Did Not Care Whether He Lived or Died.

Words of a Sunbury County Farmer.
Mr. Chas. P. True, of Lincoln, N. B., "I had Dyspepsia and Indigestion so bad for four years that I could scarcely stand after eating, my stomach hurt me so. Constipation prevented a movement of my bowels for four days at a time I tried everything I heard of but without relief until induced to use one bottle of Groder's Syrup. It worked like a charm, giving me immediate relief and finally cured me. I can eat anything, and feel as well as ever in my life. Have gained fifteen pounds in the last five months. It is the best medicine on the market for the complaint from which I suffered."
Feb. 2nd, 1894.
Druggists and General Dealers keep "Groder's." It cures chronic cases and all other cases. $1 per bottle—6 bottles $5. Guaranteed.

WOMEN'S WAYS.

Fair women's ways are all so strange.
They keep us ever guessing.
Ourselves they do arrange
In manners most distressing.
For when we think they love us more
Than mortal e'er was loved before—
Love us and love us only.
They on some new-fangled treasure smile
And gaily follow it the while
They leave us sad and lonely.
We better grow and straighten
To see again, so never
No more their kind we shall allow
Love's tender words to sever.
They smile and coo soft words again
As sweet as meads of clover;
And when their eyes upon us dwell
We pardon everything and tell
The reason they are so kind.
—Niam Waterman in Chicago Journal.

GENERAL NEWS.

—Prince Bismarck's first duel was with an Englishman, who spoke slightly of the many petty states of Germany.
—New York City is to have a new Young Men's Christian Association building which will cost $600,000.
—Cyclo cabs are the latest London novelty. The driver in front works one set of pedals and steers, while the footman mounted behind works another set. Horses are at a discount whenever these cabs are available.
—Earthquakes have been of daily occurrence in the Northern Provinces of Ecuador since Nov. 27, and many houses have been thrown down.
—Germany is going to prohibit the importation of canned beef and pork from the United States unless it is accompanied by an United States inspector's certificate that it is all right.
—Pigeons were first used for military service in the Franco-Prussian war, France, Germany, Italy, Austria, Spain and Portugal now have completely organized pigeon posts.
—An Augusta woman has invented a folding trunk and valise which, according to report, are to be a great boon to the travelling public. The valise, or the trunk, either, can be folded into a flat parcel two inches thick, and either, or both, it is stated, can be placed in the bottom of an ordinary travelling trunk.
—Kentucky was called the dark and bloody ground even before the whites arrived there, and the long series of ferocious wars with the Indians began. No Indians lived there except a few in the West, near the Mississippi River, and for ages unknown tribes from the North and South had come there to hunt and to fight.
—There used to be a newspaper in Greenland entitled Attagadmittinialingarsuit. In an issue recently the word means, "Something to Read, Reports of All Kinds of Entertaining News." This publication appeared but once a year.
—Old issues of Canadian stamps fetch high prices, says the London Canadian Gazette. In London sales recently the following prices were realized:—Canada 64 dark gray perforated, 47; New Brunswick the "Connell," 220; Nova Scotia, 1s. 10d., 111.
—The greatest cold experienced by Perry in his Arctic explorations was 59 below zero! Stuart Jenkins, a Canadian surveyor, writes in the Popular Science Monthly that he has undergone 62 degrees below zero in the open air without being rendered very uncomfortable by it.
—There are some herds of wild camels in the desert of Arizona. They were brought in this country nearly fifty years ago by Jefferson Davis, when he was Secretary of War. He thought they would be useful for the army in the Western desert, but the civil war coming in they were suffered to run wild.
—In a new work on engineering Prof. Warren discusses the "fatigue" of metals—a striking term used to describe their loss of power of resistance after having been subjected to strain. Car axles grow thus "fatigued" and finally break from the effects of jolts and strains so small that no single one of them seems to have any effect at all.
—On Sunday last Rev. Mr. Douglas, of Manson, Ia., caused a sensation in his church by exhibiting from his pulpit a sashon of beer which he had bought at one of the many "holes-in-the-wall" in that prohibition town. Then when he had worked up his hearers he had them all sign a petition asking to have the place closed. Afterward twenty ladies presented the petition by the council and then visited the den and completely cleaned it out.
—A surgeon on an Atlantic steamship line says that in his wide experience he has found women on the whole cooler and more self-possessed than men in cases of disaster at sea, and according to the report of the passengers on the ill-fated Oregon, the women behaved with remarkable calmness. In describing the disaster one of the passengers said: "The coolest persons on board were the ladies, as they always are when the case is not one of a mouse; but one of real danger."
—At a banquet at Windsor Castle, Saturday, Queen Victoria rose from her chair contrary to her usual custom, and drank a toast, saying she turned to the Russian Ambassador, "I drink the health of the Emperor and Empress of Russia, my dear grandchildren."
—Sir Charles Tupper recently delivered an address before the Royal Scottish Geographical Society. In the course of his remarks, he said that iron ore, of every variety and richness suitable for steel, was present in the greatest abundance in Nova Scotia, as well as in Quebec and Ontario. And, apart from the growth and prospects of the iron industry of Canada, he should like to direct the attention of English and Scotch ironmasters to the advantage of these deposits as an alternative source of supply to Spanish ores. Their occurrence in Nova Scotia, or within easy reach of tide water, ensured cheap transportation all the year round.

