The queen you sent me last summer is a very nice one, and worth twenty times what I gave for her.—OSCAR THISTLE, Victoria Corners, N.B. March 30, 1893.

Of all the metals, I like yours the best.—(Rev.) E. GRUTZNER, New Dundee.

Your form has given me complete satisfaction in the past.—JAS. SHANNON, Wolverton. April 12, 1893

The comb foundation is very nice and the adjustable extractor is all that could be desired.—TOS. PATTON, Westover, Ont. April 19, 1893

I this day got foundation as manufactured by you, and am very much pleased with it. It is of superior quality. D. WILLIAMS, Owen Sound. May 2, 1893.

Goods to hand all right. Foundation and sections are particularly nice. R. W. FARLEY, Hull, Que. May 17, 1893

Your brood foundation, though 5 cents a pound dearer than some I got from another firm, is fully that much better in make and appearance. It is lovely.—J. HELME, Smith's Fall's, Ont. May 17, 1893.

The above speak for themselves. You want queens to improve your apiary. Try our Italian Queens. Address

TESTED

Queens are usually sold for $2. I will explain why I wish to sell a few at less than that. As most of my readers know, I re-queen my apiary each spring with young

QUEENS

From the South. This is done to do away with swarming. If done early enough it is usually successful. It will be seen that the queens displaced by these young queens are never more than a year old; in fact, they are fine, tested Italian queens right in their prime; yet, in order that they may move off quickly, and thus make room for the untested queens, they will be sold for only

$1.00

Or I will send the Review for 1893 and one of these queens for only $1 75. For $2 I will send the Review, the queen and the book "Advanced Bee Culture." If any prefer the young, laying queens from the South, they can have them instead of the tested queens, at the same price. A discount given on all orders for untested queens. Say how many are wanted, and a price will be made.

W. Z. HUTCHINSON, FLINT, MICH.

My first swarm came off 31st of May. It was hived in your self-hiver with perfect success.—FRANK ROBINSON, Hatchley, Ont. June 3, 1893.

Bees came to hand last evening in splendid order. I am well pleased with the investment. The queen is a perfect beauty.—(Rev.) R. B. COOK, Acton, Ont. May 3, 1893.

The foundation brought home some days ago. I believe I never saw nicer section foundation, and the brood works fine.—S. T. PETTIT, Belmont, Ont.

Your foundation to hand. It is very nice and well packed. W. H. HODGSON, Hudson, Que. May 31, 1893.

Sorry I did not order more smokers from you.—M. J. HENRY, Vancouver, B.C.

Received my bee supplies from you May 24th. For good quality of material and superior workmanship they far exceed anything I have heretofore had. Poor workmanship is dear at any price.—J. J. HALL, Shelburne, Ont. May 29, 1893.
