Halifax Painter At The Art Club

Lewis Smith Delivered Interesting Address on "The Art of Etching."

Lewis Smith of Halifax, a well known painter and etcher was the speaker at last night's meeting of the Saint John Art Club and delivered a most interesting address on "The Art of Etching" before a very large audience.

W. J. Burditt presided. Club members extended a welcome to T. H. Estabrooks who has been missed from the meetings while on a trip to the West Indies.

Explained Work. Mr. Smith gave a singularly detailed account of the art of etching, showing on the screen the tools used and the various methods by which plates are made. He explained how a block is covered with a material, then the design cut out, reproduced under heavy rollers. The wonderful etchings of Rembrandt and Albert Durer were described in a vivid way.

The Art Club will be the richer by one of Mr. Smith's fine etchings which he is presenting to the members. On the walls last evening, Mr. Smith had on exhibition some forty of his etchings which were much admired.

Vote of Thanks. A vote of thanks moved by W. S. Fisher, seconded by W. Frank Hathaway was passed. Announcement was made that a lecture "The Influence of Color" will be given in the Natural History Society Rooms later in the month for the benefit of the Emma Risk Memorial Scholarship Fund by Miss Miriam Hathaway.

PIGEON NESTS WERE DESTROYED

The City of St. John was not the only body inconvenienced by the deluge of rain on Wednesday evening. It wrought ruin to a great many pigeon nests, and as a result yesterday there were the shells of eggs on the pavements below where the birds had their homes. During the last couple of weeks the fine weather has induced the birds to build their nests, but the storm played havoc with many of them.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR GIRL

By HELEN ROWLAND (Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

Love turns a woman's past into a shadow—and her future into a shadow.

A man's heart is like a sponge, just soaked with emotions and sentiment, of which he can squeeze a little bit out for every pretty woman.

When you fall in love, you cut your first mental wisdom-tooth; when you go to a beauty-parlor to have your double chin removed, you cut your last one.

Loyalty, industry, and goodness—these three virtues are as many as the average man can manage, and absolutely all that any woman can ask of him. A man who is loyal will never break your heart; a man who works hard enough, will never have time to get into mischief; and a man who is gentle will never tread on your finer sensibilities.

You may break a man's heart, but it is seldom a compound fracture; and the simple ones are always easily "set," and put in working condition again.

Marriage is merely exchanging the pleasure of charming a man after dinner for the duty of enduring him before breakfast.

One doesn't "get married"; one BECOMES married by degrees and gradual stages—just as one becomes bald or middle-aged or they get rich. A happy marriage isn't "made in heaven"; it is developed, evolved, cultivated—like a good habit.

Feed a Bachelor and he becomes a political plutocrat; feed a cynic and he becomes an optimist. Everything except the sun, dearie, revolves around a man's stomach.

When a woman divorces her husband for "non-support" it usually means merely that she found him unappreciative.

New England Shoe Factories Awhirl

Eastertide Demand Floods Plants With Large Orders for Women's Footwear.

Boston, March 11.—New England women's shoe factories are jammed with orders for "at once delivery" on account of the Easter trade. The prevailing opinion is that there will be gradual improvement from now until next June and by that time the manufacturers will be busy on the fall orders. Sales in the leather district are small, but show an increase.

Some shoe manufacturers report that they are swamped with orders for pumps and oxfords for Easter. Gray suede strap pumps still lead demand. Some manufacturers are making a drive for fall and "at once" business. The export business is improving. Last week large quantities of shoes, counters, shanks and canvas footwear were shipped from Boston to foreign ports, including Manchester, Hamburg, Antwerp, Havana, Hull and London. Northern Mexico is beginning to consume American shoes, and export reductions have placed the American product in competition with the Mexican shoe.

Leather was the most active in the sole leather trade in Boston last week. The call continues for both heavy and extra light finders' bends. In the glazed kid market the dark brown continues to be the big seller, with top selections bringing eighty to ninety-five cents. Some tanners are asking a premium on men's weights. Some manufacturers are making a drive for fall and "at once" business. The export business is improving. Last week large quantities of shoes, counters, shanks and canvas footwear were shipped from Boston to foreign ports, including Manchester, Hamburg, Antwerp, Havana, Hull and London. London, Mar. 10.—The wedding of Princess Helen of Greece and Crown Prince Carol of Romania took place today in the cathedral in Athens, according to a despatch to the Central News Agency. The cathedral was crowded with relatives of the bride and groom, members of the cabinet, diplomats, civic representatives and officers of the army and navy.

LOVE YOUR JOB. Are you trying to climb where the chosen are. Where the feet of men are few? Do you long for a "job that is worth one's while"? Well, here is a thought for you: The pots of gold at the rainbow's end are sought by the teeming mob, but the fairies who guard them choose as friend The man who loves his job.

