New York, Feb. 11.-Beautiful beyond description was the bal masque of Mrs. Bradley-Martin last night. Columns have been written about the affair and pictures have been drawn, but the fancy of the reporter and the artist did not picture scenes one-half as lovely as were presented in the Walderf. The decorations throughout were exquisite. American beauties, lilies, and the rarest of imported blossoms, with vines and palms, were intertwined in a marvelously beautiful scheme. Mr. Dyer appeared as Francis I., in a rich costume, consisting of a cloak of royal purple velvet, lined with violet satin and embroidered with gold.

While there were light refreshments served throughout the evening, it was not until after 1 o'clock, at the conclusion of Mrs. Bronson's quadrille, that the regular supper began. This was served at small tables in the winter garden. The more than one hundred tables had all passed through the hands of the Corist and were so hidden by his art as to have lost all resemblance to bits of furniture. American Beauty roses and white lilacs were banked so high that the guests seemed to eat from the top of a flower bed.
