Baseball and sports were indulged in and much amusement was created in the various events. Two base all games were played. The first one was evidently a practice to get in trim for the final event. Miss Nelles and Miss Davison captained the first game, the latter's side winning by a close margin. Miss Davison and Go on Morris, and Mr. Morris and Mr. Harding were batteries. Potato bugs are reported unusually numerous in many localities this year. The keynote of the country's cry remains "rain, and let it come just as soon as providence will allow."

Purticularly noticeable, however, has been the effect of the dry spell on the yield of roots. As the damp soil is positively essential to insure a superior return for mangles and turnips, the growth has been very uneven, and it is only in spots that real progress has been noted. A downpour of rain would be especially helpful in this respect.

Next week will be a busy one at the city hall if meetings scheduled are Indicative of activity. On Monday the court of revision will hold a private session to inquire into the success of the new system of assessment. On Tuesday afternoon the board of health will meet, and at the same time No. 2 committee of the board of education will hold a regular session.

Prospects appear brighter, however, for the corn growers. Luckily most of the farmers contrived to make their plantings at such a time as to allow benefit by the few showers that were available earlier in the season, which evidently proved of sufficient quantity in most cases to cause germination of morning.

NEW BEAR PEN AT SPRINGBANK ZOO TO BE MINUS BARS

Work has been started on a new bear pen at the Springbank zoo, and it so noticeable close to the city has resulted mainly through the lack of moisture is the explanation now advanced generally and throughout this section of the province the unusual scarcity of rain this spring has had a decided effect upon every form of plant or grain. It was noticed yesterday that haying had already commenced in the London area, although it is a trifle shorter than usual. The intense warm spell accounts for this start of nearly a month earlier than other seasons. Fall wheat appears is a culty HALL NEXT WEEK

It is to be much larger than the present structure, and an innovation will be introduced in the fact that there will be no liron bars between the animals and liberty.

CITY HALL NEXT WEEK liberty.

In the center of the pen will be situated the bear house, the portcullis of of which will open upon a large con-crete slab. This slab is to be circular crete slab. This slab is to be chedial in shape, and around it is a wide moat, in which fresh water to a depth of four feet will be kept. On the outside of the moat a high cement wall will be built, over which spectators will be able to peer, the height of the wall from the ground outside being at a comfortable level.

To escape, the bears must jump across the wide moat over the top of the smooth wall, which feat is considered impossible. The wall is too high for the animals to reach the top while standing in the moat, so escape by this means is equally as difficult. In fact, according to Mr. Buchanan, the bears enter the moat at all they will have to swim.

"The absence of bars gives a more "The absence of bars gives a more complete idea of freedom," declared Mr. Buchanan, "and citizens may watch in safety the bears disport on the concrete slab and in the moat with an unobstructed view. Of course, if some unattended child were to fall over the wall into the most it might make a wall into the moat it might make a good newspaper story. I do not think the bears would harm anyone if such an improbable accident were to occur, as they have given no trouble to date, as they have given no trouble to date, but we are taking no chances." The old pen, according to Mr. Buchanan, will be used to house one pure of the five brown bears at the zoo. WORK OF UNCLE IS TO BE INTERPRETED BY HIS NEPHEW

TORONTO, June 9.—The Toronto tar prints the following in its news Star prints the following in its news columns today:
Hume Cronyn, M.P., who is to be chairman of the T. S. R. arbitration board, is a Londoner by birth, but he is closely connected with one of the best-known of Toronto families—the Blakes. He is, indeed, a nephew of the late Edward and S. H. Blake. As it was the latter who drew up the street railway agreement for the city, it is of interest to note that his own nephew will have the task of carrying out its most important provisions.
Hume Cronyn is a double cousin of William Hume Blake of Toronto, a fact which recalls a remarkable inter-marriage which took place between the two well-known Irish families many years ago. William Hume Blake, the first chancellor of Upper Canada, had two sons, Edward and Samuel, and daughter, Sophy. These married, respectively, Margaret Cronyn, Rebecca Croyn and Verschoyle Cronyn, daughters and son of the late Benjamin ters and son of the late Benjamin ters and son of the late Benjamin Cronyn, Bishop of Huron. Hume Cronyn is the son of Verschoyle Cronyn and Sophy Blake.
