outer coat, being a fine, warm day, I meet Mr. Warren and have discourse with him of the Companies Act which he and Mr. Higgins did but yesterday defend in the Parliament. Mr. Conroy tells me how there is little of news to be had about the railway and it is. he says, true that many engineers did not come to their work. I to wait on the Prime Minister and learn how he will take the railway for the Government if it be that the Reids will not operate. How he may do this I know not, seeing how I think he must have Legislative authority for it. To the Board of Trade, where divers members did join in a discourse on the Companies Act, and many think how it was a bad thing. I did take out my new motor coach in the afternoon and did have a lesson in the driving of it, but came nigh to hitting an electric coach and did suffer with my nerves.. I meet Mr. Hartnett and Mr. Paterson at the Tobacco Factory, and they show me the working of it, which did interest me greatly. Out at night and did adjourn to the Blue Puttee where I meet Mr. Pill, that is the Government Auditor at the Railway, and he a right jovial gentleman, whose acquaintance it did please me much to make.
