Consequently, a Western dealer laid in supplies for two years at $105 in the belief that they would stand him a handsome profit. He was, however, soon rudely awakened from his dreams, as prices dropped to $1, then to 90c and 80c, and eventually to 70c and under, some good-sized lots being picked up at 65c and 60c, f. o. b., at points west. But of late there has been quite a change in the situation, owing to the damage to the crop and the evident shortage therein, which has strengthened the market for old beans considerably, sales having been made at points west of Toronto at an advance of fully 15c per bushel.
