Butter.

A Backer for or Foureer Days and Valencia A Lastic sen Days Butter at Lastic sen Days Butter at Hampital Maine is Durin a Hampital Maine is Durin a Hampital Thus writes Henry Ward Beecher on butter: —We once took occasion to give our epinion of the butter which was largely brought to our market. The article was deemed severe, but if they who think as had asten of the butter, they would have regarded that as the more pungent of the two. We have waited a year; and are now prepared where fully to testify against finst utter abenination, slanderously eatled butter, so unrighteously exchanged in our market for good meney, For the most part, the cream is totally deprayed at the start, and churning, working, and packing are only the successive steps of an eyil education by which bad inclinations are detailed into overt wickedness. We determined to keep as eye on the matural history of the butter sold.

Before doing this, we will express an opinion of what is good butter:—Good butter is made of sweet tream, with perfect histings; is of a high color, perfectly sweet, free from buttermilk, and possesses a fine grass favor.

Tolerable butter, differs from this enly in not having a fine flavor. It is deveid of all unpleasant tasts, but has not a high relish. Tolerable butter, differs from this enly in not having a fine flavor. It is devoid of all unpleasant tasts, but has not a high relish.

Whatever is less than this is bad butter; the catalogue is long, and the descending scale is marked with more varieties than one may imagine.

Variety 1.—Buttermilk butter.—This has not been worked, and has the tasts of fresh buttermilk. It is not very disagreeable to such as love fresh buttermilk; but as it is a flavor not expected in good butter it is usually disagreeable.

Variety 2.—Strong butter.—This is one step farther along, and the buttermilk is changing and beginning to assert its right to predominate over the butteraceous flavor; yet it may be eaten with some pleasure if done rapidly, accompanied with very good bread.

Variety 3.—Frowy or frewsy butter.

This is a second degree of strength attained by the buttermilk. It has become pungent, and toe disagreeable for any but absent minded eaters.

Variety 4.—Rancid Butter.—This is the putrescent stage. No description will convey, to those who have not tasted it, an idea of its unearthly flavor; while those who have, will hardly thank us for string up such awful remembrances by any description. For a' that and a' that, 22Their cauld blanemange and a' that, Scotch broth puts marrow in our bane. And keeps them green for a' that. Our's in usume for duke or lord, Lands, tenants, hinds, and a' that, Our pastors, too, wha presch the Word, Whilm ply the broom for a' that. For a' that and a' that,

"May curlin' thrive for a' that,

The Peruvian Syrup; a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Itializing Agent, Iron in, the blood, and cures "athousuld ills;" simply by Toning up, Moigerating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeases every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this semedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhea, Bolls, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors,

THE ALDINE, while issued with all regulsrity, has sone of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful illerature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic still, in black and whits. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapees, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides.
