

Upper School Examinations

Results for 1920 are Announced

The following list, issued by the Department of Education, contains the names, under counties, of the candidates who passed on one or more parts of the upper school examination, or who were successful in obtaining honor standing on one or more subjects of the honor matriculation examination, or both, as the case may be.

The part of the upper school examination passed is first indicated after each name. The entry (hon.) shows that the candidate passed the part with honors, and the entry (sup.) indicates that the candidate was successful in all but one paper of that part and is permitted under the regulations to complete his examination by taking that supplemental paper at any subsequent examination and obtaining 60 per cent thereon.

Following thereafter is the honor standing obtained in each subject of the honor matriculation examination—I, indicating first-class honors, II, second-class honors, and III, third-class honors, respectively.

Identity is Not Yet Established

Authorities Still Making Efforts to Learn Name of Railway Victim

The body of the young man who was killed on the G. T. R. track near Marysville on Thursday, July 22nd, has not yet been identified. Efforts have been made to establish his identity but so far without success.

Coroner Dr. Boyce has had some correspondence with the Kingston authorities regarding possible identification. A piece of newspaper was found in the man's clothing, which was thought to be a portion of a Kingston newspaper. Information was asked as to whether any one was missing in Kingston. It transpired that the Kingston police had received an inquiry from New Haven, Connecticut, about a man named Orr, wanted there.

The Kingston chief forwarded the photograph of Orr to Dr. Boyce, but the conditions under which it was taken made identification difficult. The photograph is that of a swarthy young man of twenty-five, wearing a cap, which shades the upper part of the face. The photograph of the man lying dead at Tickell's morgue was taken in the morgue. There are resemblances about the lower part of the face. These are so slight that the coroner has written for further information.

On the dead man's body was found a piece of paper with the name of George Orr, Wellington, the name Orr being marked out.

The inquest will be resumed at the end of this week.

Having firmly established themselves in public esteem, they now rank without a peer in the list of standard vegetable preparations.

Obituary

MRS. JACOB LUCAS

Mrs. Jacob Lucas, whose maiden name was Sarah Wheeler, was born in the village of Tweed Nov. 11th, 1856, and departed this life in Tweed, July 20th, 1920. Mrs. Lucas was of robust health until recently, and her demise was unexpected. She will be greatly missed in her neighborhood where she was always helpful in time of need. She was a regular attendant of the Tweed Methodist Church, and her absence was observed and felt in the services of the Church the Sabbath following her death.

She labored incessantly for her home, and her thoughtfulness for her dear ones was seen in her home arrangements. Her last illness, though painful, was borne with Christian fortitude. The funeral service was held in the Tweed Methodist Church and interment was made in Victoria Cemetery.

Those who survive her are her husband, Jacob Lucas; five daughters, Mrs. Byron Farrar, Trenton; Mrs. James Davis, Peterboro; Mrs. Geo. Woodcock, Indian River, and Gerie and Ella of Tweed. Their one son is Adam Lucas of town. Her brothers are Anson Wheeler, of Bridgewater, George Wheeler, of Tweed, and one sister, Mrs. M. Waggar, of Deshler. The service at the church was largely attended and much sympathy is extended to the bereaved.—Tweed News.

Second Marriage Legal, But First Was Not, Says Judge

Dennis Vallee, of Beachville, Who Eloped With School Girl Cleared.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 3.—Dennis Vallee of Beachville was found not guilty on the charge of bigamy, when he appeared before Judge Wallace on Saturday. The evidence showed that Vallee disappeared from Beachville last May with Clara Canfield, an eighteen-year-old school girl of the village and went through a form of marriage with her in Kingston, while he had married May Lee, eighteen years ago, and had been living with her in Beachville ever since that time.

The case aroused much interest, not only in Beachville, but throughout the entire countryside, and the court room was thronged to hear the case. A. S. Ball acted for the crown and laid the facts before the judge.

First Husband Alive.

It transpired that Mrs. Vallee, No. 1 had previously been married to a man named William Lee, in 1888. Lee later disappeared, and neither Mrs. Lee nor her relatives heard of him for years. In July, 1903, Lee visited London, where he received $2,000, his share of his father's estate. Mrs. Vallee had before this time married Vallee, and it is said was not informed that Lee was living consequently she lived with Vallee for seventeen years, or until his disappearance, this spring.

Second Marriage Legal.

Judge Wallace, after hearing the evidence, declared that in his opinion the marriage of Vallee to May Lee seventeen years ago was illegal, while his marriage to the 18-year-old Clara Canfield in Kingston was legal.

