me, or Jim, or Tom, or Bill, Was to use a hanimal half so ill, Twould be ferty bob, or a moath at the mill, And serve us right.

So if 1've got a donkey wot won't go,
I don't dare wollop him—oh, no, no!
But there's one law for high and another for low,

JEWISH GENEROSITY.—The wealthy banker,
Mr. Solomon Heimo, during his lifetime invested a considerable sum as a trust fued for making loans of 200 marks to honest industrious operatives and tradesnien, for carrying on their business on good security. By sec. 4 of this deed the banefits of this institution were confined to Israelites, but with the precision that on the day on, which the Smith's Drug Store, where the Full goods are greater of this institution were confined to Israelites, but with the provision that on the day on which the decision on first cost.

Christians in Hungary, this resolution should cease, and the benefits be extended to Christians also. The day which the hobble testator foresaw has now arrived, and consequently the number of applicants needing the profered aid will be more than doubled. The present Afr. Charles Heine, a general and useful sometiment of suitles extra call, has accordingly added the sum of 100,000 marks bance to the Herman Heine Funds.

The Sweeteer Pleasure—A series of little services are commonly more pleasure in the negregate than a solitary act of considerable bening ficence. A fortune of small gain slowly but surely accumulating, undoubtedly affords incomparably a greater delight than sudden ricaes; and a wife's tender expression heard two or three times and any amount at the end of the year to vastly more and sweeter harpiness than election to some high offices by the united sufferages of the whole parish.