PERSONALS.

—The duck hawk is the swiftest bird known to naturalists. Its flight at times is so rapid as to elude the eye.
—King Oscar, of Sweden, is the only European monarch who unreservedly accepts the Darwinian theory of evolution.
—Prince Bismarck has been ordered to eat food which is hard to masticate and use strong wines in order to cure his neuralgia.
—Edison's idea of railroad speed is that there is practically no limit to it, and that electricity will revolutionize travel as much as steam did.
—Rainfall-wrong, the prime minister of Madagascar, is the absolute ruler of that country, and his wife is the absolute ruler of him.
—The Duchess de la Rochefoucauld, daughter of Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, is one of the cleverest women in the American colony of Paris.
—Padewski's father who died a couple of weeks ago, was 64 years old, but looked 80. He was made prematurely old by a seven years imprisonment in Siberia.
—Of the ten members of the present Prussian ministry of state, Prince Hohenlohe is 76 years of age, six others are over 60, and the remaining three past 50.
—President Cleveland is steadily painstaking about every detail of his public papers. He dictates nothing to a stenographer, but writes every word of his messages.
—Judge Holcomb, the governor-elect of Nebraska, is six feet and three inches tall and weighs 200 pounds. His face has been described as an affidavit of earnestness and honesty.
—Prince Rospo, mayor of Rome, is a believer in republicanism. He owns land in Florida, raises cranberries in New Jersey, and married a lady of Boston.
—Mrs. Hattie Green, the richest woman in America, is the most successful tax dodger in the country. She pays her personal tax at Hempstead L. I., where she is assessed on only $10,000.
—William Sloan Green, who was lately down with the measles at his home in Sweeney, near Marion, Ind., is all right again, and says he hasn't felt as well for twenty years. Willis is aged 108.
—It is said that Queen Victoria is proficient in eleven European languages, and that she has, in the last four or five years, completely mastered Hindustani, in which she converses with great correctness and fluency with any of her Indian subjects who are presented at her court.
—Florence Nightingale, at the age of 74, is enjoying excellent health. She is a rich woman, having besides some private means, the $250,000 publicly subscribed for her by the English people at the close of the Crimean war.
—Rubinstein had one bit of excusable vanity. His favorite violin bow was richly adorned and set with diamonds, and he prized it beyond measure. But there were no other jewels about him, and he dressed simply in black.
—Pierre Loti, who is well known to have a dislike to any kind of society, is extremely attached to a yellow tabby cat, which travels about with him whenever and wherever he goes.
—When the late Oliver Wendell Holmes was in the zenith of his career an anonymous writer sent him a few lines of verse and asked Dr. Holmes' opinion as to the worth while of the writer's continuing to write poetry. "Yes, by all means," replied the author. His correspondent was Bret Harte, then a California newspaper reporter.
—Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth's busy literary life is over, as she is 75 years old and feeble, though her mind is still vigorous. She takes existence as easily as one of her years. She was breakfasted in bed at 1 o'clock, rose two or three hours later and is visible to a few visitors at 5. She lives in Georgetown, D. C., attended by her son and her daughter-in-law.
—An army officer writing in Harper's Weekly on the war between China and Japan, says Western nations will do well to adopt some of the Japanese improvements in warfare, notably the organized "Creation Department," which follows the armies and disposes of the dead immediately after a battle. By this practical yet simple system one of the chief sanitary difficulties of a campaign is at once disposed of.
—Chaffin has been found by a German investigator to possess marked germinal properties. Pure codfish of the ordinary strength in which it is utilized as a beverage killed cholera, cholera in twenty-four hours and typhus bacilli in twenty-four hours. The antiseptic substances seem to be developed in the codfish by the roasting process.
—The Dominion has won the first prize at the International and Postal and Philatelic exposition held at Milan, Italy, during the summer for the best display of postal appliances. The exhibit was an amplification of the Canadian postal display made at the World's Fair, to which first prize was granted Canada over all other postal departments of the world.

