

CHAPTER VII.

A historical sketch of Nova Scotia—its early struggles—progress—population—position—geographical features, &c.

CHAPTER VIII.

Principal towns of Nova Scotia. Chebucto Harbor. City of Halifax—its past and present—its progress, appearance, and prominent characteristics. Town of Dartmouth, and surrounding country. Counties of Nova Scotia—nature of the soil—Granitic metamorphic district—salt and fresh water alluvia—Carboniferous, Silurian and Devonian soils—fertility of the alluvial. Area. Agriculture. Productions—lumber—manufactures—coal—fisheries—game—commerce—railways—roads—telegraphs—revenue—exchange. Government of the Province. Educational statistics. Christian sects.

CHAPTER IX.

Hidden treasures—gold-seekers. Pursuit and burning of a French Man of War. Deposited treasures. Sad adventures of the seamen. Captain Kidd the pirate—his capture—escape of Lieut. Laurence—his adventures—divulging of the secret. Removal of the Dutch settlers from Massachusetts Bay. Apparent discovery of the place where Kidd deposited his gold—The numerous attempts to obtain it, and the mysterious incidents and characteristics connected therewith. The discovery of gold in Nova Scotia—subsequent discoveries—its effect upon the people of the Province in general.

CHAPTER X.

Manner of laying off the grounds at the gold mines. Forming of companies—mining operations—the position and condition of the gold when found—appearance of the rocks, gold veins, &c. Shafting and tunneling, &c. Description