No matter what grip of hand he has, How poor or strong his brain, There's always a place for the man who loves His work with might and main. Does he dig a ditch or blaze a trail? Where the dreams of man may run, No clods of earth shall shoulder him From the path out in the sun! It isn't the kick, it's not the pull That brings the strong man out; But it's all time work and it's all time will. And a cheerful heart and shout! Have you faith in yourself? Do you want to win? There's just one thing that can bring you in With the winners—love your job!

This Leaves The Arms Free From Hairy Growth (Tollet Talka). A simple method for completely removing every trace of hair or fuzz is here given. This is painless and usually a single treatment will banish even stubborn growths. To remove hairs, make a thick paste with some powdered talcum and water, spread on hairy surface and after about two minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This method will not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be certain you get talcum.

How To Make Batik Designs

Method Used by Women of Java—Persian and Conventional Patterns the Best.

Buddha wore batik one thousand and three years ago. This information has wanted to western students, and artists and designers are doing marathons around museums and libraries to copy the patterns from his statted and painted robes, with more or less success, with which to feed the hungry batik admirers. It is being used in gowns, mantles, bags, draperies, and even underwear is not immune as long as the purchaser can pay the price.

Java is the real home of batik and the sarongs and slandags of women's daily wear are a joy to the artistic sense of the beholders. Making batik is just one of the everyday household jobs of Javanese women, the designs used in many instances having been handed down for generations and only changed in color by the fancy of the maker.

The designs are first drawn on the material with charcoal, on both sides, and then they are covered with melted beeswax. After the wax is hard and cold the material is dipped in the dye. When dry the wax is scraped off or melted off with hot water, and other patterns are added, the process being repeated. This manner of producing patterned materials is known to professional dyers as "wax resist."

Styles in Java do not change as they do in our country. The brief garments are replaced, only when worn out, by new ones in the same design, though possibly of another color. In the event of some enthusiastic desiring to batik in real native fashion let them proceed after the following method:

Wash the material to be used in cold water if of cotton or wool, then soak it several days in coconut oil. The oil is then boiled out in water containing the ashes of burnt rice stalks. When dry the edges are trimmed and hemmed. The goods is then starched with rice gruel starch, the material is dried and rolled up, and pounded well with a rice pestle, and it is then ready for the designs and the dye. The term batik is taken from the word "batik," a Javanese word, meaning to "paint in wax."

Batik is not to be learned in a day, and it is quite likely that the first efforts may prove unsuccessful, but with the real thing selling in the neighborhood of $75 for a yard, or sarong, it is a temptation to try our luck at least once.

Think of a whole family sitting around the rice table all dressed alike. The garments beautifully beaded, but all alike as though mother had bought a bolt at a bargain sale. The cracked effect over the surface of the goods broken with shaded colored stripes is quite as beautiful as the more elaborate patterns.

Persian patterns are used in native coloring, especially in border decoration on plain materials, and large conventionalized flowers are done on chiffon scarfs, which are afterward dyed in shaded fashion, so that the design is almost lost in the paler shadings, only to be found again in the darker spots.

HE WAS FORCED TO GIVE UP HIS WORK

Montreal Man Says Tanlac Put Him in Absolutely Perfect Condition.

"I certainly can recommend Tanlac, and am glad to do so, for what it has done for me is nothing short of wonderful," said Sylvester Dubois, 22 St. Elizabeth St., Montreal, P. Q., well known electrician, recently.

"Before I got Tanlac indigestion robbed me of many a good meal, for I had no appetite at all, and knew if I ate anything it would give me no end of trouble. I was so bad off I couldn't eat, work or sleep with any satisfaction, and was so nervous the least little unusual noise would startle me. I had cramping pains in my stomach, and at times my heart palpitated so I could hardly get my breath, and just a little exertion would make my heart thump like a steam engine. Finally I got so weak and was suffering so I just had to give up my work, for I couldn't stay with it any longer.

"Well, after I had to quit work I got to reading about Tanlac, and finally decided to try it. Soon after I started taking it I saw it was the right medicine for my troubles, so I kept taking it, and now I feel like a brand new man. My stomach seems to be in perfect condition now. My appetite is fine, I eat and sleep like a child and work like a Trojan. In fact, I'm in the pink of condition, and Tanlac gets all the credit for my good health."

Tanlac is sold in St. John by Ross Drug Co., E. W. Munro and by T. H. Wilson, Fairville, N. B., and R. D. Wetmore, Perry's Point, N. B., under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Adv.

DAINTY SLIPPERS FOR CINDERELLA

A pair of tiny brocaded slippers arrived in Los Angeles recently under a life contract which stipulated that they were to appear as featured players in a motion picture production.

On the lid of the pasteboard box in which they travelled from New York was scrawled this address: "Violette Dana, Metro Studios, Hollywood, California."

The doll-like footwear was hand-fashioned after a rough sketch drawn by Miss Dana and appears with the miniature star in "Cinderella's Twin," the plangent original story by Luther Reed produced by Metro.

As in the tale of the original Cinderella, so in the screen romance it is necessary to fit the slipper to just that fraction of a hair that permits the wearer to drop it into the path of the oncoming Prince Charming at the psychological moment.