—The duck hawk is the swiftest bird known to naturalists. Its flight at times is so rapid as to elude the eye.
—King Oscar, of Sweden, is the only European monarch who unreservedly accepts the Darwinian theory of evolution.
—Prince Bismarck has been ordered to eat food which is hard to masticate and use strong wines in order to cure his neuralgia.
—Edison's idea of railroad speed is that there is practically no limit to it, and that electricity will revolutionize travel as much as steam did.
—Rainfall-wrong, the prime minister of Madagascar, is the absolute ruler of that country, and his wife is the absolute ruler of him.
—The Duchess de la Rochefoucauld, daughter of Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, is one of the cleverest women in the American colony of Paris.
—Padewski's father who died a couple of weeks ago, was 64 years old, but looked 80. He was made prematurely old by a seven years imprisonment in Siberia.
—Of the ten members of the present Prussian ministry of state, Prince Hohenlohe is 76 years of age, six others are over 60, and the remaining three past 50.
—President Cleveland is steadily painstaking about every detail of his public papers. He dictates nothing to a stenographer, but writes every word of his messages.
—Judge Holcomb, the governor-elect of Nebraska, is six feet and three inches tall and weighs 200 pounds. His face has been described as an affidavit of earnestness and honesty.
—Prince Rospo, mayor of Rome, is a believer in republicanism. He owns land in Florida, raises cranberries in New Jersey, and married a lady of Boston.
—Mrs. Hattie Green, the richest woman in America, is the most successful tax dodger in the country. She pays her personal tax at Hempstead L. I., where she is assessed on only $10,000.
—William Sloan Green, who was lately down with the measles at his home in Sweeney, near Marion, Ind., is all right again, and says he hasn't felt as well for twenty years. Willis is aged 108.
—It is said that Queen Victoria is proficient in eleven European languages, and that she has, in the last four or five years, completely mastered Hindustani, in which she converses with great correctness and fluency with any of her Indian subjects who are presented at her court.
—Florence Nightingale, at the age of 74, is enjoying excellent health. She is a rich woman, having besides some private means, the $250,000 publicly subscribed for her by the English people at the close of the Crimean war.
—Rubinstein had one bit of excusable vanity. His favorite violin bow was richly adorned and set with diamonds, and he prized it beyond measure. But there were no other jewels about him, and he dressed simply in black.
—Pierre Loti, who is well known to have a dislike to any kind of society, is extremely attached to a yellow tabby cat, which travels about with him whenever and wherever he goes.
—When the late Oliver Wendell Holmes was in the zenith of his career an anonymous writer sent him a few lines of verse and asked Dr. Holmes' opinion as to the worth while of the writer's continuing to write poetry. "Yes, by all means," replied the author. His correspondent was Bret Harte, then a California newspaper reporter.
—Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth's busy literary life is over, as she is 75 years old and feeble, though her mind is still vigorous. She takes existence as easily as one of her years. She was breakfasted in bed at 1 o'clock, rose two or three hours later and is visible to a few visitors at 5. She lives in Georgetown, D. C., attended by her son and her daughter-in-law.
—An army officer writing in Harper's Weekly on the war between China and Japan, says Western nations will do well to adopt some of the Japanese improvements in warfare, notably the organized "Creation Department," which follows the armies and disposes of the dead immediately after a battle. By this practical yet simple system one of the chief sanitary difficulties of a campaign is at once disposed of.
—Chaffin has been found by a German investigator to possess marked germinal properties. Pure codfish of the ordinary strength in which it is utilized as a beverage killed cholera, cholera in twenty-four hours and typhus bacilli in twenty-four hours. The antiseptic substances seem to be developed in the codfish by the roasting process.
—The Dominion has won the first prize at the International and Postal and Philatelic exposition held at Milan, Italy, during the summer for the best display of postal appliances. The exhibit was an amplification of the Canadian postal display made at the World's Fair, to which first prize was granted Canada over all other postal departments of the world.