Mr. Vallee was postmaster of the village and a partner in a general store there. He was prominent in Baptist Church circles and a prominent man generally in the village. Early one morning in April last Clara Canfield disappeared from her home, and at the same time Vallee was also reported missing from the village. Nothing was heard of them for three or four days when the authorities here were notified of their apprehension in Kingston. The couple had gone through the form of marriage the day previous. Vallee was brought back and spent several days in jail. Ball was accepted following a preliminary hearing at which he asked to be sent to a higher court. The girl was taken back home by her parents.

White Fife Wheat Five Feet in Length

Sweet Clover Eight Feet High, and Other Fine Crops at Admaston

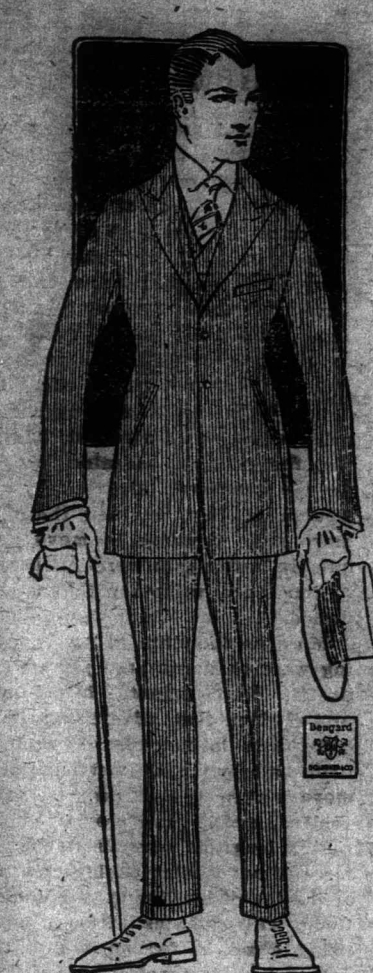

RENFREW, Aug. 2—X. Plaunt has on exhibition at a newspaper office in town specimens of various crops grown on his farm at Admaston Station, near here. He has twenty-four acres of White Fife wheat of thick growth, the stalks of which are almost of the uniform length of five feet; some of the heads are five inches long and well developed. He has oats sixty-five inches in height, and common white peas six feet, six inches long, some of the vines carrying as many as fifteen pods.

Most remarkable of all Mr. Plaunt's crops is the sweet clover, which stands eight feet high. Only a few years ago this clover was regarded as a noxious weed. Now it is highly prized for both pasture and fodder.

A fire in the Canada Foundries, Limited, of St. Thomas, did damage estimated at $100,000.

There is no poisonous ingredient in Holloway's Corn Cure, and it can be used without danger of injury.

THE MERCHANTS BANK

Head Office: Montreal, OF CANADA. Established 1854. BELLEVILLE BRANCH, N. D. McFADYEN, Manager.

Says He Has Money to Meet Demands

BOSTON, Aug. 2—Office of the company headed by Charles Ponzl, whose alleged operations in foreign exchange are under federal and state investigation, were closed late today after another all-day run by investors, with the announcement that they would be opened tomorrow morning and payment in full continued to depositors who desire to have their funds returned.

When the offices were closed for the night a long line of investors was still outside, the last of hundreds who had come there during the day for the return of their funds, after reading in a morning newspaper a statement by a publicity agent formerly employed by Ponzl, alleging that the company was insolvent.

All claims were paid in full today, it was announced, the principal being returned to holders of 90 day notes which had not matured, and principal and 50 per cent. interest being paid on matured notes. Ponzl estimated that he had paid out $3,500,000 during the run, which began on his offices one week ago, but insisted that he was solvent and that there was plenty of money to meet all demands.

Boards were nailed over windows and doors of the offices tonight and police placed on guard as a precaution, it was explained, against breaking and entering. Those who had been unable to force their way to the doors were dispersed without difficulty, apparently reassured by the readiness with which all claims were met and by the eagerness of speculators to buy up claims.

Nothing Criminal Found Yet. A number of conferences were held today between federal and state officials, but without definite development. Ponzl was closeted with Attorney-General J. Weston Allen, Massachusetts, for more than an hour tonight, but at the close neither would make any statement upon the conference.

During the afternoon, Mr. Allen conferred with Edwin L. Pride, the auditor employed by the federal authorities to investigate Ponzl's accounts, but said he had not yet em-played Pride to do similar work for the state. He added that he would consult the federal authorities before proceeding with the state examination. Previously Pride had announced that he was making progress with his examination of the accounts, but would need several days to complete it. He said that so far he had found no indication of criminality.

Attorney-General Allen issued a statement today, in which he said that Ponzl could very easily furnish the means for determining without delay the truth of his statements about his business, but that a recent conference at the state house he declined to give the information.

Fashion, with an eye for grace and beauty, says the summer costume is not complete without a necklace.

Beads of vivid colours—green, red, amber, blue and other shades—are very popular.

And pearls—of course they are the height of fashion.
