Not Ruin, But Prosperity Unprecedented.

There is no reason to regret that Mr. Henry M. Whitney, an American business genius, who has been uni-formly successful in all his enterprises, has identified himself with the work of developing Cape Breton into a great industrial center. The more Americans of this stamp who take an interest in Canadian industrial enterprises the better it will be for Canada .-Montreal Star.

This is all very fine "soft sawder" Intended to let our Montreal contemporary's political friends down from the foolish and unpatriotic position which they took when Mr. Fielding, Dominion Finance Minister, was Premier of Nova Scotia, and initiated the legislation by means of which Mr. Whitney and his friends were induced to invest their capital in the development of these great Canadian industries. At that time, the policy which brought Mr. Whitney to Canada, and is doing so much to develop the coal and iron industries in Nova Scotia, was bitterly assailed by the Conservative leaders. Mr. Whitney and his friends were berated as anti-Canadian, anti-British, as throwing themselves and the country into the hands of the Yankees, who would at once shut down the mines, and refuse to sell coal either to Canada or the British Government! We know now all these prophecies, like other prognostications of the Opposition leader and his associate decriers of Liberal enterprise, have been falsified, and we are glad, even at the eleventh hour, to have the confession of the Montreal Star. But is it not about time that these assailants of the policy so successfully carried out by Hon. Mr. Fielding and his friends, should apologize to them for the wrong which they did to the Liberal Government? Every prophecy of evil that they made has been shown to be utterly without foundation, and instead of disaster and depression we have inaugurated in Nova Scotia immense enterprises, giving employment to many thousands of men, and bringing such prosperity as the old colony never before enjoyed. It is only meet that when the Opposition organs begin to hark back on their old prophecies of "blue ruin" they should be confronted with them, and requested, in making prognostications of further evil, if they are not permitted to rule, to remember their humiliating past, and cultivate a modest demeanor in accordance therewith.

Where Is the Policy. It has been said that it is the duty true, but it is not the whole truth. carrying out of party tactics is a part of the parliamentary warfare and a service to the country. But when it comes to an election, the duty of the Opposition to oppose becomes the opportunity to propose a programme, and this also is a duty. In appealing to make out that they have any policy at all, except the policy of getting in, which is not likely to be a successful one. Sir Charles Tupper's policy of "mutual preference in British trade" is shown to be so impossible that we practically call it no policy at all. We repeat, then, the question, Where is the policy? A British Estimate.

The St. James' (London, England) Budget asks, after sizing up the present political situation in Canada: "Is it not about time Sir Charles Tupper were replaced as leader of the Canadian Opposition?" "It is a pity," pays the same journal, "that the Canadian Opposition have not sufficient prudence to restrain Sir Charles Tupper from his petty attacks upon the present Laurier Ministry. The Min-Istry may have faults, but no one can deny that it has pursued an imperial policy with great fearlessness and vigor.'

This is an independent British opinion, and it mirrors the views which most people in the old country entertain of Canada's position at the present time. Never has Canada stood so well in the eves of the British people as she stands today. Never have Canadian products been more sought after.

We beg our old world friends not to take the Opposition leader's adjectives too seriously. On the eve of an election he invariably has these fits, and Canadians have come to regard them with disinterestedness. It pleases the talker, and it hurts no one.

Reminiscences of 1896.

A correspondent of the Globe in Nip-Issing says in reference to the charge made by Mr. Hugh John Macdonald that the paper of the ballous in the West Huron election was too thin:

"I was deputy returning officer in one of the polling subdivisions of the Township of Springer, in the District of Nipissing, in the last election, and how were the bailot papers? Why, sir, could see how every man voted, as the paper in those ballots was so thin that the mark made by the voter showed through them all, and if they had got a deputy that was favorable to the Conservative candidate, as they thought they had, they would have known how a lot of men voted whom they expected to vote for them and wanted to watch."

There was something very queer, and thin, about the ballot papers in London, too. And here we had the unenviable notoriety of being charged with more spoiled ballots-almost 300 in the four wards-than there were in any constituency in the Dominion. At the same election, moreover, we had one of the late Government's returning officers, since rewarded by his party friends, actually refusing to acknowledge his own initials on the back of 48 ballots marked for the Liberal candidate. It was a very extraordinary election without a doubt, and the "mistakes" were so fixed as to be of benefit to the Conservative candidates duced, at the instance of the present Government. For the purpose of comparison we give the exports for the four years preceding 1896, when the Conservative Government was in control: Conservative four years-Eggs. Butter. Bacon. 1893$ 868,007 $1,296,814 $1,830,368

Petroleum in the Far East.

