AMATEUR WHO WON OPEN GOLF TITLE

Jerome D. Travers, of Upper Montclair, N. J., an amateur, won the national open golf championship for 1915 at the Baltusor Golf Club, at Short Hills, N. J., with a total score for the seventy-two holes of 297, one better than the card of "Tom" McNamara, the Boston professional, who finished second with 298.

Into his medal play "Jerry" managed to infuse that dourness which has brought him undying fame as a match player. Even when things were going worst, he set a stiff lip, and, like the great golfer that he really is, actually turned his misfortunes to account.

FORMER SWATTERS FLOUNDERING

Either the National and American league twirlers are flashing a new and more effective brand of twirling than ever before or a bunch of batters who heretofore have been regarded as swimmers in class have suddenly lost their ability to connect. The present season, at this time, finds more of once feared batsmen at the bottom of the lists than any time in years.

There are a few, of course, who are sticking around their customary places at the top, Tyrus Cobb being the foremost of them. A bigger percentage, however, are to be found floundering around down where the names are mostly of pitchers.

Dode Packard, never a league leader, but always regarded as a swatman of ability, is entrenched around the bottom rung of the ladder with a mark of .152. "Dutch" Stengel, or "Casey," as he is sometimes known, once one of Brooklyn's hardest hitters, has the unenviable mark of .174. Fred Snodgrass, a giant ex-sluggo, has amassed the mighty average this season of .212.

Hank Schultz, once famed as a home run swatter, has been in most of the .215 ratings. Others in the National league to be found under the .250 are "Red" Murray, Giants; Bresnahan, Cubs; Max Carey, Pirates; and Zack Wheat, Brooklyn. All of these in former years supported pretty healthy averages.

The American League swat artists of past seasons have slumped just as their brothers in the National. The most glaring descent on record is that of Chick Gandil, Washington's. A couple of years ago when Clark Griffith plucked Gandil from the International league the first sacker slugged the ball with a vengeance. His hitting alone was credited with putting the Senators up in the flag (been 171, Oscar Vitt, of the Tigers, shows but a .186 rating; Del Gainer, of Boston, another first sacker, has chalked up .194. Hank, Yankee outfielder, was expected to shine, radiating a .215 rating, his average being .208. Other who were expected to lend strength to their clubs but who come under the .250 rating, are Brief, White Sox; Agnew, Browns; Gus Williams, Browns; Hopper, Red Sox; Barry, Athletics; Mullan, Senators; Holitzell, Red Sox.

PACING STALLION

Dover, N. H., June 24—The pacing stallion Hertford, by Ozone—Colonial Girl, belonging to Charles K. Weedon of this city, died last night from an unknown disease, which also recently carried off a valuable mare of Dr. George P. Morgan. Hertford was foaled at Walnut Hill farm, Lexington, in 1909, and was valued at $1,000.

HUGH BRADLEY RELEASED.

Pittsburgh, June 24—Pres. E. W. Gwynner, of the Pittsburgh Federal league baseball club announced today that he had released unconditionally Edward Holly and Hugh Bradley, infielders. Mr. Gwynner said Holly and Bradley, former players in the major leagues, had been released because they refused to go to the Colonial league.

TROY LETS WINTERS GO.

Troy, N. Y., June 24—Manager Wachtler, of the Troy State league team has released George Winters, the veteran pitcher and utility man. It is reported that Winters has received offers from the Twin State and Colonial leagues to fill the position of manager, and that he will accept one of them.

COBB ON STEALING SIGNALS

Tyrus Cobb, the world's champion all-around ball player, in writing for the Boston Globe, has the following to say in reviewing the outlook in the major leagues:

Battery signal stealing, which has been the cause of several scandals in the big league baseball, threatens to make more trouble this season if anyone is able to prove what is generally suspected about one of the American League clubs. It is funny the way this club hits at home and its feeble swatting on the road. Almost all its home games were won this year, making a phenomenal showing on one long stand but it has proved easy for several opponents on the road.

If it can be proved that this club was talking about its really stealing the signs there will be a nasty fuss in the league, for it is unfair to put anything like that across, and managers who have tried it have come to grief sooner or later. I know for a fact that the present leader of this club has made a habit of getting the opponents' battery signs in the minors. In fact, he owed much of his success as a "bush league" boss to his ability to "grab 'em."

