Varsity's Great War Record

TARSITY MAGAZINE'S fourth supplement completes the series that forms a record of the work of the University of Toronto in the Great War. It is an admirable production, and a credit to the young ladies and gentlemen who are responsible for it. As in its forerunners, and as is eminently fit, pride of place is given to the Honor Roll, the unreturning brave who as graduates or undergraduates heard the call and answered it, paying the "last full measure of devotion" to their Alma Mater, and all it represented. This section contains it represented. This section contains no fewer than 530 photographs and the inscribed names of 74 whose photographs could not be secured. The total honor roll of Varsity is now 604, and the fact that it was only 346 when the last special number was issued a year ago is testimony of the ferocity of the struggle in the closing months of the war, beginning with the last great German drive in March, 1918. The issue is printed on the finest of paper, is handsomely illustrated, and will be proudly cherished in the thousands of homes from which the stusands of homes from which the stusands of homes from which the students have gone forth.

The editor, in a preface, says that while it is difficult to give precise figures it has been estimated that between 15,000 and 20,000 graduates, undergraduates and prospective students of Canadian universities enlisted in the war. Probably no class in the community has such ties enlisted in the war. Probably no class in the community has such a high percentage of voluntary enlistments as the schools and universities. The Military Service Act applied to few of them, in English-speaking Canada, particularly. Of this numbers 5,400 were graduates or undergraduates of the University of Toronto, and if one were to add the prospective students, the figures might indicate that nearly one-half of the numbers to the credit of the of the numbers to the credit of the universities of Canada should be placed under the colors of the old blue and white. This is not surprising, and would be only in keeping with the general war record of the city of Toronto and the Province of Original and it was equally characteristic of the students as a class all over the Empire that they should be among the first to grasp the situa-tion and hasten to the defence of their country.

The idea was beautifully expressed by Winnifred Letts, one of whose verses is reproduced in the Supplement:

God rest you happy, gentlemen, Who laid your good lives down, Who took the khaki and the gun Instead of Cap and Gown

In addition to the sacrifice of life Varsity has been active in other phases of war work, and through the Students' Administrative Council more than $31,000 has been dis-tributed among various patriotic and relief societies. The list of honors won by graduates and under-graduates is fully in keeping with graduates is fully in keeping with the number of enlistments. Indeed, its average is probably unusually high. We notice one V.C., that of Major T. W. MacDowell, and no fewer than twenty-three C.M.G.'s, half a dozen C.B.'s, and sixty-nine D.S.O.'s, as well as three with a bar to the D.S.O., while those who won the M.C. or the M.M. number hundreds. It is a glorious company, indeed, that one is presented to in this fourth supplement.

The reading matter consists of articles by Sir Robert Falconer, Sir Edmund Walker, Roland G. Usher, of Washington University, St. Louis, one of the chief American authorities on history; Dr. Alex. Hill, of Southampton University College, and various other well-known Canadian, ties on history; Dr. Alex. Hill, of Southampton University College, and various other well-known Canadian, American and British educationists. An article we are particularly pleased to see is that of Prof. D. R. Keys, M.A., on Commencement Day, 1918. On this occasion, it will be recalled, Lord Reading and Honorable Elihu Root were given honorary degrees, and the speech made then by Mr. Root was, in the opinion of many, the best delivered in Canada in the course of the war. It is well that it is reproduced in such a form that is likely to be preserved. One might quote many fine things from this address, so full of an eloquence that was both tender and wise. In one place Mr. Root said:

"As I saw the slender ranks of this once crowded and populous university, as I thought of the same spectacle in all the great institutions of the United States, the skeleton forces remaining in Harvard, in Yale, in Princeton, in Columbia and all the other universities, I have been thinking: Shall not these universities which lose their life save it? Has not the new day come in education through the lessons that your young which lose their life save it? Has not the new day come in education through the lessons that your young men and young women are learning in these years of war? Has our education on this Western Continent done its full duty and reached the heart of the democracy which it has undertaken to educate?"

He answered the question thus: "We have forgotten on this Western

We have forgotten on this Western Continent that all our system of justice is developed so that the principle of individual liberty may be subserved by government. Until a few years ago we had forgotten that liberty did not come, as the air comes.

to all who choose to breatne; That justice did not come, as light comes, to all who look towards the sky. We had forgotten that not only is eternal had forgotten that not only is eternal vigilance the price of liberty, but that eternal struggle is the price of liberty. We had forgotten that no people could continue free who do not subscribe in their hearts with all sincerity and truth to the underlying principles of freedom, and this war has come in time to save us from the sad results of that forgetfulness and indifference. Let us hope and pray for true liberty, the dignity of true independent manhood, the high capacity to suffer, to sacrifice, to die if need be for a principle, the principle that makes men free."

Miller's Worm Powders are not surpassed by any other preparation as a vermifuge or worm destroyer. Indeed, there are few preparations that have the merit that it has to recommend it. Mothers, aware of its excellence, seek its aid at the first indication of the presence of worms in their children, knowing that it is a perfectly trustworthy medicine that will give immediate and lasting relief.

Salmon Pie

Drain a one pound can of salmon and remove the skin and bone. Break into large flakes and arrange them at the bottom of a pie-dish. Add a seasoning of pepper and salt. Cut two hard-boiled eggs in slices and arrange them over the the salmon. Boil four ounces of macaroni in salted water for half an hour. Drain it in short lengths and spread it over the egg. Make a white sauce and use only a level tablespoon of flour. Pour the sauce over the macaroni and cover with a pie crust. Place the pie in the oven and bake until brown.

Worms in children, if they be not attended to cause convulsions, and often death. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will protect the children from these distressing afflictions.