Few people in Canada are aware that Japan is fast becoming a leading producer of petroleum oil. Recently extensive new oil fields have been discovered in the province of Echigo, and in the city nearest to the district no fewer than 70 producing and 30 refining companies have been started and a number of drilling companies have been organized to put down wells by contract for the owners. Japan consumes annually about 60,000,000 gallons of refined petroleum, of which amount about one-third is produced by local refiners. This shows a marked increase over the ratio of the native and foreign product a year ago, which was then one in ten. The total daily output is now about 4,000 barrels. It is to the credit of Canada that the more successful developments in Japan have been carried out by experts from the Western Ontario oil region. Indeed everywhere where oil has been discovered the world over one finds experts who received their training in the Petrolea district. Canada gets a splendid advertisement from this preference.

The ladies of the Maple Leaf Club are understood to be seriously contemplating offering a prize to the first person who will make affidavit that he has read through Sir Charles Tupper's recent "manifesto" of eight columns without skips. So far, no one can be discovered who has done so. Even the Montreal Gazette-good party organ though it is-cut it down to less than three columns.

TIME PARTY

Newton W. Rowell's Meeting in North Toronto.

Good Points Scored by Mr. J. G. Willison-High Praise for the Candidate.

Toronto. Oct. 6 .- An organization meeting in the interests of Mr. N. W. Rowell was held in Cumberland Hall on Thursday night, under the auspices of the Liberal Club of North Toronto and the St. Paul's Ward Liberal Association. The chair was occupied by Mr. W. E. Lincoln Hunter, president of the North Toronto Reform Association. The attendance was large and a spirit of enthusiasm and confidence in the result of the contest was manifested throughout the proceedings. After the work of organization had been completed a meeting was held, at which addresses were delivered by the candidate and several others. A GOOD RECORD.

Rev. Dr. Dewart spoke briefly. He said they all believed the record of the Laurier government one that deserves the support of all loyal, patriotic men, and they just as firmly believe that the record and tactics of the Opposition have been such as to forfeit the confidence of all patriotic men. He did not know of any constituency now represented by a Conservative in which there is as good a chance for victory as in East York. (Cheers.) He con-gratulated the Liberals of East York upon getting Mr. Rowell as a candidate, and prophesied that with united and earnest effort he would be elected.

NO MUSHROOM CANDIDATE.

Mr. J. S. Willison said he supposed there was not a man in the room that would not vote for Mr. Rowell, who was one of the very best candidates offering for election in any constituency in the country. Mr. Rowell is not nomination day, who went to pieces in the campaign, but he is a man that will wear well, because he is a man of character and capacity. He ventured to say that the Liberals of East York in years to come will be as proud that they elected Mr. Rowell in his first contest as they are that they elected Hon. Alex. Mackenzie in the (Cheers.) The Liberal electors of East York should remember that the political conditions during the last four years have materially changed, and have changed absolutely to the advantage of the Liberals. For twenty years the memory of the commercial deprestion of 1876-77 weighed very heavily on the Liberal party, although that depression existed all over the world. NOT A HARD-TIME PARTY. Their opponents' argument had been a mushroom candidate, strong on that the Liberal party was a party of hard times, of commercial adversity, that Canada could not have prosperity under Liberal rule. Now they found the factories prosperous, the commercial conditions good, wages good, and steady employment for the working men under the Liberal Government. If these arguments used by the Conservative Government were legitimate. then the conditions today furnish conclusive reasons why the government should be sustained in this contest. Four or five years ago, when coming up Yonge street they used to interest themselves counting the vacant stores, which were as many almost as there were bicycles on the streets. Five years ago the working men were looking for employers; today the employers are looking for men. On looking over the files of the Globe for Oct. 4, 1895, there were five advertisements for "mechanics" and seven men were wanted. Today there are in the Globe

49 advertisements for mechanics, and 109 men wanted. In the Mail of Oct. 4. 1895, there were 4 advertisements under "mechanics wanted," and 5 men wanted. By the advertisers today there are 15 advertisements, and 55 men wanted. In the Mail today there was a quotation from Sir Charles Tupper who, speaking at Montreal, said: "" do not hesitate to say that we are not willing to take the bread out of the mouths of our own children to feed those of any other country in the world." If the people voted for their bread and butter they would not vote for Sir Charles and his associates. (Cheers.)

PRESSURE OF PROSPERITY. Mr. Willison then read a circular issued by an important western manufacturing firm asking their employes to work overtime. In the circular the firm explain that it is absolutely necessary to work overtime in order to fill their orders, and that it is rendered imperative not merely to meet a rush which will be followed by a slack time, but that the factory will continue to work full time to keep pace with the demands of the business. The circular in question issued by one particular firm, merely illustrated the condition of business in every manufacturing and commercial center from Halifax to