When the Tigers last played against this club we were suspicious, and changed our signals every two or three innings. Men who had been knocking down the fences against other teams were able to do very little with our pitchers, except one day when a green catcher was working. The next time we clash with this club it will have a mighty tough time learning anything through the old spyglass or whatever may be used to get signals with.

Signal stealing is not only unfair, but it is dangerous as well. A player who depends on the tipping bureau doesn't take care to protect himself and some day he is going to get ready to step into a curve and get a fast one right on the "bean," for the tipsters go wrong now and then. Men have been very badly hurt in just this manner and sooner or later somebody will be killed if managers persist in trying to put things like this over.

Any man who faces fast pitching must be constantly on the alert to dodge the ball, and the fellow who blindly trusts to some tip that has been obtained unfairly is just taking a chance on committing suicide.

I do not know how the signals are being stolen this year, but I suppose the old system of having some body with good field glasses either out at the scoreboard or somewhere else directly back of dead centerfield is being followed. A man with powerful binoculars can easily read signs at a distance of 400 feet or more.

Seasons ago, when the New York Americans were pilfering signs, they gave the batter his information by means of the crossbar of the letter "H" in an advertising sign. When a fast ball was coming a piece of this crossbar would be moved a certain way, while the sign for a curve was something else of the same general character.

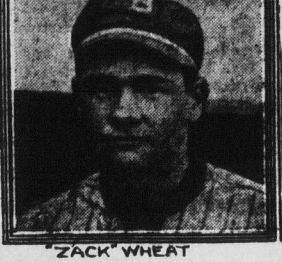

Naturally we Tigers are feeling very much elated over our work in the East. New York was a veritable lunch for us and we did as well as we expected to do against Boston, which is a club that always has been troublesome. Donovan's outfit did not impress me very favorably. It is a strong defensive club, with a fast infield and lots of pitching strength, but it doesn't seem to be able to do a thing with the old hardball. The hurlers will have to work shutouts three or four times a week in order to make the Yankees steady winners unless their hitting takes a big brace.

NO TRUTH IN MAGEE STORY.

Manager Stallings said yesterday that there was no foundation in fact for the report sent out from St. Louis regarding a proposed trade of Howard Magee to the Cincinnati club for Schneider and Kilfliter, because the Boston outfielder had refused to leave the entertainment at the Press Club in St. Louis when the manager and the other members of the team left for their hotel.

Mr. Stallings declared that there had been nothing said as to when the players should leave the party, but that, as a matter of fact, they all left at Mr. Wagon's same time. Magee with himself and the others.

ZACH TAKES A SLUMP

"ZACH" WHEAT

"Zach" Wheat, the great outfielder of the Brooklyn Nationals, has fallen off in his hitting, and his slump has thrown his admirers into despair. "Zach" is a natural clubber, however, and will soon come back.

make more than one or two runs against the Carrigans, while Boston ought to produce enough to win for such fingers without half trying.

HARVARD DEFEATS YALE.

If there is any consolation in defeat it must have come to Yale late Wednesday afternoon in the realization that when Charley Brickley laced out his two-bagger in the ninth inning of the ball game on Soldiers Field, sending Dick Hart home with the tying run, then scurrying over the plate on Frye's drive to win the game, 3 to 2, he had put in his final flicks as a blaster of the Blue's athletic hopes.

Heretofore Yale has known Brickley only as the nonchalant kicker of field goals in football. The New Haven eleven being beaten by virtue of the splendid aim of Charley's kicks for the goal posts in 1912 and 1913. Brickley proved Yale's nemesis at baseball, for, with two men out in the ninth inning of a game which seemed all over except the shouting, Brickley came through with the hit which started the fight all over again.

ON ELIGIBILITY RULE

There was much discussion in the rowing camps of Cornell, Pennsylvania, Syracuse and Columbia over the eligibility question as affecting members of junior varsity crews. It has been contended by some rowing expert that an oarsman who has rowed in a four mile race is barred from any junior crew. Only one junior crew now in training here would be affected by such a ruling. H. K. Marcy, who strokes the Pennsylvania junior eight, was a veteran in last year's Pennsylvania varsity crew.

