ronbles, Weak-

tunately contains some incorrect statements. This makes it necessary for me to put you and the public in possession of the facts.

First. The gas supplied by the Owen Sound Gas Company is not water gas, as alleged, but oil gas, made by a process patented by Mr. Peter English, and is less poisonous or injurious to itealth than ordinary coal gas, containing less than 10 per cent. of carbonic oxide.

Second. Unlike coal gas it has a strongly offensive smell, and is even more easily detected when at large than coal gas.

Third. No person was asphyxiated or partially so on the occasion referred to. Before Mr. Million and wife had retired for the night they perceived a disagreeable odor in their house. Not knowing its cause, or in whence it came, the wife went out to call in a neighbor, and meeting a poheeman brought him in to examine the premises. This officer of at once perceived the pressince of gas, and ada neighbor, and meeting a policeman brought him in to examine the premises. This officer at once perceived the presence of gas, and advised them to take their children out of the house for the night. This they did. One of the children, a nurshing of a few months old, on being aroused from its slumbers and shaken up somewhat, after the manner of infants threw off its supper. The escape of the sour milk (which, had your informant been, as I am, a family man, he would have known was not an extraordinary occurrence) was the only evidence of asphysiation.

While greatly regretting the alarm and inconvenience suffered by Mr. Million and his family, I deem it my duty to allay any additional and unnecessary fear in the town by correcting the errors into which your informant has unfortunately fallen. J. English, Manager Owen Sound Gas Company.
