

THE SONG OF TOIL

Awake with the peevish that speaks of toil
For a low degrading thing
And tell their own hard story...

The bright gold lay in the deep, dark earth
Rough steel in the stoke bed
But toil has drawn their value forth...

O'er hill and vale, by night, by day
By mountain, and with morning light
The fire of steel purges its way...

And oh, while man's stern toll draws forth
A theme for thankful tears
Shall woman's gentler worth...

That mighty state has earth to see
Where all its gifts unite
In one beneficent blessing...

That might state has earth to see
Where all its gifts unite
In one beneficent blessing...

That might state has earth to see
Where all its gifts unite
In one beneficent blessing...

That might state has earth to see
Where all its gifts unite
In one beneficent blessing...

That might state has earth to see
Where all its gifts unite
In one beneficent blessing...

That might state has earth to see
Where all its gifts unite
In one beneficent blessing...

That might state has earth to see
Where all its gifts unite
In one beneficent blessing...

That might state has earth to see
Where all its gifts unite
In one beneficent blessing...

That might state has earth to see
Where all its gifts unite
In one beneficent blessing...
