

CONSERVATIVES CHEER LEADER IN OPERA HOUSE

Mr. Borden declared that he would not rest until free trade as established in England had been adopted in Canada.

Mr. Borden closed with an appeal for clean and honest government, and a closer connection with the motherland.

After the Maple Leaf had been played, three hearty cheers for Mr. Borden were given at the call of the chairman.

Mr. Borden said in part: "Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, it is but right that on rising to speak in this city for the first time since the death of your representative, and my dear friend, Dr. A. Stockton, that I should pay a tribute of respect to his memory."

"This is the fourth meeting in my campaign which will extend through every province in Canada except P. E. Island, and I hope to speak there later on."

"A Liberal organ has remarked in connection with my visit that I would not doubt observe a great change in public sentiment in this part of the country, and I agree with the statement if it is made a little more comprehensive."

"An anonymous writer in Ontario has compared me to Sir John Thompson whom he said I much resembled. He said I would make a good minister of justice or a judge but I lacked the qualifications for success as a political leader."

"I do not blame any government for neglect or extravagance, but I do think that in any department, provided when it is brought to the notice of parliament the ministers of the crown should themselves be ready to uncover the head and send the criminal to punishment."

"I notice our friends, the Liberal press, are very undecided if we, the Conservative party, have any policy. They said we had absolutely no policy and were only engaged in a political game."

"I do not contend that any government which might have come into power in 1888 in a growing country like this could have reduced expenditures, they would probably increase, but I do contend that they have increased for purely local purposes, and that by the payment of bribes the public money has been transferred to middle men and made a contribution to campaign funds."

"I want every man and woman in Canada to realize that graft and corruption in elections are sure to go hand in hand as they have gone for the last eight or ten years. One article of our faith is that elections ought to be conducted without bribery or fraud and while we stand for electoral reform and better enforcement of the law the Conservative party has an opportunity for doing great service by running elections in conformity with the law in future."

acts like those by the Liberal government and its followers that have made possible the frightful election scandals which have prevailed since that time. (Cheers.)

Mr. Borden referred also to the election in St. James division, Montreal, which was stolen and for which only a light sentence was imposed and to what took place in London (Ont.)

Mr. Borden proceeded to refer to the case of Wagner, the interpreter who after serving two terms in prison was prominent in an election campaign in the north-west where barrels of beer were given to voters. He spoke of the exposure of the case by G. W. Fowler, M. P., in parliament and of a demand for an investigation being voted down.

Mr. Borden referred to reforms in Great Britain and the United States. He would not say that examination was the best system but it was better than the system now carried out in Canada.

ed him and he kept the audience in roars of laughter. His first words, however, were in eulogy of Dr. Stockton. "I desire to say," he said, "at the outset that I endorse all that has been said by our leader regarding the death of Dr. Stockton. He was an honor to his province, to his country and to the parliament in which he served."

Mr. Bergeron, proceeding, said he was greatly surprised to find so many Conservatives in Nova Scotia. In fact he had not seen a single Conservative in the province since he had left it.

government upheld him as they upheld every crook and grafter. I am sorry that we have to speak of the death of our friend, the leader of the Liberal press. We have to speak to the Liberal press who get so bold as to say we have no policy."