Charles Courtney, coach of Cornell, has been under the impression that no man who ever rowed a four mile race was eligible to a junior crew, and has been working under the impression standing since the first of the year. For that reason he left behind at Ithaca several oarsmen who would have greatly strengthened his junior crew.

"We bring up sixteen varsity oarsmen," said Nickalls, coach of Penn's crew, "and have the right to pick the best eight men for the varsity crew. If we find the so-called junior crew is better than the one we pick for the varsity we have a right, as I understand it, to turn the crews about and put the better one in the varsity race."

McGRATH SEEKS REINSTATEMENT

New York, June 24—Matthew J. McGraw, Olympic victor and world's champion hammer thrower, made a new effort today to be restored to the police force, from which he was dismissed in April, 1910, following his acquittal on a charge of felonious assault, growing out of the shooting of George Walker at McGraw's home. The deputy commissioner reserved decision.

PLANK HAS PTOMAINE POISONING

New York, June 24—Eddie Plank, the veteran southpaw pitcher, who helped Connie Mack win American League pennants and world's championships for Philadelphia and who is now adding Fielder Jones to win the Federal League championship, is ill with ptomaine poisoning at the Hotel Margaret in Brooklyn. He became ill early this morning.

SIGNS UP WITH GIANTS.

Hanover, N. H., June 24—Hardy had the last ball been received from pitcher Parrott of the Dartmouth team today than Capt. Clarence L. Wanamaker of Melrose, Mass., signed his name to a contract with the New York Giants.

Wanamaker is considered the best catcher that has come to Dartmouth in late years because of his throwing arm and batting ability. He signed for one year, with the 10-day clause eliminated. No statement was made relative to the salary.

It will be no surprise in Wanamaker gets a chance to play right away and makes good. He takes his degree of AB tomorrow morning and after a short rest will join McGraw's team in Brooklyn July 1.

Wanamaker has been a leader in his class all the way through college, being president for the past three years. He played on the class football, hockey, baseball and basketball teams in his freshman year and on the varsity baseball and the hockey teams for three years. He is a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity and Sphinx Senior Society.

THE SHANNON TWINS.

The Shannon twins, who have been secured by the Boston Nationals, played good baseball at Seton Hall. They were out for practice at Fenway Park yesterday. They are a pretty lively pair, and if there is anything to Hughie Jennings' theory that red-headed boys make the best ball players, the Shannons will win out, for they qualify in that respect. They have played against young Malone, who is now with the Athletics, and they are satisfied that if he is good enough to stick in the big league they will be able to make a berth, too.

ADDS $5,000 FREE-FOR-ALL.

Kalamazoo, June 24—See Enkelman of the local driving club tonight announced the addition of a $5,000 free-for-all race to the program for the Grand Circuit meet here, Aug. 26. A bonus of $1,000 also is offered to the driver who establishes a world's record in this race. The entries of Directum I, Frank Bogash, Jr., William and Anna Bradford, the four most famous pacers in training, have been received.

CONTEMPLATED TRADES.

If all the reports regarding contemplated trades by the Cincinnati club—or half of them—have any foundation in fact there will be a pretty big shake-up of the Reds. One of them says that Herzog will land in Chicago, and that his successor as manager of Cincinnati will be Jack Hendricks, manager of the Indianapolis American Association club.

This is only incidental in a three-cornered deal between New York, Chicago and Cincinnati, by which Archer and Cheney will go to the Giants, according to the report.

READ OUTCLASSED BY CALLAHAN

St. Louis, June 24—Jack Read of Australia was knocked out in the fifth round by Frankie Callahan tonight by a right hook to the jaw. While Read showed considerable aggressiveness after the first round it was soon clearly evident that he was outclassed. Twice in the fifth round before the knockout he was sent to the floor for the count of nine.

ALMA RICHARDS SUSPENDED

Philadelphia, June 24—Alma W. Richards, Olympic high-jump champion and one of the greatest athletes who ever competed for Cornell University, has fallen into the bad graces of the Amateur Athletic Union. It is charged that he demanded more expense money for competition in the recent Hale and Kilburn games here than he was entitled to. The amount reported was $95.00 and the registration committee indefinitely suspended Richards.
